HODGES STRIKES NAZI FLANK

1ST ARMY OPENS 2 PRONG DRIVE; GAINS 2 MILES

Advances on Both Sides of Roer.

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, Paris, Dec. 13 (AP).—A long awaited assault by Lt. Gen. Hodges' United States 1st army against the left flank of German defenders of Duren smashed two miles eastward on both sides of the Roer river in the Monschau area today. Farther north troops of the same arm drove the Germans from a five mile stretch on the west bank of the Roer just south of Duren.

The new offensive has two prongs, both pointing eastward from points east and southeast of Rotgen, first German town captured by American troops. This drive along the Roer is south of the Hurtgen forest and extended the 1st army's front to 25 miles.

For weeks Hodges has had troops stationed south of Monschau on the east side of the Roer, which flows from Belgium past Monschau and northward past Duren, Julich, and Linnich before bending west again to join the Maas [Meuse] at Roermond in Holland. These troops, 20 miles southwest of Duren, jumped off in the surprise attack that might turn the whole left flank of the German defenders of the Cologne plain.

Second Prong Moves Ahead.

Five miles north of this attack, another was launched from the vicinity of Lammersdorf, east of Rotgen. By midafternoon Hodges' troops had cleared the villages of Rollesbroich, Bickerath, and Simmerath, the latter a sizable road junction 2 miles southeast of Lammersdorf. These troops were 2½ miles west of the Roer.

Other 1st army infantrymen farther north drove the Nazis from the west bank of the Roer along a stretch of about five miles.

The five mile stretch was not clearly defined by dispatches from the front, altho Hodges' troops were reported to have come within less than 3,000 yards of Gurzenich, southwest of Duren, and cleared the village of Gey, farther south.

Virtually the only Germans still fighting on the west bank of the Roer in the entire 1st army sector were entrenched in the village of Schophoven, 6 miles northwest of Duren, and were supported by tanks. For two days and nights they had been under direct attack, but had yielded only about a third of the ruined village. The bridge across the Roer at Schophoven still was intact.

Face 5th Panzer Army.

One American company was cut off last night in Mariaweiler, a mile northwest of Duren, but was rescued.

The new drive by the southern wing of the 1st army appeared aimed toward the Rhine city of Bonn, 15 miles southeast of Cologne. The Yanks at Rollesbroich were within 28 miles of Bonn [a city of 101,000 population on the Rhine].

It was disclosed that the Germans have pitted their new 5th panzer [tank] army against the United States 1st army. The commander is Gen. Hasso Eckardt von Manteuffel, 47, veteran of the siege of Bizerte

EX-CABBIE STEPS ON GAS UNDER GERMANS' GUNS

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 35TH DIVISION ON GERMAN BORDER, Dec. 13.—We no sooner got out of our jeeps than a voice cried out:

"Hey, you war correspondents. How come you never mention the 35th division?"

The speaker was a slender young man in a uniform so dirty we were just able to make out the aidman's Red Cross on the left sleeve.

"My wife keeps asking me, 'What kind of an outfit are you in?'" he went on. "She never sees anything about our outfit in the papers."

He was so pleasantly bitter about it that we took his name—Corp. Edward [Mouse] W. Thill, 1650 N. 32d st., Milwaukee, Wis. His wife's name is Gladys. We told him we would put him in the paper as a member of the medical detachment, 3d battalion, 134th infantry regiment, of the crack 35th division.

Missed by Inches.

"Come see my jeep," he said. We did. He showed where a shell fragment had ripped thru just below the windshield a couple of hours before. It had passed under his right arm, burying itself in a seat while he was driving a load of casualties the 1½ miles from Frauenberg on the Blies river to Folpersviller.

Now, some one called out to Thill a cvilian in Frauenberg needed help. Thill leaped into his jeep and went barreling off down the road after shouting:

"Address it to my wife. And tell her I'll send her some gardenias."

Thill, said Capt. J. R. Matthew of Knox, Ind., a member of the Indiana university football team in 1926-'27-'28, won the silver star at St. Lo for pulling two injured men from a tank under fire, and received a bronze star just a few days ago after evacuating the first wounded from across the Saar river. He has been wounded twice.

"He's been driving like a wild man," Matthew said. "This whole place would fall apart without him."

A Perfect Alibi.

But here was Thill back already. As aidmen lifted the injured Frauenberg civilian from the litter rack, Thill turned to a mechanic near-by.

The mechanic promptly kicked the bumper. It was broken.

"I can't help it if they leave those damned anti-tank guns in the middle of the road at night," Thill explained.

Thill was grabbing a quick noon lunch—cold C ration—when word came he was needed again at Frauenberg. I invited myself along.

While we were bouncing along the dirt road Thill told me he'd been an electrician and cab driver. He likes

Artillery Does Big Job Well

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS NEAR LORIENT, France, Dec. 8 [Delayed]—(AP).—American artillery demonstrated today how perfect integration of fire power can create a "cylinder of security" thru which infantry can get up to enemy positions without being harmed.

Doughboys cleaning out German pockets south of the Etel river in France's coastal region advanced with bazookas and flame throwers across half a mile of open ground and overwhelmed 28 Nazi bunkers and pillboxes without losing a man.

Lay Curtain of Fire.

When the attack began heavy artillery and direct fire weapons laid down a solid curtain of fire around the enemy's positions along a 1,500 yard front.

As the direct fire weapons drove enemy gunners away from the embrasures in the bunkers and pillboxes, Yanks sprang from positions taken before daylight and rushed their objectives. When the wave reached a point where it was in danger of coming under the Americans' own fire, the direct fire weapons lifted.

Immobilize German Guns.

Then the bazooka men, two of whom flanked each flame thrower, fired rocket after rocket into the embrasures, immobilizing the enemy guns.

Finally the flame throwers cut loose and across the entire front of the attack. The scene was one of incineration and devastation. The Germans came out of cover with their hands raised and crying surrender. Within an hour and a half after the opening gun there was not a single live German south of the river except the prisoners.

Free Snowbound Indiana Bus; 46 Aboard

TOWING TRUCK AND PLOW OPEN BLOCKED ROAD

Deep Drifts Close Other Highways.

Forty-six passengers for Indianapolis, Ind., and Chattanooga, Tenn., from Chicago were snowbound in a Greyhound bus for nearly three hours last night and early this morning in U. S. route 53, 10 miles south of Crown Point, Ind. Rescue finally came by a snow plow and a tow truck. Soon afterward the passengers were on their way, none the worse for their experience, and a mile long line of passenger cars and trucks, also blockaded, was released.

The impasse came after a day of freak snow from Lake Michigan which blanketed Gary with 12 inches of snow, covered deeply other northern Indiana cities, and piled drifts in highways to heights of five and six feet.

Trailer Blocks Highway.

Immediate source of the tieup was a double trailer truck from Monon, carrying 53 hogs to the Chicago market. Ten miles south of Crown Point the rear trailer lost a wheel. The trailer swerved across the highway. Soon passenger cars formed immovable lines on either side. About 10 p. m. the Greyhound bus moved into the blockaded zone.

Indiana state police were notified. Squads were sent out, but found the road to the bus almost impassable because of drifts. Snow plows were sent out and a heavy duty tow truck was called from Monon, 50 miles away.

Some apprehension was felt that the bus passengers might suffer from the temperatures in the low 20's if the gasoline supplies of the bus ran out and cut off the heating system. A gasoline truck was among the stalled vehicles, however, it developed.

Deputies Get Thru.

In the vicinity was a highway snow plow, which managed to clear some drift from the road shoulder, enabling a few small passenger cars to get thru. One contained Deputy Sheriffs Charles Chapman and John Bucar of Lake county with a prisoner.

Shortly after midnight the Monon tow truck arrived. The disabled live stock trailer was jacked up and the loose wheel replaced. With chains, the trailer was straightened out and moved to the side of the road. Then the snow plow went to work and cut thru the drifts. By 1 a. m. the bus, truck, and other stalled vehicles were on the move. Deputies estimated that cars were blocked a half mile on either side.

Hazards Grow Hourly.

Indiana state highway police warned 30 Chicago trucking concerns specifically and the public generally that the storm had blocked United States routes 12, 20, 30 [Lincoln highway], and 6.

The Indiana highway department, undermanned because of the war, was unable to hold its own against the mounting snow drifts. State police near Indianapolis, far to the southward, reported by radio that highway hazards were growing hourly in the face of the storm.

Freakishly, both East Chicago and Hammond, just west of Gary, escaped the snow except for a few flurries. In Gary the fall had reached a depth of 12 inches by evening, tying up virtually all transportation except for the street railway system. By nightfall hundreds of automobiles, including most of the city's taxicabs, were stalled. Towing concerns were out of business because their tow trucks also had been stalled.

The one death of the day occurred, ironically, in East Chicago, which escaped the brunt of the storm. John T. Jones, 37, of 9032 W. Delaware st., Munster, was killed when his car skidded across Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks in East Chicago and was struck by a switch engine.

Chaplin Tells Joan Berry's Other Loves

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 13 (AP).—Charlie Chaplin's defense against Joan Berry's charges that he is the father of her 14 month old daughter, Carol Ann, will be that Miss Berry had sexual relations "with another man or men" at the time the child was begotten.

Atty. Charles E. Millikan outlined the defense plans in a motion, quickly denied by Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt, for a continuance of the trial for 45 to 60 days.

Millikan said he had subpenaed "an important and vital witness," Screen Writer Hans Reusch, but that Reusch, in New York, had ignored the summons.

Other Witness in Service.

Millikan said the only other witness who could testify "to the facts above stated" is a man "who is now in the United States army and who has been stationed in the South Pacific for the last six weeks."

Millikan made his motion and followed it up with an offer of proof in an affidavit that quoted several "love" notes Miss Berry allegedly wrote to Reusch. The lawyer stated that Joan oftentimes occupied Reusch's apartment, remained overnight, "and interfered with his sleep and his work."

"The last week of December, 1942," stated the affidavit, "Miss Berry wrote Reusch a note which said: 'You were sweet but I am crazy. Charles was right.'"

Quotes Other Letters.

Millikan said Reusch received a notice from his draft board in 1942 and found written on it a note saying: "Forgive me. I can't get him out of my system. I did care for you. If only Charles had provided means for me to live I would have wanted to know you better. Forgive me. Mommy."

Another note read by Millikan said: "It doesn't—sense make. This passion—love—I bear for you." [Sic.]

The defense argued that blood tests made by three physicians showed that Chaplin could not be the father of Joan, and that:

"The evidence shows or tends to show that at or near the time when, according to the natural laws, Miss Berry's child was begotten, Joan had sexual intercourse with a man other than the defendant."

Assigned for Trial.

Joan's lawyer, Joseph Scott, objected, saying: "This affidavit is scandalous and has no bearing on this case. The sole issue is: 'Who is the father of this child.'"

Scott refused to accede to the motion for a continuance and the court assigned the case to Superior Judge Henry M. Willis for immediate trial.

Millikan then offered a motion "for the court to hear and determine a special defense." This defense, he said, was that "the parties have entered into an agreement on the basis of which the plaintiff is barred from further prosecution of the case." Judge Willis fixed tomorrow morning for arguments on the motion.

"Outrage," Scott Says.

Millikan's offer was greeted by Scott with a question whether he proposed to "try to bring up all over again" the stipulation for a dismisal of the case, based on a blood test of the child's paternity.

He termed that agreement "cock-eyed and unreasonable" and said that under its terms "Chaplin could not lose and the baby could not win." It was, he added, "an outrage on the court."

Meanwhile, little Carol Ann, in her grandmother's arms in a courtroom seat, squealed so loudly she had to be taken outside.

Counsel for Miss Berry said they would call as their first witness Dr. Russell Starr, who delivered Carol Ann, Oct. 2, 1943. Miss Berry will be the second witness.

Selection of a jury may not be completed until late tomorrow.

EXPLAIN WHAT U.S. IS FIGHTING FOR, F.D.R. TOLD

Brooks Demands He Bare Peace Aims.

Heated discussions on international affairs held the congressional spotlight on three fronts in Washington, D. C., yesterday:

1. In a speech from the senate floor, Sen. Brooks (R., Ill.) challenged President Roosevelt to tell Americans what kind of a future peace they may expect in return for their war sacrifices.

2. Rep. Gavin (R., Pa.) set off a fiery debate in the house by demanding that the administration urge conscription of men in British colonies for overseas service to save American lives. [Story on page 2.]

3. Archibald MacLeish's book on American capitalists was denounced before the senate foreign relations committee, which is seeking to determine his fitness to handle foreign policy matters. [Story on page 2.]

Details of Sen. Brooks' speech follow:

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Depicting American boys fighting and dying to make Europe safe for the new British and Russian spheres of influence that Churchill and Stalin are carving out in defiance of the Atlantic Charter, Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] arose in the senate today and challenged President Roosevelt to use our preponderant power, resources, and influence to get an agreement on a just peace.

Sen. Brooks.

Addressing himself to Mr. Roosevelt, chosen by a majority of the American people in the late election as indispensable to the winning of the war and the peace, Brooks asked:

"What is our program? What is our policy? What is the future plan for which we are asking our American men and women to sacrifice and die?

"If we are to lead the world in peace, now is the time to demand and secure an understanding and establish a policy that will give us at least a chance to use our full weight and full influence for victory and for an enduring peace."

Democrats Have No Answer.

Administration leaders listened to the Illinois senator in silence and none ventured to answer him. At the close of his argument, delivered with the vigor and eloquence for which he is noted, Republican senators and a good many Democrats crowded about him to shake his hand in congratulation for voicing thoughts that the current political maneuverings in Europe have prompted in many minds on Capitol hill.

"I believe," said Brooks, "that the American people will support wholeheartedly an American policy for future peace based on the principles of the Atlantic Charter, but they will resent being led by subterfuge into a position of barter in the ancient struggle for influence between one group of nations, led by British intrigue and force, and another group led by Russian intrigue and force.

Not Fighting for Britain.

"The American people did not send their sons abroad to fight and die for the safety of Great Britain nor to fight and die for the triumph and extension of Russian influence. The cream of America has been dispatched to fight and die for American safety primarily, and for the safety and welfare of humanity.

"I know there are those who will

Report Greek Leftists Offer Peace Terms

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 13 (AP).—Calm descended tonight on Athens for the first time in a strife torn week. It was reported in leftist quarters that an emissary of the ELAS [fighting branch of the left wing EAM party] would call on Maj. Gen. Scobie tomorrow to announce acceptance of British terms to end the civil war.

This report was contrary to the announcement made earlier today by ELAS town criers who roamed the streets with megaphones, saying the terms offered by Scobie, British commander in Greece, had been refused and "we shall fight on if it means smashing Athens."

According to the information from the leftists, the ELAS will ask in return for their acceptance of the British conditions that they not be prosecuted as a party and that Scobie accept a new national government headed by some one other than Premier George Papandreou.

British Positions Attacked.

The British have demanded that the ELAS hand in their arms, evacuate the Athens-Pireaus area, and remain under Gen. Scobie's orders before "the necessary steps to put an end to the present turmoil" are initiated.

The offer will be made to Scobie by Alexander Svolos, former finance minister in Papandreou's cabinet, it was said.

ELAS forces attacked British positions in the heart of the capital today, but were held off or beaten back with heavy losses.

The leftist fighters who attacked and penetrated the British barracks compound were cornered and surrendered. Twenty nine of the ELAS, including four officers, were taken prisoner. Six were killed and six wounded in this engagement.

The British brought in reenforcements during the night, crossing ELAS held territory to do so.

Clear Port Peninsula.

During the day the ELAS loaded street cars with explosives and sent them careening against British tanks in Omonia square, shaking the city with explosions.

British troops cleared the Kalipolis peninsula, on which the main part of the Piraeus, port of Athens, is built. This brought within the British perimeter the British-Greek government naval headquarters which had been isolated.

Another 100 ELAS snipers, mostly in civilian clothes, were captured in continuing British cleanup drives in Athens.

3 SMALL CHILDREN DIE IN BURNING HOME AS MOTHER SHOPS

Three small children of Mr. and Mrs. William Russell, 523 W. 45th st., were burned to death yesterday in a fire which swept their home while Mrs. Russell was shopping in a neighborhood grocery. A fourth child, Robert, 5, is in Evangelical hospital with serious burns, but physicians said he will live.

The dead children were James, 4; Carol Ann, 3, and Patricia, 1.

Acting Chief John Hillebold of the 11th battalion said the fire apparently started from children playing with matches on the back porch.

Marty McNamara, a neighbor who rescued Robert, said the fire was preceded by an explosion. Mrs. Russell, returning from the grocery to find the home in flames, was not immediately told of the death of three of her children.

Russell is employed by the American Can company.

Two month old Barbara Daneliak was burned to death yesterday when her cousin, Dennis Tierney, 2, apparently pushed her perambulator against a coal stove in the Tierney home at 1050 N. Paulina st. Mothers of both children were out of the home at the time.

Woman's Art: False Tails on Show Horses

Many horses entered in the Chicago Horse show in the Coliseum owe much of their beauty to Miss Ethel Bunnell of Augusta, Hancock county, creator of false tails and manes.

Miss Bunnell first made a false tail 15 years ago to supplement the scanty appendage of a horse she rode to and from Huntsville [Ill.] High school, where she taught science, English, and agriculture. Her pet surprised every one when he carried off honors in a show the first time he wore the false tail.

Her name since has become a by-word in tack rooms [where saddles, bridles, and other equipment are kept] and stables from Maine to California. Since last February, when she gave up teaching, Miss Bunnell has been free to follow horse shows about the country. This week she is working in a tack room in the Coliseum, trying to fill 50 rush orders.

6,000 Tails in 15 Years.

Miss Bunnell estimated she made 750 tails in the last year and 6,000 in the last 15 years. A tail is priced at from $10 to $100, depending on the work and the quantity of hair used in making it.

"A person really has to know his horses if he is to make good tails for them," the former teacher explained.

There's more to it than meets the eye, Miss Bunnell reported. Bits of blond, black, and brown hair are combed together until they are the shade desired.

Miss Bunnell's only equipment is a small, portable sewing machine and an old red comb. With the machine, she sews the hair strand by strand on a strip of furniture webbing. The finished switch is washed, combed, shaped, and tied to the real tail of the horse. The cap piece, which resembles a long, bobbed, man's toupee, is made in the same manner on a flat piece of webbing and fitted over the top of the tail.

Great Variation in Lengths.

Lengths of tails vary even more than the colors. A three gaited horse wears a tail about 36 inches long, while a hackney [a type of trotting horse used chiefly for driving] wears a bob tail of six inches. The tail for a road horse usually is made about 30 inches long, but a five gaited animal may wear one 65 inches long. Miss Bunnell once made a six foot tail.

Tails by Bunnell are worn by horses in shows and circuses all over the country. Her most famous creation was seen in the movie version of "Gone with the Wind," worn by the horse of Rhett Butler [Clark Gable].

feel that we should say nothing for fear we might disturb unity among our allies. They would charge that this is a delicate matter to be handled with gloves.

"The answer is that the men who have been ordered from their homes, their loved ones, their country, to fight, suffer, and die on foreign lands, are facing cruel, cold, brutal murder, and they expect their nation's leaders to face the cold realities to preserve the ideals and hopes of humanity which they are told they are fighting and dying to defend.

Europe Being Carved.

"The truth is that while the flesh, blood, and treasure of America is being hurled at the vicious forces of Germany, Europe is being carved up and the division is being made with force, with tanks, planes, and supplies furnished by the American people.

"Mr. Roosevelt is armed with all the power in the world today. The American forces have reached the zenith of their strength.

"We have developed the greatest fighting force in the world. We have over one-third of the air power of the world. We have over one-third of all the ships in the world. We have the greatest production capacity in the world. We want to win the war and win the peace.

"We have the cream of the nation's fighting men trained now and fighting now on the seas, in the fields, and in the skies all over the world. Now is the time to speak, and having spoken, to insist on a policy that will insure that our sons will not have died, and our sacrifices will not have been in vain.

What Is Our Peace Plan?

"Our plan of battle is clear, but what is our plan for peace? The President is charged primarily with the responsibility of developing and declaring it. What is it? If we are to help lead the peace of the world in the future, our policy should be established now. The world is hungry for peace based upon justice, and we should not bleed our nation of its human and material resources without establishing such a policy now.

"Nearly every one concedes that no world security organization can succeed without United States participation. But the iron bands that will bind the liberty of future humanity are being forged now in the heat of battle."

Sen. Brooks said that while the American people have faith in our military and naval leaders they are increasingly concerned by the conduct of Great Britain and Russia. At tragic cost in casualties we have driven the Germans back from the approaches to England and drawn military pressure away from Russia. While we are doing these things "Russia and England are engaging in a race for future balance of power on the European continent," he said. The harmony of the big three allies is being disrupted and "we are throwing stones at each other." The atmosphere is one of suspicion of Russia and Britain.

Pacts Kept Secret.

The senator suggested the rivalry of Britain and Russia for political supremacy might be explained if we knew the political clauses of the Teheran agreement and of the armistice with Italy, which never have been made public. What these agreements really are is of vital importance to the American people who "have sacrificed so much for each of them."

"The American people were told, and constantly reminded, that they were called upon to make their sacrifices to develop the spirit and follow the pattern laid down in the Atlantic Charter.

"Already it is clear that Russia intends to expand her empire and plant her philosophy thruout the Baltic and Balkan states, while Britain moves daily to expand her influence and establishes puppet governments in Italy, Greece, Belgium, and France.

"While this is going on, our American forces are facing the fierce fighting armies of Germany led on under the promise that the peoples in liberated countries would be privileged to set up their own governments under the basic principles Atlantic Charter," Brooks said.

Brooks quoted the national self-determination clause of the Atlantic Charter which he said was composed when Churchill "was trying desperately to get America into the war" and both Churchill and Roosevelt "wanted to appeal to the people of every invaded country to resist their invaders and fight on the side of the allies." When we got into the war Churchill said: "That is what I have dreamed of, aimed at, and worked for, and now it has come to pass."

"Yes, Mr. President," Brooks went on, "we are finally in the wars in Europe and the Pacific and are facing terrible and terrific sacrifices.

"The small nations have suffered two invasions; first, by the ruthless German army, and second, by the rescuing forces of the united nations. They have been blown and torn twice, and now they are experiencing varying forms of civil war prompted by the conflicting forces of Russia and Britain in their struggle for supremacy.

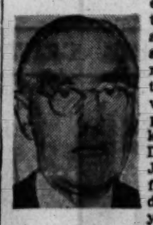
Baltic States Annexed.

"Russia has already utilized her forces to annex the Baltic states and has set up a federation in the Balkans under Red Marshal Tito without protest from Britain or the United States. In the meantime Britain uses her troops to force governments in Italy and Greece. In the midst of this conflict came the reassuring statement of Secretary of State Stettinius declaring America's policy of nonintervention in those countries. New hope undoubtedly sprang up in the little nations. However, Winston Churchill promptly reaffirmed his position for Britain and received an overwhelming vote of confidence.

"Mr. President, when Josef Stalin moves to further the program of his country he is sustained by the Russian people. When Winston Churchill moves to enhance the position of Britain he receives an overwhelming vote of confidence. But when any one demands that we speak out to further the principles for which we have made so great a sacrifice they are charged with causing disunity."

The best way to obtain and preserve unity, Brooks added, is to "have an understanding among the Big Three." To that end there should be another conference of Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin.

WORLD SAFETY NEEDS CAREFUL STEPS, SAYS ANALYSIS BY GREW



Joseph C. Grew.

Mankind's failure thruout history to develop a workable peace machinery should constitute the basis for a study aimed at avoiding past mistakes in setting up a new world security program of the kind proposed at Dumbarton Oaks, Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan, said yesterday.

Grew, whose name is before the senate for confirmation as undersecretary of state, spoke on "The Dumbarton Oaks Plan for World Peace and Security" before 2,000 persons at a joint luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations and the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Stevens hotel.

This country, he declared, should not reject the Dumbarton Oaks plan for permanent peace machinery just because it does not seem perfect. The scheme, he asserted, cannot please everybody and no thought of "fashioning any kind of super-state," which he termed repugnant, entered or can enter, into counsels for formulating it.

He upheld the preponderance of power given Britain, Russia, China, and the United States at the conference by saying, "It should be borne in mind that four countries, because of their size and strength, can make or break any system of security."

INSISTS BRITISH COLONIES DRAFT MEN FOR FRONT

Rep. Gavin Calls on U. S. to 'Get Tough.'

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Rep. Gavin [R., Pa.], in a speech that touched off an explosive house debate, today called upon the administration to urge conscription of men in the British colonies for overseas service in the interest of saving American lives.

Rep. Gavin.

Gavin criticized the British government for failing to press for conscription of Canadians for service abroad and demanded that our state department express its dissatisfaction to British officials. He called for more "backbone" and a "get tough" policy by our diplomatic officials.

"If we can draft our boys by the thousands," Gavin asked, "why can't the British colonies do likewise?"

Protests "Criticising British."

His remarks evoked a charge from Rep. Luther Johnson [D., Tex.], a New Deal supporter, that Gavin was "rendering a disservice to this country and the allied cause and encouraging Hitler" by criticizing the British during the war.

In the ensuing debate, Republican congressmen, defending Gavin, accused Johnson of questioning the patriotism of a house member, and seeking to suppress those who would offer constructive criticism to aid the war.

"If we follow the suggestion of the Democratic member [Johnson]," said Rep. Fish [R., N. Y.], "we must not speak the truth and we must not criticize. Constructive criticism may help to shorten the war. If we of the minority party do not exercise our function of speaking out when something is wrong, then what service is left for the party and what is left of our democracy?"

British "Considering" Draft.

Gavin told the house that, while we have been conscripting millions of men to fight abroad, including 18 years olds, the British colonies are only now considering legislation to draft soldiers for service overseas.

"Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden do not seem to be much concerned about the conscription in the colonies of their fighting men," Gavin said.

"What seems to be the difficulty that somebody in the state department doesn't tell the British empire that we are not satisfied with their policy on conscription in the British colonies?

"What we need is a diplomatic policy with a backbone."

SAMPLE OF POETRY BY MR. MAC LEISH ON 'IMMORTALITY'

IMMORTALITY.

"Nay, I have lived before, and other where "Have lolled against the breast of God's unseen,
"And watched infinities of things careen
"With shouted laughter down the startled air,
"And caught the truth by his entangled hair,
"And plucked at beauty's burnished wing to preen
"A broken feather from its golden sheen,
"How else—when you come running to surprise
"My heart with sudden arms about my throat,
"And laugh with such a wishful little note—
"How else am I, love's acolyte, so wise
"To know that dreams and passion turned devote,
"And joy grown sad, are love with wide girl's eyes?"

Earlier this week, the League for Sanity in Poetry denounced MacLeish's efforts as "lacking thought itself." The league comprises poets who feel their own work is being drowned out by "verse that appears to be a product of dementia praecox."

'BIG 3' PARLEY SEEN NEAR AS PROBLEMS GROW

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—Diplomatic problems clamoring for swift solution drew President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill—and possibly Marshal Stalin—closer to another of their historic meetings tonight. At stake was the settlement of such immediate problems as the coördination of apparently diverging allied policies in Europe and the necessity for speeding plans for the treatment of Germany after the war.

Among the signposts pointing to an early meeting was the sharp decline in Anglo-American relations, now possibly at their lowest ebb since the outbreak of the war. The fact that Mr. Roosevelt will be inaugurated Jan. 20 brought speculation of a before the end of the year meeting rather than one delayed until spring.

Altho diplomatic quarters speculated on the whereabouts of both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill, censorship prohibited any mention of their movements.

Patenotre, Ex-Minister of France, Under Arrest

PARIS, Dec. 13 [Reuters].—Raymond Patenotre, American born former minister and deputy of France was taken in custody yesterday at a hunting lodge near Rambouillet on a Paris court order. It was believed he is to be questioned in connection with his interest in a newspaper whose managing director was sentenced to death for intelligence with the enemy.

SENATOR BLASTS MacLEISH BOOK ON CAPITALISTS

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Opposition on the senate floor to confirmation of some of President Roosevelt's six nominations for top state department posts was predicted tonight after the senate foreign relations committee had completed public hearings on the nominees' fitness.

Attention centered at the final hearing today on Archibald MacLeish, who resigned as librarian of congress after being nominated as assistant secretary of state in charge of promoting cultural relations.

Sen. Clark [D., Mo.] focused the spotlight on MacLeish by reading the committee excerpts from "A Time to Speak," a book of MacLeish's prose selections.

MacLeish Defends Book.

"The great American capitalist," Clark read, "and his son and his daughter-in-law and his banking system might well have been begotten explicitly for hatefulness. They have all the attributes of hatefulness: they are greedy; they are arrogant; they are gross; they lack honor; their existence insults the intelligence. It is a pleasure—almost a duty—to hate them."

"I was making an attack on Communists," MacLeish explained. "You refer to the lay figure the Communists have built up to attack. That is the stock figure the communist writers have built up."

"Do you hate Will Clayton [nominee for another assistant secretaryship]?" demanded Clark. "Do you hate Secretary of State Stettinius, the President and Mr. Grew? [Joseph C. Grew is the nominee for undersecretary of state.] According to your writing, anybody who has as much as $2 is a capitalist."

MacLeish laughed and shook his head.

Introduced Earl Browder.

"Do you recall ever introducing Earl Browder at a massmeeting?" asked Clark.

"Yes," replied MacLeish. "During the Spanish war."

Reading another passage referring to the capitalist's "rancid odor of competitive greed," Clark asked:

"Do you notice any rancid odor about Mr. Stettinius? Would you be able to stay in the same room with him?"

MacLeish gave Stettinius his blessing and disclaimed the interpretation that he said Clark was giving the passage.

"I have read enough of your essays," said Clark, "to say I believe these things represent your views."

Clark Reads More.

Clark read another excerpt:

"For better than a century, in the Supreme court and in the congress the country has been ruled by those who did not believe in the people. . . . For a hundred years and more the country has been ruled by those who used the language of belief to exploit the people."

"Do you mean," Clark inquired, "that for more than a century the Supreme court and congress have been composed of fakers? Do you believe that congress and the Supreme court have been corrupt?"

"The book doesn't say that," retorted MacLeish.

"I think," Clark replied, "that you have made very serious charges for a man to be placed in charge of cultural relations."

Sen. Pepper [D., Fla.] hurried in, explained that he was late, and indicated he wished to reply if MacLeish had been interrogated about the MacLeish poems.

Starts on Poems.

Clark said he hadn't meant to read MacLeish's poems, but since Pepper had suggested it, would be glad to. Pepper protested that it wasn't necessary, but Clark insisted.

Clark read a few, commented that he'd never been able to understand MacLeish's poems, and asked if MacLeish understood them himself.

MacLeish responded with a story about Robert Browning. When asked the meaning of a Browning poem, MacLeish said, the great English poet replied:

"When I wrote it, only God and I knew what it meant. God alone knows now."

The committee had expected to vote on the nominees this afternoon and report immediately to the senate, but Sen. Guffey [D., Penn.], asked for more time in which to find a letter which he said Claude Bowers had written the state department on the Spanish situation while Bowers was ambassador to Spain. Guffey said he doubted that the letter ever arrived.

Dunn Faces Query.

Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] later said that Guffey wished to question James C. Dunn, state department executive who is a nominee for an assistant secretaryship, after finding the document.

Connally predicted that the committee would approve the nominations and that they would be confirmed by the senate, possibly on Friday. But he indicated he expected some opposition from senators who sent the nominations back to the committee.

Sen. Chandler [D., Ky.] questioned Stettinius at length today on reports that the state department is dominated by British influence.

"I don't want to follow the British or any other country," said Chandler. "The British are going to kill one side in Greece and the other will be left in power."

Denies British Influence.

Referring to charges that lend-lease weapons are being used against the Greeks in the British-Greek dispute, Chandler said:

Stettinius denied that the British influence his department, but Chandler, telling of his own battlefront tour, said:

"At the dinners, our fellows were usually down at the foot of the table. If an officers' meeting were called, their fellows usually presided."

BRITISH PACT OVERLOOKS U.S. AIR ESCAPE GAP

Free Strait Off Labrador Offers Lane to Europe.

Air authorities in Chicago declared yesterday that the British may have outsmarted themselves in excluding Newfoundland and Labrador from the recent Chicago agreements on post-war international air trade routes across the North Atlantic. This exclusion would, in effect, deny American aircraft the freedom of peaceful flight over and refuge in those lands.

However, said the experts, Britain evidently overlooked a narrow ribbon of water between Newfoundland and Labrador, known as the strait of Belle Isle, forming a most direct air as well as water route to Europe. If our planes are not allowed to land on or even fly over Newfoundland and Labrador, said one, all they'll need do is fly above the center of the strait, which is international water and beyond control of any nation.

Gives Two Freedoms.

The Chicago agreements were signed by Adolph A. Berle Jr., for the United States and Philip Cunliffe-Lister [Viscount Swinton] for the United Kingdom. The principal agreement guarantees two air freedoms—freedom of peaceful flight over foreign land and freedom to land and refuel. Berle agreed without reservation, throwing wide open American areas in the Pacific.

Swinton, too, it was believed would agree without qualification on the Atlantic side, but at the last minute he wrote above his seal, "my signature to this agreement does not cover Newfoundland."

By that action Great Britain appears to have retained a stranglehold on the all-important Atlantic air route. Newfoundland and Labrador, which it governs, lie along the great circle air lane. For economy and long range safety, they are vital to most trans-Atlantic flights.

Trickery Charged.

Army air transport command bases are operated at Goose Bay, in Labrador; Stephenville, in Newfoundland, and in neighboring areas, maintaining an amazing flow of aircraft between the United States and Europe.

Swinton's exclusion of Newfoundland brought charges of trickery. In New York, Jack Nichols, vice president of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., asserted that Britain, "our greatest competitor tomorrow, has failed to take the stranglehold off the Atlantic." But this barrier may be overcome, other airmen said. They cited the possible use of the strait of Belle Isle.

Belle Isle strait is a channel connecting the Gulf of St. Lawrence with the Atlantic. Cutting between southern Labrador and northern Newfoundland, it is 35 miles long and from 10 to 15 miles wide. It lies in the most direct water route between the St. Lawrence and Europe.

Limits Extend Three Miles.

Under international law, territorial water limits of a nation extend three miles from shore. In the case of the strait, these limits would run three miles from each shore. This would leave at its narrowest width—10 miles—a center leeway of approximately four miles of international water.

Such seas are free seas, and the air above them also is free. Since the British agreement would permit peace time flights over Canadian soil, planes from America would encounter no political difficulty in reaching the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the mouth of the strait. The next course would be a 35 mile flight above the middle or international waters of the strait, out to the Atlantic, and Europe. Such, at least, is the opinion of experienced airmen.

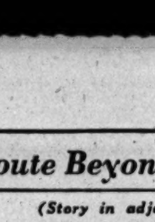
American planes may go to Europe via Belle Isle strait.

Cigaret Dearth to Get Worse, Senate Investigators Warned

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—The senate war investigating committee today delved into the cigaret shortage, but after two hours of testimony failed to produce any new answers or any prospect of more cigarets.



Col. Fred C. Foy.

The army's representative, Col. Fred C. Foy, director of purchases for the army service forces, said the army will have procured approximately 68 billion cigarets by the end of the year and will need 77 billion in 1945. He showed considerable surprise when one of his aids said the number of cigarets hijacked from overseas shipments ranged as high as 30 per cent.

"Are you sure about that 30 per cent?" he asked.

Losses Reported Cut.

"Yes, sir," replied the aid. "The 30 per cent figure has occurred in new areas of operations. After our forces get established the hijackings come somewhat under control and the low figure on losses thru pilferage is about 10 per cent."

Foy agreed with Sen. Mead [D., N. Y.], committee chairman, that this is serious. He said Gen. Eisenhower is taking measures to wipe out the thefts and has ordered the court martial of any one discovered trafficking in cigarets with civilians. Cigarets have sold for as high as $2 and $3 a package in Paris.

Arms and Food Go First.

Foy said limited facilities for unloading at overseas ports have delayed movement of cigarets to troops at the front lines, because food, gasoline, and heavy artillery ammunition take precedence. He said 3,600,000,000 cigarets were awaiting discharge in foreign waters on Oct. 31.

Representatives of the industry talked of man power shortages, increased consumption in the United States, shipments overseas, inability to expand facilities, and consumer hoarding. They said they are producing virtually at capacity.

Mead observed that the committee had received information, but nothing on how to get more cigarets, and H. A. Kent, president of the P. Lorillard company, replied: "If you give us the man power and the increased acreage we'll give you the cigarets."

Crop Rule Termed Factor.

Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] asked whether the New Deal policy of paying tobacco growers for not raising tobacco and penalizing those who overplanted was not a factor in the shortage.

Joseph Kolodny, executive secretary of the National Association of Tobacco Distributors, conceded there has been a steady dimunition of acreage since crop controls were instituted by the administration in 1934 and said reduced acreage contributed to the shortage.

Higher Output Described.

Paul M. Hahn, vice president of the American Tobacco company, said reduced tobacco acreage is beginning to be felt and asserted that if production could be increased thru additional facilities and man power tobacco production also would have to be increased or tobacco stocks would be exhausted.

Hahn said the industry is not holding cigarets off the market and asserted his company will produce more than 94 billion cigarets this year, which is 7 per cent more than the company produced last year.

The committee will seek some new answers tomorrow when it hears representatives of the OPA, the WMC, and the WFA.

Start Probe Here

Records of cigaret wholesalers and distributors in Chicago and Cook county were being scrutinized by the federal trade commission yesterday as the government took steps to determine the cause of the cigaret famine in the nation.

James McKeag, in charge of the inquiry, said the investigation may require 10 days and that it may result in an examination of witnesses.

Meanwhile, as cigarets became increasingly difficult to buy, the Chicago Retail Druggists' association recommended to its members that only customers who display an empty package be permitted to purchase a fresh supply.

Caught with 35 Packages of Cigarets; Goes to Jail

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 13 (AP).—A man who was given all the cigarets he wanted to smoke while working at a cigaret factory and was permitted to take home five packs a week, was sentenced to serve from 60 days to six months in jail today for stealing 35 additional packages. Judge Francis F. Birch told Jack De Bona: "What you were allowed ought to have been enough for any man. It's hard enough to get one pack, let alone 35."

Yank Flyers Bail Out; Land in Artillery Duel

AT A U. S. MARAUDER BASE, France, Dec. 13 (AP).—Five crewmen of a flak torn 9th air force Marauder got a brief taste of doughboy's life when they bailed out over No Man's land and landed squarely in the midst of a hot artillery battle. The flyers spotted G. I. helmets sticking out of foxholes and lost no time in getting into friendly territory. Among those who escaped was Victor Homsa of 4824 Gladys av., Chicago.

155 Get 50 Packs Each at 11½c Cigaret Sale

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 13 (AP).—There won't be any cigaret shortage for a few days for 155 lucky San Franciscans. Each bought 50 packs from the customs appraiser's office today for 11½ cents a pack. The cigarets were seized from seamen attempting to bring them into the country without paying the 7 cent per pack tax.

PARLEY MONDAY TO SEEK UNIFIED STATE AIR PLAN

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A unified state-wide program for a system of airports to develop Chicago and Illinois as a post-war world air center is to be taken up Monday at a meeting of the Illinois aviation conference. Some 150 leaders in aviation planning in Illinois are expected to attend. They include representatives of the commercial air lines, public officials, and representatives of civic groups and government agencies which long have been studying the problem.

Green, Kelly to Talk.

Mayor Kelly and Gov. Green will be among the speakers. The conference hopes to formulate a plan for presentation to the governor and to the state legislature, which opens its sessions Jan. 3. Louis E. Leverone, president of the conference, says emphasis will be upon expansion of present airport facilities and the building of new airports—adequate to handle big planes—in Illinois cities. Hundreds of smaller airports for use by privately owned planes also are planned.

State Aid Considered.

A state aid program and a federal system of airports are prime questions. One proposal widely advanced is that state laws pertaining to air traffic be based on the same principles as the Tice state aid highway system act passed some thirty years ago.

Two of the important points are what legislation at Springfield will be necessary to facilitate airport expansion thruout the state and what form the state aid program should take.

Five Point Plan.

A new state law authorizing state-wide airport construction, as advanced by these groups would provide, in brief, for:

1. A state-wide system of public airports, to be an integral part of a nation-wide system.
2. State construction of improvements on airports or sites owned by any political subdivision. The political subdivision would guarantee operation of the port in accordance with the minimum standards of the United States civil aeronautics administration. The political subdivision is to provide the site for the airport.
3. State funds to grade, drain, and pave runways, aprons, and taxiways, to install running lighting, and other aids to air navigation, and to make necessary surveys.
4. Continuance by the Illinois aeronautics commission, of which Ben Regan is chairman, of its present powers, with such new ones as may be granted by the legislature.
5. Safeguards to retain the rights and sovereignty of the state if congress gives funds for federal aid to airports.

FOWLER M'CORMICK'S PLEA OVER SISTER'S CHILDREN GRANTED

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 13 (AP).—Judge Samuel Mellitz ordered today in a memorandum decision handed down in Superior court that Fowler McCormick of Chicago be appointed guardian ad litem and next friend of Edith McCormick Hubbard and Elisha Dyer Hubbard 2d, adopted children of his sister, Mrs. Muriel McCormick Hubbard.

Judge Mellitz's memorandum permits McCormick to carry to the Superior court his fight to have Dr. Frances Clarke of Durham removed as guardian of the children. Dr. Clarke was appointed guardian with the approval of Judge Leonard O. Ryan of the Middletown Probate court, shortly after McCormick began an action to have Mrs. Hubbard removed as guardian. McCormick alleged that she was an unfit person to care for the children.

After the appointment of Dr. Clarke as guardian, McCormick appealed to have her removed on the grounds that she was "demipated by Mrs. Hubbard." Judge Mellitz's ruling holds that the proceedings before the Middletown Probate court should be reviewed by the superior court.

B-29s SET FIRES IN RAID ON JAP AVIATION PLANT

Nagoya Attack Is Called Success by General.

TWENTY-FIRST BOMBER COMMAND, Saipan, Dec. 13 (AP).—Super Fortresses today rained bombs on Nagoya, Japan's third largest city, centering their attack upon the largest aircraft factory. Numerous explosions and fires were observed.

Returning crews tonight said they concentrated on the Hatsudoki aircraft plant, the largest operated by the vast Mitsubishi company, at the northeast edge of Nagoya. The Hatsudoki plant participates in the production of most Japanese twin engined bombers and navy fighters.

[Washington dispatches said the fleet of B-29s was the mightiest yet flung against Japan and that it was indicated authoritatively that more than 100 Super Fortresses took part.]

Calls Bombing a Success.

Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell Jr., head of the 21st bomber command, said: "The mission has been a success. Many bomb strikes have been obtained in the Mitsubishi aircraft works. Damage was quite extensive. I am not prepared to assess that damage until I have had a chance to study photographs, but I think it's a good mission."

He added that early indications were that no B-29 was lost.

Hansell said leading units found fighter interception but this dwindled as other Super Forts came over Nagoya later. There was considerable anti-aircraft fire. Both interception and ack ack were ineffective.

Rain Holds Up Return.

A deluge of rain struck Saipan just as some B-29s started returning in darkness, causing great concern. Hansell and his staff members stood on an open platform of an enclosed aircraft signal tower for 20 minutes during the height of the storm while the B-29s roared helplessly in the sky and not one landed.

The first word spoken during that period was when Hansell pointed at a couple of faintly showing stars. He said: "It looks as if it may break."

Hansell said later he was pleased at the manner in which several planes landed during the storm despite zero visibility.

RAIDS MORE SERIOUS—TOKYO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tokyo radio, which previously had told the Japanese people the B-29 raids were intended primarily to shatter home morale and were causing little military damage, adopted a graver theme last night.

A domestic broadcast said the attacks were becoming serious and "the defense system of the capital must be strengthened. Evacuation of young and old will be greatly facilitated."

A Tokyo domestic broadcast warned the Japanese people that the Superforts are gradually expanding their raid zones and hitting at more frequent intervals.

Exploding Coconuts Left by Japanese in Burma

KALEWA, Burma, Dec. 13 [Reuters].—The Japanese are using exploding coconuts as mines and hand grenades in their jungle warfare. Two large dumps were found in Kalewa. Ordinary metallic detectors do not uncover the mines, as no metal is used in their construction.

CHICAGOAN'S ENGINEERS SAVE INVASION PORT

The commander of a company of engineers which slipped thru German lines to rehabilitate a seaport so that gasoline could be unloaded in support of the 7th army during the first critical days of the invasion of southern France was Capt. Thomas G. Cots, 32, of 4036 Nelson st., an army release stated yesterday.

In restoring the unnamed port to usefulness, the release said, the engineers removed more than three tons of prepared charges, 600 mines, and enough other explosives to have destroyed the port and the men. The engineers berthed the first Liberty ship within four days and five others within 10 days.

Capt. Cots, whose wife, Helen, resides at the Nelson st. address, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Cots, 2914 Logan blvd. A graduate of the University of Illinois, Capt. Cots was an engineer for the Cook county highway department before entering the army in 1942.

DESTROYS 2 JAP PILLBOXES WITH PICKUP BAZOOKA

Pvt. Edward Augustiniak, 5240 S. Marshfield av., picked up a discarded bazooka on Peleliu Island and destroyed two Jap pillboxes with direct hits before a bullet thru his helmet, which grazed his temple, put him out of action, headquarters of the 81st infantry division disclosed yesterday.

He is a son of Mrs. Mary Augustiniak.

After being evacuated from the island he was awarded the Purple Heart.

Illinoisan Helps Down Japs Chasing Flyers on Chutes

THIRTEENTH ARMY AIR FORCE, Southwest Pacific [Delayed]—(AP).—Sgt. Joseph Cirilli of St. David, Ill., radio operator and gunner, was aboard a B-24 bomber over Alicante airdrome on Negros Island in the Philippines, when the releasing mechanism jammed and the bombs could not be dropped. Japanese planes crippled the bomber as three other B-24s fell into the sea. Their crews parachuted downward, pursued by Jap fighters. The pilot of Cihilli's plane maneuvered it to protect the descending flyers and Cirilli and other of the crew shot down two Zeros. Ten of the airmen who fell into the sea were rescued.

3 JAP SHIPS SAIL INTO SHORE GUNS AT ORMOC; SUNK

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Dec. 14 [Thursday]—(AP).—Three small Japanese transports loaded with troops were sunk in Ormoc harbor Tuesday night by American shore guns, Gen. MacArthur announced today. The Nipponese apparently were unaware that the Yanks held the town when the craft slipped into the harbor.

Troops of the United States 7th division in Ormoc are cleaning out pockets of Japanese resistance to the east of American positions, while the 77th division maintains pressure to the north, Gen. MacArthur said.

Division Regroups.

The 77th division, which captured Ormoc Sunday and later was joined by the 7th coming up from the south, has been regrouping its units and sending patrols north to probe enemy strength to the rear of the Yamashita defense line.

The Japs are being pressed into the mountains to the northwest also under attack by the 32d division coming down from the Carigara bay coast and the 1st cavalry division driving in from the northeast. MacArthur said the Japanese caught by the juncture of the 7th and 77th divisions were suffering extraordinarily heavy losses.

Down Five Jap Planes.

Sixteen Japanese fighter-bombers attempted to attack American positions around Ormoc. Marine Corsair fighters shot down five attackers. Liberator bombers attacked Japanese shipping at Manila.

JAPAN REELING FROM AIR RAIDS, ARNOLD ASSERTS

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 13 (AP).—The B-29 raids on Japanese industry have that enemy "reeling in the ring," and labor and management alike must put aside post-war plans and give the armed forces materials to prevent a comeback, Gen. H. H. Arnold said today.

The chief of the army air forces said he hopes to "reduce the Japanese industrial arm to the same impotency we have the German," but added, in an interview with the Star-Telegram, that it will be a "long, tough fight that will require ever increasing production."

The sooner we destroy industry in Japan, the sooner we'll win the war, he said.

Yamashita, Jap Cabinet Adviser, Is Dead at 80

JAPS AT ORMOC LEAVE DINNER AS YANKS BURST IN Town Captured in Hand to Hand Fight.

[This delayed dispatch is the first eyewitness account of the capture of Ormoc, strategic Japanese reenforcement port on Leyte Island.]

BY AL DOPKING.

ORMOC, Leyte, Dec. 12 [Delayed] (AP).—Smoldering ruins of Ormoc lie behind the 77th infantry division tonight as it fans out northward and eastward of this key point on Leyte's west coast.

Elements of Maj. Gen. A. D. Bruce's Statue of Liberty division fought thruout yesterday—sometimes hand to hand and from house to house—to take it.

The attack began at 9:30 a. m. with an earth shaking artillery, mortar and rocket barrage. Two gunboats shuttled back and forth offshore, spraying the town with a cascade of hot lead. Two large fires were burning as infantry men entered Ormoc's outskirts.

Bruce Directs Attack.

Standing on high ground where he could see Ormoc, Bruce personally directed the attack of his division, composed mostly of men from New York state. These veterans of the battle of Guam already had had a tough fight the day before when they smashed Japanese defenses at Camp Downes, old Filipino army camp just south of Ormoc.

But they pressed their attack on Ormoc so furiously that Capt. Lowell Capoot of Bensenville, Ill., reported he saw one house which the Nipponese had deserted so hurriedly that the table was set and food still on the stove. In his haste, one Jap had left his rifle.

The Japanese tried to break up the advance with air power before and after the Americans had launchedthe attack. One enemy plane, hit by a P-47 a few minutes after it had strafed our troops, could be seen plummeting into the Camotes sea in a burst of flames.

Casualties Are Light.

Yanks encountered their heaviest fighting on the town's west outskirts, where the Japanese had pulled back off the beach. They snuffed the enemy out of coconut tree emplacements with flame throwers and grenades.

Officers said American casualties at Ormoc were lighter than had been expected, but that at Camp Downes they had been heavier. Medics are working tonight evacuating the wounded.

Fires at Ormoc burned far into last night and the sky lighted up for miles around.

NIMITZ TALKS STRATEGY WITH PACIFIC LEADERS

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Dec. 13 (AP).—Adm. Nimitz has just conferred with army and navy commanders of the central Pacific and Aleutian theaters in regard to strategy affecting forthcoming operations, it was disclosed today.

The conferences are believed to have the direct objective of Japan itself, tho possibly not in the near future.

Those attending the conference included Adm. Spruance, co-hero with Vice Adm. Mitscher in the first battle of the Philippine sea, and commander of the 5th fleet; Lt. Gen. Emmons, commander of the Alaskan department; Lt. Gen. Buckner, former commander of the Alaskan department, and Vice Adm. Fletcher, commander of the North Pacific.

THE QUESTION.

What change do you notice in your children's behavior now that Christmas is near?

WHERE ASKED.

Marshall Field & Co. store.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. William Goette, housewife, 3211 Princeton av.—There's no change in her behavior at all—except when I mention Santa Claus she gets all excited and says, "O, I'm going to try to be real good." She forgets as soon as she promises and starts teasing her sister. When everything else fails "Santa Claus" is a magic word.

R. W. Blake, sales engineer, 9523 Seeley av.—I squeezed out the orange juice and went upstairs to shave. When I came back my daughter, 4, had set the table and put on the orange juice. She certainly is using psychology on Santa Claus. When I said, "What a nice little girl you are," she said, "Thank you."

Mrs. E. J. Lichtenstein, housewife, 541 Taft, Gary, Ind.—When they are naughty and we tell them Santa wouldn't like that they try hard to be good. They've been going to bed willingly, altho I have to tell them it's time. I don't think I'll ever see the day when they'll go without being told it is time to go.

Mrs. H. Nolan, housewife, 5477 Ellis av.—My daughter has been exceptionally good. She helps tidy up the house, sets the table, and cleans her own room. Before the approach of Christmas she had to be reminded to do these little tasks. Now she volunteers. My son gets the paper for his daddy every evening.

Mrs. Wayne Varnum, writer, 635 Wenonah av., Oak Park—A thoughtful thing she did amused me. When I took her to see Santa Claus she told him to be sure to remember the little girl who lives next door. Some children in the yard were kicking a snowman other children had built. She told them, "Santa wouldn't like that."

Wendell G. Hall, postoffice clerk, 1713 Dempster st., Evanston—Christmas is an incentive to be good. My son has been running errands and saying an automatic "yes" to every request I make. When he comes home at noon he helps set the table and sometimes goes to buy groceries for his mother after school.

MURDER TRIAL DELAYED.

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—Absence of leading defense counsel today delayed the trial of Pvt. Robert Joseph Himmelman, 19, of St. Louis, Mo., charged with murder in the knife slaying of Mrs. Phyllis Irene Kent, 25, a member of the British auxiliary territorial service.

YANK GOES WAY OUT IN FRONT OF ARMY FOR 2 YRS.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Dec. 13.—A tall, bronzed, wiry lad of 23, today told a story of one of the most dangerous of all jobs in the army—leading reconnaissance patrols to feel out and test enemy positions for weak points. He has been doing it for more than two years. He enumerated his experiences as a scout section sergeant of the 82d cavalry reconnaissance squadron of the 2d armored division thru their campaigns in Africa, Sicily, France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany. He is Staff Sgt. Ray White of Clopton, Ala.

Only a week ago he and his platoon were so close to a German dugout that they kept time with the jazz radio music the German soldiers were playing.

Target of Many Weapons.

He has been the target of every type of enemy weapon. Snipers with rifles, enemy machine guns, and even artillery have fired at him at point-blank range. Once he was buried for hours but was dug out unhurt from a building dive bombed by German Stukas.

He was shot thru the mouth by a camouflaged sniper standing in woods about 10 yards away but put four shots into the German, killing him. One night he had set up a machine gun only to discover when morning came that he was in the center of a German parking ground.

He and his men have dug themselves in for weeks at a time—the last time in Germany they were in a field under artillery fire for 25 days.

Ordered to Hold.

Altho one of his primary missions is to lead his men ahead of the division for the definite purpose of exposing himself and his men to enemy fire, his unit has been ordered on several occasions "to hold, regardless" when the enemy launched counter-attacks.

When the 2d armored division landed with the first waves in Africa, White and his platoon sped ahead in jeeps. It was White's job to approach an enemy held town and expose his unit to fire. He approached the garrison, slipped past the guards, and discovered the enemy asleep. His platoon captured the Italian commandant and 500 other prisoners without a shot being fired.

At St. Lo, in Normandy, White, with a group of 24 volunteers, penetrated 2,000 yards into enemy lines under constant fire and brought back information which helped to make the break-thru the following day a complete success.

Only Out for 20 Days.

So far White has been hors de combat for only 20 days and that was after the incident with the German sniper. "Luckily I was chewing gum at the time," he said, "and the bullet tore my underlip and knocked out two teeth but didn't do any other damage. It would've knocked me cold if I had had my mouth shut and teeth gritted."

Asked what he would like to do now, White replied, "I'd like to get back to my unit as soon as possible. I hate to think of my boys going out and risking their lives without my being with them."

He got wistful, however, when he talked of home.

"My dad got five bullets thru him in the last war and came back all right. When I left him in September, 1941, I told him I'd do as well as he did. But I'm not eager any more. He is dead now and I'd like to see mom."

1ST ARMY OPENS 2 PRONG DRIVE ON DUREN FRONT

Only patrol action was reported from the American 9th and British 2d army fronts at the extreme northern end of the front. American tactical planes heavily bombed the German held town of Julich facing the 9th army.

South of the 1st army front, Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army measured its gains in scores of yards as it fought thru a maze of pillboxes and fortified houses of the Siegfried line on the outskirts of Saarlautern. Altho the 3d's artillery continued to blast Saarbrucken, there were no reports of gains against the Saar capital.

Third army forces advanced a half mile into Germany from their new invasion point east of Sarreguemines and made another crossing of the Blies river in that sector. They were reported meeting a new type of German "dungeon" defense as they hit the outposts of the Siegfried line.

House-to-house fighting was in progress in the German border hamlet of Habkirchen, northeast of Sarreguemines. The Germans were battling from cellars interlinked by passages which ran the length of the community.

Nazis Slip Thru Passages.

The buildings over the underground fortifications were described as looking like cottages, but attacking Yanks found they were treacherous, tough fortifications to subdue.

"Hand grenades won't do in this kind of fighting," an American officer said. "A group of our boys, thinking they had the Germans cornered in one cellar, called to them to come out. Before our boys knew it the Germans had slipped thru passages, come out topside three houses away and began chunking potato mashers [grenades]."

On the south end of the western front the spectacular drive of Lt. Gen. Patch's American 7th army toward the German Palatinate was checked by blown bridges across the wide Seltzbach river and by enemy counter-attacks south of the border city of Wissembourg.

Tank supported 7th army troops pushing northward from Haguenau reached Niederroedern, two and a half miles west and slightly north of Seltz, but blown bridges there and at Seltz, 15 miles southwest of Karlsruhe, slowed the advance after yesterday's eight mile sprint almost to the Rhine.

Retain Bridgeheads.

The 7th had bridgeheads across the Seltzbach river at Niederroedern and Seltz, but the Germans were fighting hard in the northern parts of both towns and were plastering American positions with artillery.

One 7th army division drove north and northeast from Haguenau and captured Mattstall, two and one-half miles from the German border, and Soultz, seven miles south of Wissembourg on the Palatinate border.

The Nazis counter-attacked southwest of Wissembourg, where American advance elements had reached within three miles of the border, but were driven back with a loss of 35 men after they reached the outskirts of captured Langensoultzbach.

Enemy resistance continued strong on the Alsace plain south of Strasbourg, where the French 1st army made only slight progress. The Germans counter-attacked at Selestat, north of Colmar.

The 1st and 3d armies captured 1,521 Germans yesterday, swelling the total of four American armies and one French army in the current campaign to 78,860. Since D-day nearly 765,000 have been captured.

Hodges' Army Gains in Double Drive

LAST OF METZ FORTS TAKEN BY AMERICANS

FORT JEANNE D'ARC, France, Dec. 13 (AP).—This German stronghold, last of the Metz network of forts holding out after Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army took the city three weeks ago, fell to American troops today.

Until today the guns of Jeanne d'Arc still menaced some approaches to the city. The great underground steel and concrete fort went out of action this morning after weeks of long air and artillery bombardment.

American troops began taking over shortly before noon. Late in the day 552 prisoners, officers and enlisted men, had been counted, including 17 wounded men. Prisoners said their food supplies were exhausted before resistance ceased.

Report Nazis Put Captive Yanks to Work Near Rhine

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY IN GERMANY, Dec. 13 (AP).—American prisoners of war are being made to work on construction of German defenses between the Roer and Rhine rivers along with Polish and Russian captives, German prisoners have reported. They said the Americans are given slightly better treatment than the others—"they are not beaten and are not shot on the slightest provocation"—but often they have to work 18 hours a day.

Two Italian Generals Go to Trial Today for Treason

ROME, Dec. 13 [Reuters].—The first public trial of high Italian army officers accused of treasonable conduct in aiding the Germans after the Italian armistice is scheduled to open tomorrow. Gen. Riccardo Pentilalli, 60, former commander of the 13th army corps in Naples, and Gen. Ettore del Tetto, 55, who was in command of the Naples military district, will be tried.

Bad Weather Interrupts Air Attacks on Germans

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—The mists and clouds of Europe's winter stifled the allied air offensive against Germany today, holding the heavy bombers away from enemy targets which in the two previous days had been rocked by 20,000 tons of explosives from some 8,000 planes. Bad weather closed in after a strong force of R. A. F. Lancasters and Halifaxes, plus night fighters and Mosquitoes, struck a shattering blow at Essen and made a smaller strike at Osnabruck late last night.

REPORTS 150,000 FORCED TO ENTER GERMAN ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 13.—Henri Pierre Frenay, French minister of war and deportees, today told a meeting of the Alsace-Lorraine committee of the consultative assembly that 150,000 young men in Alsace-Lorraine were impressed into the German army. Frenay estimated that another 100,000 had been deported to Germany for compulsory labor. A French mission is en route to Moscow to arrange for repatriation of men from Alsace-Lorraine who may be captured or desert to the Russians on that front.

Correspondents in Alsace-Lorraine report that German policy was directed to incorporate those provinces into the reich and their administration was less severe than in other sections of France. A year ago, however, the Germans had to change their policy of conciliation to mobilize reenforcements for the German army.

A large proportion of the younger men hid in the woods and found their way into the French Forces of the Interior [F. F. I.].

CHRISTMAS TREE BALLS NEW NAZI 'SECRET WEAPON'

PARIS, Dec. 13 [Reuters].—The Germans have produced a "secret weapon" in keeping with the Christmas season. The new device, apparently an air defense weapon, resembles the huge glass balls which adorn Christmas trees.

They hang in the air sometimes singly, sometimes in clusters. They are colored silver and other shades and apparently are transparent.

No information is revealed as to what holds them up like stars in the sky, what is in them, or what their purpose is. They have been seen several times floating over German territory.

YANKS FIGHT ON FIELD OF FAMOUS BATTLE IN 1870

Turn Back Strong Nazi Tank Attack.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE UNITED STATES 7TH ARMY IN WOERTH-SOULTZ SOUS FORETS SECTOR, Dec. 13.—Thru a country where battlefields, monuments, and cemeteries of the Franco-Prussian war recall how Alsace was lost to France at that time, the Yanks today were advancing to reverse that decision completely.

The Yanks cut thru more Maginot line positions today and were coming up against three of the strongest in that zone—the forts of Hochwald, Schoenbourg [also called Achaux], and Lembach, all south and southwest of Wissembourg, a hinge of the Siegfried line.

The tactics and materials of war have changed since that day of Aug. 6, 1870, when the hosts of the French marshal, MacMahon, and the Prussian crown prince met on this terrain and MacMahon was defeated.

Infantry Still Similar.

Those combatants relied greatly on cavalry, and their artillery didn't have much more range than some of our mortars, but in one respect war is no different. For today, American infantrymen moved in file along the roads to battle, just as 74 years ago the foot troops of MacMahon and the crown prince came into the lines.

Some of the elderly people around here recall that momentous battle in 1870 and they still discuss MacMahon's judgment, or lack of judgment, with as much fervor as aged Confederate soldiers talk of Longstreet's delay in coming up to help Lee at Gettysburg.

The major French and Prussian engagement in this sector was between Woerth and the little village of Froeschwiller. We now hold both these places. According to the reconstruction of the battle found in a French school book today, MacMahoh's forces were aligned on high ground and the Prussians attacked from the east across a valley.

Cavalry Cut to Pieces.

At noon the tide was going in MacMahon's favor and he thought he had won. But the Prussian prince attacked with reënforcements. In the face of certain defeat, MacMahon would not retreat and his army was broken. Later that day the French marshal sent Gen. Michel's cavalry brigade out in a counter-attack and that unit was cut to pieces.

One excerpt from the school book said:

"The retreat was honorable and indicated and necessary. But MacMahon was not a skilful soldier. He was simply a brave one. He only understood one maneuver—face the front, and if necessary die.

"He was, in fact, true to his admirable bon mot on the mined bastion at Sevastopol, 'Here I am.' He was like all the French marshals of those days—an excellent and gallant divisional commander, but an execrable commander in chief.

"He sacrificed his army. He risked his life. He forgot the real thing he was sacrificing—France!"

Germans Counter-attack.

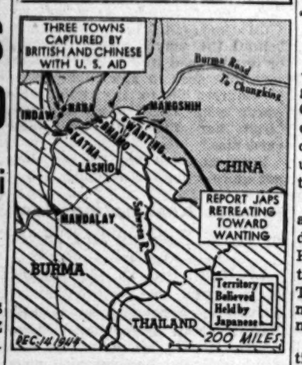
In today's war there was a counter-attack, too, but it was by the Germans and they were using Mark VI. [Tiger] tanks instead of cavalry. And they came up against Americans who had no need to retreat.

The counter-attack was an attempt by the enemy to regain Langensoultzbach, north of Foreschwiller and the historic Franco-Prussian battlefield. The enemy thrust was smashed by American artillery and our infantry pressed on to get within two miles of the German border at some points.

In the Woerth and Soultz sous Forets vicinities the German positions overrun were part of the Maginot belt. The resistance consisted of mortar and 88 mm. fire and the tank counter-blow. It was heavier opposition than in the Haguenau forest to the east, but the real Maginot struggle may be for the Hochwald, Schoeneburg and Lembach forts. That is, if the enemy intends to defend any of the Maginot belt as his final delaying action before retiring to the Siegfried line, and today's indication is that he does plan some such defense.

Hochwald is probably the most powerful of the three positions—it consists of one large artillery fort and a chain of smaller strongholds set in a mountainous forest and all connected by more than three miles of underground passages.

Japs Retreating



CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 13 (AP).—The retreat of Japanese units toward the border town of Wanting, 200 miles northeast of Mandalay, Burma, where the Burma road cuts into China, was reported tonight by the Chinese high command. Chinese forces have captured a high position 12 miles north of Wanting.

Katha, a large Irrawaddy river town 155 miles north of Mandalay, and a near-by town were entered by allied troops without serious opposition, the high command announced.

In the Chindwin sector of upper Burma, British East African patrols have entered a village under enemy fire. Japanese units hold strongpoints on a ridge about 1,000 yards to the north covering the town's approaches.

CHINESE DRIVE JAPS 10 MILES FARTHER BACK

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 13 (AP).—As Chinese troops scored more gains in Kwangsi province, P. H. Chang, cabinet spokesman, said today that the high command was considering how to make the best use of every opportunity to take the military initiative.

After an overnight advance of about 10 miles, Chinese forces had driven more than 20 miles into Kwangsi in pursuit of Japanese retreating from Kweichow province. They were reported to be about 15 miles from Hochih, which is 95 miles northwest of Liuchow.

Chang said the Japanese penetration into Kweichow had made the Chinese more war minded. Thousands were joining the war services, and it was felt that 100,000 educated youth will have been recruited for the army by Jan. 1.

Gen. Fang Hsien-chueh, commander of the Chinese 10th army, accused the Japanese of slaughtering several thousand Chinese prisoners after the fall of Hengyang. He also voiced his shame over failing to hold the city or take his life following his defeat. He did not kill himself, he said, because his staff officers dissuaded him. The Japanese captured him but he escaped.

REDS' GUNS AND PLANES HAMMER BUDAPEST GATES

Neutralize Air Field on Nazi Escape Route.

LONDON, Dec. 14 [Thursday]—(AP).—Red army armored columns, smashing thru strong Nazi defenses northeast of Budapest, were seven miles from the Hungarian capital early today, Moscow announced.

They captured Kisalag in that area and seized the railway town of Isaszeg, 10 miles directly east of Budapest, as they increased their pressure from that direction. The Russians also hammered the northeast and southeast entrances to the city with artillery and aerial blows.

Moscow advices yesterday said heavy artillery duels were being waged in the area of suburban Ujpest, north of Budapest, and on the Csepel Island and the west bank of the Danube south of the capital. The enemy air field at Budaors on the Nazi escape rail line leading from Budapest toward Austria was reported neutralized by soviet guns.

Nazis Counter-Attack.

East of Pest—the part of the capital on the east bank of the Danube—small panzer troops counter-attacked in attempts to relieve the Russian pressure.

The broadcast Moscow war bulletin announced the capture of seven other towns northeast of Budapest, including one on the rail line leading north to Slovakia.

This soviet advance threatened to cut off the Germans fighting in eastern Slovakia and to extend the front toward the Slovak capital of Bratislava and Vienna on the west.

In addition, Moscow listed the capture of 12 towns and villages north and northwest of Miskolc, 85 miles northeast of Budapest, in a flanking operation on the eastern Slovak stronghold of Kassa [Kosice]. Towns captured included Abod, 12 miles from the Slovak border.

Thrust Toward Austria.

The Russians were nearest the Austrian border at the southwestern end of Lake Balaton, where they were thrusting toward the rail fortress of Nagykanizsa between the Drava river frontier with northern Yugoslavia.

A second sector threatening Austria was around Szekesfehervar, 32 miles southwest of Budapest, and a major rail fortress on the Austrian lifeline. They were within nine miles of the junction on the east, eight miles on the southeast, and 13 miles on the southwest.

A third sector was above the big bend on the Danube about 18 miles north of Budapest.

The Russian army newspaper Red Star said that the Germans already were moving their depots and war plants into the reich from frontier districts of Austria menaced by the current soviet offensive.

FRENCH TO ACT ON SOVIETIZING ALL INDUSTRIES

Leftists Seek More Power for Labor.

BY ROBERT SAGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 13.—The vital question of how far French industry and commerce under the fourth republic are to be sovietized is expected to be answered before the end of this week.

A proposed government ordinance compelling an employer to consult his employes before taking any important decision concerning his business is being debated in the consultative assembly. There is little doubt it will be approved in its main lines by an overwhelming majority. The only uncertain factor is how far it will go.

Sole opposition thus far voiced to the proposal comes from two members of the Republican federation, who advised the government to go slow on nationalization, requisition, and other proposed economic and social measures. Their objects were shouted down by leftist assemblymen, who are seeking to speed up the process of taking control away from the owners of big business.

Aim at Agriculture Rule.

At the other extreme, the labor commission, which is leading the debate on the proposed amendments, wants to see a new labor regime extended immediately to agricultural enterprises and public services. The commission furthermore demands that representatives of personnel in nationalized and requisitioned enterprises not only should act in a consultative capacity but should have a share in the actual management of the business.

The proposal, which will bring about a revolution in France's economic life, centers around the government's recent creation of so-called "committees of enterprise." These committees would be set up in every business enterprise employing more than 100 persons and would consist of the head of the firm and from four to eight delegates of employes, depending on the size of the establishment.

Committee's Functions Told.

The committee has complete charge of all social activities in the establishment and also acts in a consultative capacity on questions of working conditions and living conditions. At least once annually, the heads of all firms, including corporations, are obliged to submit a report on how business is proceeding to the committee, which has the right of making suggestions for improvements.

In case of the committee's advice being rejected by the management, the committee may submit the rejected proposals to the ministry of labor.

ALLIES TO PUT NAZIS IN CONCENTRATION PENS, FREE THEIR VICTIMS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The allied military government in conquered German territory will take over all Nazi concentration camps and use them to detain Nazis after the innocent victims in the camps have been released, a proclamation broadcast in the name of Gen. Eisenhower said yesterday. The proclamation, 10th in a series outlining plans of the allied authorities, said the allies would take over control of all prisons and remove all Nazi and other undesirable prison officials, and that the Gestapo and SS. police [Elite guard] would be "liquidated at once."

LOSES SUIT AGAINST BRIDEWELL.

The Appellate court yesterday upheld a ruling by Judge John Prystalski in Circuit court that John Kelly, 48, a Negro, was not entitled to damages for a leg fracture he suffered in 1939 while working in the Bridewell clay pit as a prisoner.

AIDMAN MAKES RACE COURSE OF HELL'S HIGHWAY

aid work because he likes driving. We skidded into the main road turning toward Frauenberg.

"The Germans barrage this road every 15 minutes," Thill said. "That's why I go so fast."

Makes Meaning Clear.

The edge of Frauenburg was almost in the shadow of a 400 foot hill just across the river, on which the Germans were still entrenched. Thill pointed to some shell wrecked trees.

"See what I mean?" he asked.

We reached an advanced aid station. Capt. Walter S. Kotas, Cheyenne, Wyo., whose parents live at 1047 N. Hoyne av., Chicago, said medical evacuation from the embattled town of Habkirschen just across the Blies river now was well organized.

Aidmen carry Habkirschen's wounded to the river where they are placed on a boat flying a Red Cross flag. They are met on this side of the river by litter bearers who carry them to the aid station. The Germans honor the Red Cross flag by not firing, altho one aidman was hit by a shell fragment this morning.

Capt. Kotas finished working on an injured Yank, who then was put on a stretcher and loaded on Thill's jeep. We started back.

Captured and Rescued.

The wounded man said he and other G. I.s were in a building in Habkirschen last night when Germans suddenly appeared, ordered them to surrender, and threw a grenade which wounded him when the Americans opened fire.

The Germans took the uninjured Yanks prisoner and left a Nazi aidman with the wounded. Then American reënforcements appeared and the wounded were rescued.

The jeep hit a bump. The wounded man cried out. We explained we were under observation and couldn't go as slowly as we would like.

"But you yell all you want to," Thill said gently.

At Thill's home station, litter bearers lifted the wounded man tenderly and carried him into a house. Then this happened:

We were not inside the house more than five minutes when a German shell exploded in the yard outside. An ambulance was damaged and Thill's parked jeep was showered with dirt.

He's Gone Again.

As the newsmen were leaving, Thill's jeep, with the little madman behind the wheel, went rocketing by on the road leading to the highway that goes to Frauenberg.

"Address it to my wife," his words came back to my memory. "Tell her I'll send her some gardenias."

Yeah, and tell her for me she's got quite a Joe for a husband.

Predict Resumption Soon of Boat Service to France

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Resumption of train and boat service between Britain and France is near, says the Daily Express. Restoration of chanel traffic, it says, would enable hundreds of British business men, members of parliament, and others to travel to France and renew contacts.

HOT DOG! 'LOST' TRAIN RESCUED, WIENERS AREN'T

Grafton, W. Va., Dec. 13 [Special].—The Baltimore and Ohio railroad's "lost" passenger train showed up here tonight with a weary train crew who told of commandeering a shipment of wieners and a box of bread to feed two dozen hungry passengers during last night's blizzard.

Conductor Charles W. Cogar said the train was stalled by drifts near the village of Elkhurst, 45 miles east of Charleston. It left Charleston at 7:30 a. m. yesterday on a run to Grafton. Disruption of communications made the train's whereabouts a mystery until a relief train reached it at 9 a. m. today.

Cogar said none of the passengers suffered discomfort. There was heat in the cars, he said, and some 4-H girls of Elkhurst pushed thru the drifts with hot coffee.

BRITAIN PLANS SEPARATE ROADS FOR AUTOS, BIKES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 13.—A plan for a peace time extension of Britain's highway system was disclosed today in the house of commons. The program envisages 90 foot highways.

The war transport ministry spokesman said it was proposed to ask parliament "for the necessary powers to construct suitable lengths of road to be reserved for mechanically propelled vehicles" but promised to retain many of the famous Devonshire lane type roads.

The main aims of the new road plan are to separate swift traffic from slow vehicles for safety's sake and to speed up travel. The proposals envisage a segregated ring of roads with radial arteries on which only motor traffic will be allowed with horse traffic, cycles, and pedestrians excluded. The time saving value of the project was put at $100,000,000 a year.

10-TO-20 YEAR PLAN URGED TO REMAKE LONDON

Shifting of Population and Factories Proposed.

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—Britain's largest metropolitan area—London—is big enough, and further expansion should be prohibited while its factories and 10,000,000 inhabitants are reshuffled for a more reasonable and decent standard of living, it was recommended tonight.

Prof. Patrick Abercrombie, commissioned to draw up a post-war plan for the 2,500 square miles of densely populated London and its environs, gave the British ministry of town and country planning 130,000 words of recommendations which, if accepted, would require 10 to 20 years to execute.

Decentralization was the keynote of the plan which Abercrombie and his staff spent two and one-half years perfecting.

Nine Satellite Cities.

He recommended that one million persons be lifted from the heart of London and reëstablished in areas within a 30 to 50 mile radius of the old city.

Nine new satellite cities with a population of about 60,000 each would be set up on the outskirts of the city, he said.

Industries must go, too, the professor insisted, and many industries automatically will coöperate when decentralization is made attractive to them.

The planning expert suggested that evacuation due to air attacks "just about comes within the limits of the plan."

If returning families are reestablished in the new areas instead of patched up bomb damaged homes, this hurdle will be surmounted with little difficulty, he said.

West End Still Crowded.

West End London, with its swanky apartment houses, still would be crowded with 200 persons to the acre, but nowhere else in England would the population be so dense.

Areas which now are jammed, some of them 500 to the acre, will be reduced to between 180 and 136 persons to the acre, graduating to 30 to the acre in outlying regions.

Three hundred thousand new homes would be needed under Abercrombie's plan. Under the pre-war rate of 72,000 new houses a year, this phase might be completed in four or five years, he said.

Take Nazi Underground Factory for Liquid Air

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 13.—An underground factory which made liquid air for V-1 and V-2 vengeance bombs was captured by Americans near Wittring, southeast of Sarreguemines, according to reports today from the front. The factory employed 2,000 workers.

Inquest Witness

Mrs. Wilma P. Karlson as she appeared at the inquest into the death of Virginia Thompson.

Friends of her divorced first husband last night were preparing to defray funeral expenses of Miss Virginia Thompson, 35, who ended her life Sunday night in the apartment at 1209 Sherwin av. of her fiance, Lt. James C. Stanley, U. S. N. R., whose love she feared she had lost. Lt. Stanley, senior officer in the radio division of the press relations office, is a pneumonia patient in the naval hospital at Great Lakes.

He suffered a relapse Tuesday when informed of Miss Thompson's death, and naval authorities yesterday refused to inform him that her body lay unclaimed for several hours.

At the inquest Mrs. Wilma P. Karlson, 8035 Keating av., Skokie, said that she and her husband, Fred, were longtime friends of Russell Thompson and that if no one else assumed the responsibility of saving her from the potter's field, she would do so. She added that other friends of Thompson and his former wife might also assist.

Joseph [Duke] Corrado, whose marriage to Miss Thompson last February recently was annulled, identified the body, but indicated he would not accept responsibility of burying her. Corrado, an ex-prize fighter, now is a navy chief specialist at Navy pier. Russell Thompson is an army corporal stationed in England. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide by poison while temporarily insane.

YANKS BUILDING LONDON HOMES BEAT SCHEDULE

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—American soldiers building temporary houses for bombed out Londoners are already ahead of schedule.

Starting Saturday and working thru the week-end, the G. I. engineers used a 10 day quota of cement in four days and were required to slow down until supplies caught up with them.

Six hundred women demonstrators marched to the house of commons today carrying placards demanding that the government build 4,000,000 temporary and permanent houses in the next five years.

WITH ROCKETS, LCT'S EQUAL 2½ BATTLESHIPS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 [Special].—The navy today partially lifted the secrecy which has veiled its development of rocket warfare, disclosing that rocket armed landing craft used to spearhead our invasions are equipped to deliver salvoes equal to two and one-half times the fire power of one of our biggest battleships.

Rear Adm. George F. Hussey Jr., chief of the bureau of ordnance, described a 4.5 inch beach rocket which "carries the wallop of a 105 millimeter shell," and spoke of devastating fireball barrages laid down on enemy beaches by rocket craft under the cover of big guns of the fleet.

Hussey disclosed that naval aircraft "are using rockets in ever increasing quantity" with results which he termed magnificent.

Our rockets have been so effective that, altho rocket production has now reached a dollar volume of $100,000,000 a month, the navy will increase this nearly 300 per cent within the next few months, Hussey said.

Several Types Used.

It was disclosed officially that the navy has been charged with responsibility for production of rockets for all the services, while the army will manufacture a propellant charge which will not dissolve in water or other ordinary solvents.

In addition to high explosive rockets, incendiary and smoke rockets are being successfully employed, it was said.

Describing use of rockets by planes, Hussey said a plane can carry eight—four under each wing—and that they are much more accurate when launched from planes than from the ground because the plane's velocity combines with the action of the rocket's fins to exert a restoring force that keeps its flight true.

Experience has shown that rockets can be flown hundreds of miles and "pin-pointed on a target," where they hit with the force of a field artillery shell, it was said. Even lighter fighter planes, such as Hellcats, carry rockets and have used them effectively against both enemy ships and ground targets.

Have Armor Piercing Power.

One of several navy rockets is 3.5 inches in diameter, with a solid armor piercing head, and is carried both by Ventura search planes and Avenger torpedo bombers, it was said. Another is a rocket with a 5 inch head that has "roughly the equivalent of a 155 millimeter shell."

Hussey said that rockets were put to their first real test in the amphibious operations of the Pacific war and that by the time the European invasions began rocket craft had become a vital factor in landings on enemy held beaches. A modified tank landing craft was used as a rocket ship in the Normandy landings and designated LCT [R]. Such a craft carries hundreds of rockets.

R. A. F. PRISONER'S SLAYING BY NAZIS STIRS BRITISH PROTEST

LONDON, Dec. 13 [Reuters].—The British government is making a strong protest to Germany against the shooting of an R. A. F. prisoner of war, whom the Germans say they suspected of having collaborated with the Polish resistance movement. James Grigg, minister of war, announcing the protest in the house of commons today, added that the British government was dissatisfied with the German account.

Grigg said Warrant Officer Coles escaped from a prison camp and was recaptured in Danzig. Last May 10, said Grigg, Coles was removed from prison in the civilian clothes in which he had been recaptured and was refused permission to put on his R. A. F. uniform. He was handed over to the Gestapo. On Oct. 1, 1944, information was received from the protecting power that the German authorities had reported Coles had been shot dead on July 15.

In November, 1944, a German note was received thru the protecting power which stated that Coles offered resistance at Tilsit during the evacuation of a convoy and was shot dead. The note added that Coles was suspected of having collaborated with the Polish resistance movement, Grigg concluded.

Report Rebels Occupy Province in Salvador

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Dec. 13 (AP).—Representatives of the El Salvador government in exile said here today that revolutionary forces have occupied "the greater part" of the Salvadorean province of Ahuachapan. Guatemala dispatches said yesterday an uprising had occurred in the province.

MYSTERY BLAST IN HOTEL BREAKS CALM IN ATHENS

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 13.—A mysterious blast rocked the Grande Bretagne hotel, near British army headquarters, this afternoon during a lull in the fighting with Greek leftist ELAS militiamen. The cause of the explosion, which blew open the hotel's dining room windows during the tea hour, was not determined.

Earlier in the day members of the ELAS dynamited buildings around the hotel in an attempt to drive the British back and again shelled the center of the city, apparently aiming at the British headquarters.

Some Shells Are Duds.

It is apparent that the Italian captured ammunition the ELAS are using is not too good. As I lay abed in a top floor room I heard at least four shells swish by without the ensuing explosion—apparently duds. Other overranged shells whistled over the hotel to explode beyond with window rattling blasts.

During the afternoon lull Athens citizens who have gone hungry since the revolt began 11 days ago and waterless for the last three days scurried about trying to find both without much success. One fortunate old man, however, was seen pedaling a bicycle with a pitcher of water precariously balanced on the handlebars. We are limited to half a gallon of water daily for drinking and washing.

Strong Man Returns.

Gen. Nicholas Plastiras, Greece's "strong man," who fled after the attempted coup d'etat he staged in 1933 failed, returned to Athens today from France. Gen. Plastiras also led the revolt of 1922 which deposed King Constantine. He spent the afternoon with Premier George Papandreou.

PUBLIC RALLIES TO ICE SHOW FOR 8,500 IN SERVICE

Soldiers, Sailors Profit Under Plan.

Chicago's Christmas gift to 8,500 service men, a pair of tickets for each to the Sonja Henie ice show in the Stadium Friday night, Dec. 22, under a plan jointly sponsored by the treasury department and THE TRIBUNE, received solid indorsement from the public yesterday. Innumerable telephone calls began to flood THE TRIBUNE and treasury department switchboards, and sixth war loan bond buyers began appearing at bond selling places with the coupons.

Under the plan, each person who buys a war bond may present the coupon from THE TRIBUNE for proper stamping by the selling agent, who will forward it to Don McKiernan, deputy manager of special events, treasury department, room 819, 105 Adams st. Special cards bearing the name and address of each bond buyer will be forwarded with the tickets to the Chicago service men's centers and military stations by the treasury. The cards will provide the service men means of expressing their appreciation to the donors.

Convalescents to Attend.

Convalescing service men able to leave the army and navy hospitals in the Chicago area will be among those receiving tickets, McKiernan said.

The performance for the service men will mark the ninth annual appearance of Miss Henie's ice revue in Chicago, and will be made possible by the star herself and Arthur M. Wirtz, producer and vice president and general manager of the Stadium.

Bond sales to individuals in Chicago and Cook county thru Monday stood at $150,736,000, or 63.9 per cent of quota, and over-all purchases totaled $359,079,000, or 102.7 per cent of quota. For Illinois the total was $1,056,500,000, or 103.1 per cent of quota. This included E bonds for 94 million dollars, or 54 per cent, of which $58,078,000, or 54.4 per cent of the goal, was Chicago's portion.

Sales Top 15¾ Billions.

Treasury officials in Washington, D. C., said national individual bond sales were 3 billions 663 millions, or 73 per cent of quota. E bond sales were 1 billion 468 million dollars, 59 per cent of the goal and 67 million dollars behind schedule. Total national sales reached 15 billions 874 millions.

Mrs. Leo P. Cummings, Catholic women's division chairman, said today is the deadline for the exchange of bond purchase coupons for reserved seats for the Paulist choir's war bond concert at Orchestra hall on Dec. 18.

ARMY TO SHOW INVASION TRICKS IN LOOP AT NOON

Flame spitting weapons and all the paraphernalia of infantry assaults demonstrated by veterans, will mark the appearance of the army's new E war bond show, "Here's Your Infantry," in Chicago for nine days, starting at noon today at State and Madison sts. A second full length performance will be staged at 8 p. m. on the parking lot in Grant park at 16th st.

One thousand troops, including an 80 piece band assembled by Maj. Wayne King, former dance band director, will march from State st. and Wacker dr. to Congress st. and halt at State and Madison st. for a 20 minute sample of the show. Mayor Kelly will give a brief address in the bond drive as will other war loan officials. The troops will begin twice a day performances, starting at Lane stadium, 2501 Addison st., at 3 and 8 p. m. tomorrow, and thereafter daily in different neighborhoods during the nine day stay.

A special unit of 39 Pacific veterans with the show saw service in the Aleutians. Thirteen of them wear the Presidential unit citation. The group was brought here to assist in putting over the lagging E bond sales to individuals.

REPORTS $300 CAR LOOTING.

CANADIANS PUSH WEDGE INTO NAZI FRONT IN ITALY

ROME, Italy, Dec. 13 (AP).—Canadian units of the British 8th army drove from newly won Lamone river bridgeheads northeast of Faenza today and established a wedge almost three miles deep in German defenses.

Allied headquarters said the Canadians had shoved the Germans back two miles in the direction of Lugo. More than 300 prisoners were taken and a number of armored vehicles destroyed when the Germans were pushed back beyond the Fosso Vecchio O Cantrigo, a small stream that parallels the Lamone.

The Germans have launched several small counter-attacks against the 5th army south of Bologna, but there is evidence they were intended primarily to screen Nazi defense preparations. In one assault the Germans gained temporary possession of Castel Nuova on the 5th army's right flank.

More Brazilians in Italy.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Dec. 13 (AP).—A third contingent of Brazilian troops arrived in Italy on Dec. 7, the war ministry said today.

HUNT EX-COOK IN NATION-WIDE CHECK SWINDLE

Spencer J. Drayton, head of the Chicago office of the federal bureau of investigation, said yesterday that a nation-wide search was being conducted for Allen Duchinsky, 32, a former cook accused of impersonating wealthy citizens and cashing worthless checks totaling more than $3,500 in hotels thruout the country. Drayton said Duchinsky was wanted by authorities in Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, and New York on various charges, including theft of credentials of Gordon Lamont, secretary of the Corliss Lamont company, New York investment firm.

VETERANS BACK FREE PRESS TO PREVENT WARS

A free press plus military might are regarded as "must" ingredients for any formula aimed at keeping the future peace, a survey among 175 veterans of World War II, now enrolled as students at Northwestern university disclosed yesterday.

The poll, conducted by Chester E. Willard, coördinator of veterans' education on the university's Evanston campus, showed that 84 per cent of the former soldiers, sailors, and marines who have returned to the classroom from such battle zones as Guadalcanal, the Aleutians, Africa, Italy, the Coral Sea, Kula Gulf, and Savo Island believe only armed force can maintain world security.

Student Union View Opposed.

This almost universal opinion recalled to sociologists and other observers what they termed "a diametrically opposed point of view" displayed by members of the American Student union, who before the attack on Pearl Harbor indorsed the "Oxford pledge" in refusing the support of the United States in any war and backed a nation-wide non-intervention campaign prior to the Stalin-Hitler break.

An overwhelming majority—95 per cent—of the student-soldiers declared a free press in every country could be a potent factor in averting another war.

They split three ways in their opinions on how best to curb the German war machine, but 79 per cent agreed in indorsement of a year of compulsory military training.

Increase in Nationalism.

Most of the veterans—69 per cent—were convinced, according to the poll, that the war will result in increased nationalism thruout the world.

They acknowledged that their military service had taught them discipline, an understanding of civic affairs, and a sense of responsibility.

On the question, "Has military service increased your interest in religion?" 57 per cent said "no," and 43 per cent "yes."

SUFFOCATION HELD ACCIDENT.

A verdict of accident was returned yesterday at the inquest into the death of Frank Mares, 45, of 2860 Poplar av., a wrapper for the Craftsman Wood Service company, 2727 Mary st., where he was suffocated by smoke, Tuesday.

NOT WORRIED ABOUT HUGE PUBLIC DEBT, SAYS TREASURY AID

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—Daniel W. Bell, second in command of the treasury, said tonight in a sixth war loan radio address that:

1. He is not worried, about the country's ability to carry the big public debt being piled up thru sale of war bonds.

2. Cashing of bonds is not alarming to the treasury and it intends to continue the present method of redeeming bonds at banks.

3. The recent burning of war bonds in Miami, Fla., even tho done on a patriotic impulse, was ill advised because money lent to the United States is "a sacred trust."

ENGLAND RIDES U.S. BACK, SAYS INDIA LEADER

Charges Britain Lives Off His Country.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

How long India must await freedom from England's dominance was measured in an interview with a Moslem leader from India last night by how long, thru lend-lease and in other ways, "the United States will carry England on its back."

This leader, Dr. Syud Hossain, who now heads the national committee for India's freedom in Washington, D. C., was called by the Chicago Zionist organization to deliver a principal address before that organization's Chanukah festival in the Stevens hotel last night, when 1,500 persons paid $25 a plate for the Zionist cause.

Blames British Toryism.

Dr. Hossain was invited by the mayor of Tel Aviv, Palestine, several years ago to aid in the mediation of Arab-Jewish disputes, and is recognized as a friend both of Zionist plans for a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine and of the Moslem Arabs. In his dinner address, Dr. Hossain declared the only reason for Jewish-Arab hostility is "British Toryism," which uses the device of "playing one side against the other."

But for "British muddling, cynicism, power, and diplomatic interference," said Dr. Hossain, the Arabs and Jews could iron out their differences. "It is a tragic commentary on that policy that never in 25 years have the relations between Jews and Arabs been more strained than they are today," he added. "In all these years no consistent or coherent policy has been pursued by the British imperial authorities."

India a Rich Empire.

In the interview Dr. Hossain explained that England's policy toward India "is understandable, but not necessarily ethical. There could be no British empire without India. Of the two countries, India only had empire status when the English came to India and begged to stay. Only India could vest Britain with empire, because India's empire is 5,000 years old.

"India was the wealthiest country in the world. India was the magnet, just as wealthy America is the magnet today to the peoples of the world. The British have used India in two respects. India is a vast reservoir for raw materials; the whole of India is a monopoly market for manufactured goods where there are 400 million people to buy."

Queried about the reported remark of Norman Angell, British economist, that India is in the red to England, Dr. Hossain replied that the remark was "a blatant and brazen perversion of the facts of the case. The British have been living on the proceeds from India for the last two years."

OVERTIME PAY ORDER FOR AP GROUP UPHELD

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—The war labor board today upheld its newspaper commission's order that union membership maintenance, hours, and overtime provisions be included in a contract between the Associated Press' New York office and the American Newspaper guild.

Wage increases and retroactivity of those increases to Sept. 1, 1943, were not appealed by the AP.

The AP-New York guild contract, which expires Dec. 31, covers approximately 400 employes of the New York office.

Finds Letter

Mrs. Mary Schleicher holding letter involved in divorce suit.

On June 6, which was D-day, Mrs. Mary Schleicher, 33, of 3336 Evergreen av., found a love letter written to her husband, Peter, 36, and signed with the lipstick red impression of a woman's lips.

"Who is this from?" she asked Schleicher when he came home.

"That's my business," he said.

"O, it is?" she asked. "Do you have any other business?"

At that point, she told Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday in Circuit court, her husband slapped her. Mrs. Schleicher, represented by Atty. John A. Balko, was given a divorce for cruelty, and $20 a week support for her daughter, Gloria, 3. She said Schleicher is in the hamburger business.

CHICAGOAN WINS FLYING CROSS ON ROMANIAN RAID

Staff Sgt. Le Roy T. Sanders, son of Mrs. Alida Sanders, 2507 N. Harding av., has been awarded the distinguished flying cross for an especially eventful mission he completed as crew member of a B-24 bomber, 15th army air force headquarters in Italy has disclosed. In a raid on the Ploesti, Romania, oil fields the plane in which Sgt. Sanders was flying went into its bombing run with only two of its four engines functioning. One had developed trouble on the way to the target; the other had been knocked out by enemy fire.

Sgt. Leroy T. Sanders.

The plane dropped its bombs square on the target, but immediately thereafter it was forced to drop out of formation. Enemy gunners centered their fire on it, riddling its wings, bomb bays, and hydraulic system. The ship began losing altitude and the crew in desperation threw overboard everything portable that could lighten the load—guns, ammuntion belts, protective clothing.

Inching its way over the mountains, the crippled plane staggered toward its base. A skilful landing was made on the home strip without further damage to the plane.

Widow of Prison Guard Given Job at Stateville

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 13 [Special].—Gov. Green announced today appointment of Mrs. Zoeth Skaggs of Joliet as a warder in the visitors' room at Stateville prison. Mrs. Skaggs is the widow of a Stateville guard who was killed Nov. 24 when 10 convicts tried to escape. Mrs. Skaggs will report for work Jan. 1.

REPORT BRITAIN PLANS NEW RULE OF FREED LANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 13.—A new plan for the governing of liberated countries is being drafted by the British cabinet to prevent a repetition of the Greek disturbances, political observers said today.

Political writers suggested the British may propose to adopt the so-called Czech plan by which local elections would be held in a liberated country with a military government in over-all control until a properly elected government took office.

Speculation arose after Labor Minister Bevin told the Labor party conference today that he would have to revise his views regarding the administration of freed areas as a result of the Greek outbreaks.

Bevin hastened to explain, however, that "the steps taken [in upholding the Papandreou government] in Greece are not the decision of Winston Churchill. They are the decisions of the cabinet. I am not going to hide from anybody that I am a party to the decisions taken." Last Friday in the house of commons, Churchill had assumed complete personal responsibility for the armed intervention in Greece and won a vote of confidence.

The Labor conference, representing more than 2,500,000 members, gave a 2,308,000 majority to a resolution urging immediate armistice moves by Britain in Greece.

A SUNNY MIAMI GIVES TOURISTS COLD WELCOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Dec. 13.—Sun chasers stepped from northern trains into 'balmy Miami' this morning and shivered. Temperatures in the trucking area, which snuggles close to Miami like Evanston to Chicago, dipped to 34 degrees last night and the Miami airport thermometer registered 41. Downtown Miami claimed 50.

Tourists who came south to get warm bundled into furs, socks, and mittens and climbed into bed to keep their sun tans from turning blue. Taking an early morning dip was like being initiated into the Polar Bear club.

Radio stations were almost as busy with cold warnings last night as they sometimes are with hurricane alerts. Local announcers broke into national network programs to advise citrus growers that frost was expected. A low of 25 was recorded in the citrus areas.

OWNER IS SLAIN, ONE WOUNDED IN ROADHOUSE DUEL

Herrin, Ill., Dec. 13 [Special].—A pistol duel in a roadhouse today led to the death of the roadhouse owner, Thomas Propes, 44, and the critical wounding of Monroe Armes, 38, a former member of the old Shelton gang that terrorized southern Illinois in prohibition days.

State's Atty. Lan Haney said the two were shooting dice behind the bar and pulled guns on each other during a quarrel. Propes, who was discharged from the navy four months ago, died with three bullets in the head and one in the back. Armes, shot three times in the abdomen, was in a critical condition in Herrin hospital.

Police said the shooting, which took place at 3 a. m. in the White Castle roadhouse outside Herrin's city limits, was witnessed by a few employes and hangers-on, most of whom fled when it began.

CAB COMPANY, UNION ASK RIDERS TO REPORT DRIVERS WHO CHISEL

Coöperation of the public was asked yesterday by cab companies and union officials to eliminate cab drivers who overcharge or refuse to take passengers.

A union official said the actions of about 10 per cent of the drivers were casting suspicions on all of them and asserted the union was determined to get rid of the violators.

Benjamin Samuels, vice president of the Yellow Cab company, urged riders who are overcharged to report the cab number and time of violation to the company, the mayor, or the city vehicle license department. He asserted that guilty drivers would be discharged. A similar stand was taken by Michael Sokol, president of the Checker Taxi company.

Policemen assigned to railroad stations yesterday arrested Angelo Immordino, 42, of 965 Cambridge st., and Sam Shapiro, 40, of 4217 Broadway, for refusing to take passengers who lived on the far south side. Both men will appear in South State street court with a third driver arrested Dec. 11 on a similar charge.

WOMAN, 90, DIES FROM FALL.

Mrs. Emily Schwegermann, 90, of 431 S. Lombard av., Oak Park, died in West Suburban hospital yesterday of injuries suffered in a fall at her home Dec. 5.

CHEMIST HASN'T LEFT HIS HOTEL ROOM SINCE '39

Millionaire Just Wants to Study in Peace.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 13 (AP).—A millionaire recluse who for almost six years has never gone out of his single room has been found living in an exclusive west end St. Louis hotel.

He is Helmuth C. Setz, 53, son of a pioneer Missouri lead mine chemist.

His brother, Carl F. Setz of St. Louis, said Helmuth has not broken his "self-imprisonment" by so much as crossing the threshold of his room since entering it March 16, 1939.

In an interview with the Globe-Democrat, which his brother said was his first conversation with a stranger in almost six years, the University of California graduate partially ascribed his seclusion to a desire "to continue my chemical and mining studies and read without intrusion from the world.

Doesn't Fear World.

"It's really difficult to give a concise reason for my withdrawal from society, but it is not for any fear of the world or dislike for people."

His brother Carl said he visits with him about once a week.

"Helmuth led a normal active life while operating mining companies in Colorado prior to his seclusion here. If this is the type of life he chooses, and we know he is happy and well in it, then that is what we want him to do. He handles his own business by mail and I never interfere. He wants to be left alone and I feel that he has that right."

The brothers inherited a family fortune of $2,800,000 when their mother died in 1928.

May Leave "Some Time."

After being graduated from the University of California, Helmuth Setz settled in Los Angeles and then was connected with several Colorado silver mine properties. He was separated from his wife 10 years ago.

His brother says the engineer continues to dress meticulously and lives in a scrupulously kept room. Setz told the Globe-Democrat he had not thought of leaving his room in the near future, "but some time I might."

Setz has never answered his telephone nor opened his door to a visitor's knock since registering at the hotel.

All of his meals are served to him in his room by the same waiter with whom he has never conversed.

Reconciliation

Mrs. Stephany Goranson with her children, Romayne, 9, and Maryann, 5, in the county building.

Wives should not ask too many questions and husbands should forget other women, Judge Michael Feinberg said in Circuit court yesterday as he effected the reconciliation of Roger Goranson, 35, an electrical engineer, and his wife, Stephany, 34, of 10562 Indiana av., parents of two children.

Mrs. Goranson, represented by Attorneys Joseph H. and Norman Becker, offered to drop her suit for separate maintenance if her husband would forget "that other woman." Goranson, who said his wife asked him where he went whenever he went out, balked at the reconciliation until his attorneys, Richard B. Truett and Henry G. Hulbert, recommended that he take the judge's advice.

"Parents who separate without thought of their children are responsible for most juvenile delinquency," Judge Graber said. "Forget that other woman, Mr. Goranson, and you, Mrs. Goranson, should not question your husband too much about his comings and goings. If he wants to go to lodge meetings, let him without question."

Cross-Country Trip Vain; $10,000 Load Is Stolen

Herman G. Epstein, Los Angeles sewing machine dealer, went all the way to New York to buy 50 electric sewing machine heads, 300 motors, 15 cabinets, and smaller parts for $10,000, planning to drive them home in his truck. Yesterday some one stole the truck and contents from in front of 1315 Independence blvd., he told Fillmore st. police.

ARAB TRUCKERS REMAIN NOMADS, TEACHER FINDS

Maj. Clement V. Burns, 37, of 2913 9th st., Rockford, who was in charge of driver training and civilian personnel for headquarters motor training school in Persia, has returned to the United States for reassignment after 21 months overseas. Maj. Burns' job was to teach Persians, Arabs, and natives of other lands the intricacies of operating three types of cargo trucks used to haul lend-lease goods from ports to points of delivery.

Maj. Clement V. Burns.

Natives between the ages of 18 and 25 were hired as civilian army workers and given an 8 week basic training course. The willing students and workers, their nomadic nature caused them to drift with the seasons. So it was necessary to hold the school continuously.

Maj. Burns said the schools had been successful, and that the civilians had been extremely helpful. A Chicagoan, Lt. Richard Ronan, whose wife, Jean, lives at 9343 Justine st., has commanded one of the driver training schools for 23 months.

REJECT STALIN PLAN FOR WORLD RULE, DAY ASKS

U.S. Declaration for Free Enterprise Urged.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Rep. Day [R., Ill.], in a farewell speech to the house, called upon the administration today to renounce Stalin's plans for a "communist world," and demanded an American declaration for a democratic post-war world of capitalism and free enterprise.

Rep. Day, who was defeated for reelection, declared the Atlantic Charter proviso for self-chosen governments by all nations already has been forgotten, and that Great Britain and Russia are even now solidifying their war gains for future exploitation.

"The time has come," he told the house, "for the United States to make a decision on the paramount issue as to whether capitalism or communism is going to be dominant in the world of the future.

Must No Longer Delay.

"We can no longer delay a firm statement of America's position. Our first interest is to guarantee and protect, in the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine, American solidarity in the western hemisphere—and we must do that before it is too late."

"Too much internationalism weakens our loyalty and devotion to fundamental Americanism," he told the house. "We are wasting time when we expect Stalin to accept a plan of collective security requiring surrender to sovereignty and no power of veto. Who ever heard of a dictator sharing his sovereignty?"

Dictatorship on the March.

Day charged that the soviet dictatorship, with its class antagonism and atheism, is on the march at a time when the United States is fully engaged in furnishing men and supplies to win two wars.

Meanwhile, he continued, Britain's hopes for forming a post-war bloc of western European allies are already threatened by the recent Stalin-De Gaulle alliance. President Roosevelt, Day predicted, must choose between supporting Churchill or Stalin.

Discussing the recent political campaign, Day charged that an organization calling itself the "Independent Voters of Illinois, Inc.," spent thousands of dollars in vicious and false attacks on him.

This league, he said, for example, widely distributed a pamphlet charging him with denouncing "British Jews." Day said he had never made the alleged anti-Semitic statement attributed to him and that the so-called excerpt was absolutely untrue.

PUBLIC RESPECT FOR HIGH COURT LOST, COX SAYS

House Passes Bill Aimed to Nullify Ruling.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—The Supreme court has lost the respect and confidence of the nation, Rep. Cox [D., Ga.] charged today as the house passed and sent to the senate legislation designed to remove widespread confusion caused by a high court ruling in regard to the admission of confessions as trial evidence.

"There was a time when no one questioned the fidelity of the court to the Constitution and its integrity in administering the laws of the country," Cox told members. "That was when the court was looked upon as a group of great lawyers who had won their high recognition by long service at the bar. The court then enjoyed public confidence.

Make Laws Themselves.

"Now, the court is regarded as being made up, in the main, of left wing reformers of slight legal experience, who no longer interpret law, but have gone into the business of making laws themselves. The result has been that but few have confidence in the court or respect for its decisions."

The ruling which necessitated house action was announced March 1, 1943, by Justice Frankfurter and resulted in the freeing of a number of confessed criminals by outlawing confessions made before arraignment in court.

Rep. Hobbs [D., Ala.], said the decision, reversing the conviction of three Tennesseans named McNabb for murdering a federal officer, set up a rule of evidence in conflict with the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and all previous judicial interpretations. Until then, a confession to a crime was admissible so long as it was voluntarily made without coercion of any sort. The court opinion ruled out such confessions made before arraignment even if freely given.

Nullifies Ruling.

The bill given house approval, after considerable wrangling over wordage, nullifies the court's ruling as to the inadmissibility of such voluntary confessions made before arraignment. A safeguard against prolonged delay in arraignment was added in a provision that failure to arraign a prisoner "within a reasonable time" would be considered prima facie evidence that the confession was involuntary.

Rep. Graham [R., Pa.], known as the house expert on criminal law, declared he had been amazed by the McNabb decision and wondered "if any one on the Supreme court had ever taken part in a criminal case." Numerous speakers noted that the ruling startled the courts and law enforcement agencies of the country and produced confusion.

Charge of $6,000 Theft Holds Employe to Jury

Charles Calvert, 46, of 3025 5th av., was held to the grand jury on a charge of embezzlement yesterday in Felony court by Judge Charles S. Dougherty, who fixed bond at $10,000. Calvert is accused of embezzling $6,000 from the Cavanna Drapery and Curtain Cleaners, Inc., 3501 N. Ashland av., in the two years he was employed there as manager and bookkeeper.

HE 'LOVES HER, LOVES HER,' THEN HE STABS HER

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—Crying "I love her, I love her," a man plunged into a smart Fifth av. restaurant during the luncheon hour today and stabbed pretty, 20 year old Waitress Mary Raeber thru the jaw and throat with a hunting knife.

The 500 astounded diners then viewed a spectacular chase thru the three floors of Stouffer's restaurant as an army sergeant pursued the attacker, who was finally cornered by police on the street outside.

"I don't know why I did it; I loved her so; poor Mary," he sobbed to police. But the police, who identified him as Michael J. Fosco, a 36 year old unemployed bartender who met Miss Raeber a year ago, said Fosco was enraged when he learned the girl had been associating with other men. Miss Raeber is recovering at a hospital where the knife was removed.

SLEEPING TABLETS FATAL.

Lloyd Graham, 59, a barber who lived in Crete, Will county, died yesterday in St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, of an overdose of sleeping tablets taken Saturday.

DRIVER OF FATAL AUTO GETS TERM OF SIXTY DAYS

Nick Bianconi, 17, of 1310 Wentworth av., Chicago Heights, was sentenced to 60 days in the Bridewell and placed on five years' probation yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving before Judge Peter H. Schwaba in Criminal court. Judge Schwaba also forbade him to drive an automobile while he was on probation.

Bianconi was indicted on a charge of manslaughter after his car fatally injured Rosalie Klimas, 5, of 1524 Lowe av., Chicago Heights, at Lowe av. and 16th st. May 3. After striking the child Bianconi's automobile skidded for 130 feet, crashing into a parked car.

Judge Schwaba held that evidence against Bianconi was insufficient to support a manslaughter charge. Asst. State's Atty. Theodore S. Kucewicz said that Bianconi had been fined $1 on a reckless driving charge in Chicago Heights and often had been warned by police. Bianconi was granted a stay of mittimus until Dec. 27.

HOLDUP MEN TAKE $36 AND WATCH

LITTELL CALLS BIDDLE LIAR IN DISMISSAL ROW

New York, Dec. 13 [Special].—Norman Littell, whom President Roosevelt recently dismissed as assistant United States attorney general, today charged that Atty. Gen. Biddle "lied when he said my testimony before congress had nothing to do with my discharge."

In his statement to the senate immigration committee the attorney general said the sole reason for Littell's dismissal was insubordination.

Littell, in an interview, explained that his testimony to which he referred concerned the Elks hill naval petroleum reserve contract between the United States navy and the Standard Oil Company of California, the return of the Breakers hotel in Palm Beach from the army to private ownership, and disposal of surplus goods by the government.

He declared his testimony exposed the Elk hills contract and "saved millions of dollars to the taxpayers and millions of barrels of oil for the navy."

TALKING AMERICAN BOYS TO DEATH.

Ambassador Winant in London has done his bit, following Secretary Morgenthau's earlier faux pas, to prolong the war and increase the number of American soldiers killed in it. This he has done by bringing forward another proposal, in discussions with the European advisory commission, to make Germany's future intolerable and thereby steel the German people to resist to the bitter end.

It is claimed on behalf of Mr. Winant's proposals, which have been put forward formally as from the government of the United States, that they are less brutal than Secretary Morgenthau's plan to destroy all German industry and make the Germans a nation of peasants on land incapable of supporting more than half of their number. The Morgenthau proposal had no more then reached Germany and been circulated assiduously by Goebbels' propaganda machine than the German army, whose members had been surrendering by the thousands in their flight across France, turned and began to resist bitterly. The Winant proposal comes at a time when it might be hoped that the American army's tremendous blows on the Rhine would soften German morale. We shall be lucky if the proposal does not frustrate that hope.

The Winant scheme is, among other things, unrealistic. In addition to wiping out the German aviation industry and instituting control of other industries, it calls for abolition of what the ambassador calls German war industries. What are war industries? What "war" industry did we have in the United States five years ago? Quite obviously war industry is the aggregate of heavy industry, particularly steel and chemicals, of a machine tool industry, and of a skilled labor force, which, when the nation needs it, can be diverted from peace time to war production. To wipe out war industry it is necessary to wipe out all industry. We showed in this country how quickly aircraft fabrication plants can be built, and the Germans have demonstrated how quickly they can be replaced when demolished by bombing. So much for Mr. Winant's practicality.

The real objection, however, is not to the imposition of harsh peace terms on Germany but to the frequent reiteration of the intention to do so while the Germans are still capable of military resistance. Our own moon gazers have not been the only sinners. When De Gaulle and Stalin made their Franco-Russian treaty the other day, it was intimated, and the intimations were published, that De Gaulle had agreed to Stalin's supposed plan to carry millions of Germans off to spend years in prison camps rebuilding Russia, and that Stalin had agreed to De Gaulle's plan to strip German industry of equipment in retaliation for the stripping of French industry by the Nazis. The French, who are incapable at this time of a major military effort, and the Russians, who for reasons of their own are refusing to make one, thereby increase the difficulty of the American army, which at the moment is fighting the war against Germany virtually single-handed, in addition to the war against Japan.

We are doing everything in the propaganda field to bolster German resistance and doing nothing whatever to break it down. Every time our bespatted gentlemen open their mouths they cause the deaths of more American soldiers. If they must spin their plans of revenge, let them do it in private.

A GARLAND OF POSIES.

Prof. Posey, who conducts a course at Northwestern university to train civil affairs officers to administer occupied countries, complains that it is difficult for his students to master the idiom that will permit them to converse in Japanese. He said that the Japanese, instead of saying "Sit down," say instead, "Hip bending, please give."

The Japs seem to have formalized the language of jive before our American hepcats even thought of it, for the reader can, without too much effort, see the comparison to such a jitterbug expression as "give out with the horn." It is difficult for any one who has passed the bobby sox age to achieve any degree of adroitness in mastering a vocabulary of this nature, and the troubles in prospect for the American military lord-high mayor of Tokyo would seem to be considerable.

The perplexity, however, is much more extensive, for even if our occupying authorities do succeed in getting the idiom there is no assurance that they and the Japs will agree on meanings. The reign of Hirohito, for example, is known as Showa, meaning "peace," and look at it. Confronted with such embarrassments in attempting to communicate, our civil affairs officers could, with some justification, demand that the Japs with whom they must deal learn English, but the prospects in this direction are hardly more encouraging.

Tourists have been beguiled by the announcement in a drug store window that "Drugs Apothecary Sell"; by a tailor's hospitable sign that "Respectable Ladies and Gentlemen are Invited to come in and have Fits," and by a fur dealer's sign vouchsafing the disquieting information that "Furs are Made from our Skin or Yours." A Japanese who sought a job as correspondent for a foreign newspaper made the unconscious, if true, confession, "With regard to my personal reliability and honest character, I can unscrupulously vouchsafe them."

The problems in understanding that have been posed will suggest that Prof. Posey is not without reason in feeling a trifle depressed. Perhaps the solution is to keep our civil affairs officers at home and refuse illumination to the benighted brethren who are guilty not only of the Pearl Harbor rabbit punch, but of a language with so many dogleg turns. We can lick them, but are we obligated to reform their grammar? The question is respectably referred to Archibald MacLeish when and if his appointment as cultural relations director of the state department is confirmed. As a poet who has achieved a considerable obscurity both in reputation and meaning, he is well qualified to tackle it.

THE RESERVE MILITIA.

Members of the Illinois reserve militia deserve the deepest appreciation from their fellow citizens. The reserves for the most part are older men with heavy family and business responsibilities, but they have freely given their time to the service of the community. Precision in drill is the least of their accomplishments. They have mastered their weapons and developed a high esprit. They are a cohesive and effective force on call for any emergency.

The militiamen have no incentive other than patriotism. They have not even asked drill pay. They take pride in a duty voluntarily assumed. They have been faithful in their attendance and THE TRIBUNE is proud of its small part in stimulating competition in this respect among the seven regiments of the reserve. A trophy is awarded at regular intervals for the best record.

The attainments of the reserve militia demonstrate that older men whose physical endowments are not equal to the demands placed upon assault troops can yet compose a trained and capable defense force. As John Thompson reported to THE TRIBUNE from the German border, the Germans have learned that older men provided with automatic weapons and given cover are adequate in a static defense. They may even display greater tenacity than younger soldiers. The reserve militia, organized to protect the home front, is from this standpoint more than equal to its responsibilities. It is well armed, well trained, and the morale that it has achieved insures that it will prove a steadfast force for order.

THE SENATE DEFENDS THE CONSTITUTION.

Mr. Roosevelt sought to obtain the senate's consent to the St. Lawrence seaway treaty by tacking it as an amendment to the rivers and harbors bill. The senate passed the bill, but by a vote of 56 to 25 rejected the amendment.

The Constitution requires that treaties must receive a two-thirds vote of approval in the senate if they are to become binding. The St. Lawrence treaty, negotiated with Canada, failed of ratification when submitted previously. Now Mr. Roosevelt has decided that it wasn't a treaty after all, but only an executive agreement and as such needs only majority approval in both houses to become binding on the country.

A spokesman for the state department testified recently before a senatorial committee that the question whether a particular paper is a treaty or an executive agreement is for the President to decide. The administration takes the position that the President alone is competent to make the proper determination and his decision is final. The action of the senate on Tuesday goes far toward telling Mr. Roosevelt that he can't get away with this highhanded assumption of power, in direct defiance of the Constitution.

Sen. Overton of Louisiana put the matter accurately not long ago when he said:

"I have noted recently that those matters which are submitted to the senate as treaties are those certain of senate approval. But the administration realized that there was opposition to the St. Lawrence project, so it was submitted as an executive agreement."

Dr. Edward Borchard, Yale's professor of international law, made the same point and added that the acceptance of the St. Lawrence treaty as an executive agreement would stand as a precedent for never submitting an international agreement to the senate for ratification.

Even if the merits of the St. Lawrence seaway were clear and undisputed, the action of the senate in this matter would be praiseworthy, for surely nothing that might be gained from the seaway could compensate for the nullification of the Constitution. As a matter of fact, there is ample reason to doubt whether the proposed St. Lawrence development will be worth what it will cost or anything like what it will cost to the country.

So far as THE TRIBUNE is concerned, we know that the seaway would increase our profits. If the St. Lawrence were navigable all the way by deep draft vessels we could bring cordwood to our paper mills on the Niagara peninsula at less cost than at present, or we might bring paper to Chicago from mills located on the lower St. Lawrence river. It surely is not to our selfish interest to oppose the seaway. We have opposed it since it was first projected in the belief that the country as a whole won't get its money's worth.

Editorial of the Day

TEDIUM?

[Clifton (Ill.) Advocate.]

Our little village just isn't on the map when it comes to human interest stories such as have recently found space in all the big city dailies. Perhaps we should be ashamed to admit it, but it appears that not a single child in this community is suffering from an incurable disease, bringing forth telegrams from all over the nation and gifts for the celebration of an early Christmas; not a single soldier's wife has been haled before the magistrate for abandoning her babies while she spent five days in a dram shop, drinking and playing the ponies; not a single kitten has been rescued from a tree by the fire department in many weeks, if ever. [Country cats are smarter than city cats.] On the other hand, our town is full of people who chew tobacco without shame, who wear long underwear in the winter, who handle juvenile delinquency with a hairbrush, and who make an honest attempt to pay their debts.

We suppose a big city paper couldn't find a single "human interest" story here in a month of Sundays. We "lack color," and we are just old-fogeyish enough to think we're better off.

There's to be a meeting of the "Big Three" soon. Time was when that referred to a football triumvirate.—Boone [Ia.] News-Republican.

PRELUDE TO WORLD WARS.

Well, the Yanks seem to be at Wörth, in northern Alsace, among many other towns on the slow, grim advance toward the Rhine, and again military historians are reminded of the Franco-Prussian war. The battle of Wörth, also called Reichshoffen and Fröschwiller, came early in that prelude to World Wars I. and II. It was a full-scale action in which the French army, greatly outnumbered, fought furiously and withdrew, leaving the enemy licking his wounds and not cheering loudly over the victory.

* * *

The country is heavily wooded and both sides were frequently confused in their movements. The chassepots [French rifles], 32,000, were almost able to hold their own against the needle guns, 75,000, but with only 100 pieces of field artillery against 300, the French were blasted off the field by shell fire. The opposing commanders were Marshal MacMahon and Crown Prince Frederick of Prussia.

* * *

The French counter-attacks at Wörth, often with the bayonet, almost tipped over the German colossus several times during the grim day of Aug. 6, 1870. There were several cavalry charges, also, which would be as well remembered as the Light Brigade incident at Balaclava if Tennyson had been a French poet. One, called the charge of Reichshoffen, is the subject of a painting by Yvon, an artist from Alsace who is represented in the Versailles galleries.

* * *

On the day after the battle the Germans were at the gates of Strasbourg, and the statue symbolizing that city, on the Place de la Concorde in Paris, was ready for the mourning wreath that marked it for almost 50 years.

* * *

There is no connection between Wörth, the Alsatian town, and Worth [no umlaut], the Paris dressmaker who flourished for 30 years or more after the Franco-Prussian war. Monsieur Worth, who dressed your grandmother if she was a rich and fashionable traveler, was an Englishman.

DECEMBER LITANY.

They do you wrong, rare season of the snows,
Of crystal grottoes built by fairy hands;
They have no praise but for the June-blown rose,
For orchard gold, as plenteous as the sands.
There are no blossoms on December boughs,
But there are dreams within December hearts:
The firelight throws its cheer athwart the night
And wakes the fancy to a glad carouse;
Youth lives again, and hobbling age departs;
Love, spurned of old, returns to ply its darts,
And heaven dawns, amid the golden light.

The spring is sweet, when lilies burst the mold,
And summer gardens are as dear as song;
October boughs bend low with russet gold,
But to December brightest thoughts belong.
Then comes the snow, which in a single hour
Can rear a palace fit for Guinevere;
The beast of care goes skulking to its den
As children laugh beneath the frosty bower.
Amid such scenes can any shed a tear
For roses dead, for branches stark and sere?
Heap high the wood, glad winter's here again!

Rehearsals for Christmas.

This is the time of year when you hear people say, "I just can't get into the Christmas spirit. I just can't believe it's only a few days till Christmas." If you really want to feel the Christmas spirit you can, and once it has been captured, only the calendar stands between you and the climax.

First you take down the curtains, wash and stretch them, and rehang them on clean windows. Then if it snows they'll both be white. Next you polish the brass knocker and handle on the front door. A white pillared entrance on a red brick house, topped off with shining brass fittings, is a Christmas card in itself. Be sure there is plenty of wood for the fireplace, and every evening as you sit reading or knitting by it, put a lighted candle at each end of the mantel.

Mornings you can bake fruit cakes and cookies, and afternoons you can stand in package lines at the postoffice. Don't forget to plan a party for the neighborhood kids, and get two or three of them to help you make the invitations from last year's greeting cards and some red paper and left-over ribbons. On a Sunday evening, sit by your fire and read Dickens' "A Christmas Carol." Take a peek into the Bible, in the gospel according to Luke.

If you do all those things you will feel the breath of Santa Claus down the back of your neck.

C. C. B. writes: "Somebody told me he read a statement by a selective service official that 'discharged veterans may also be considered for reinduction if the provisions of the new order [work or fight] can be applied to them.' Does this mean the change in regulations announced on or about Oct. 28, putting discharged veterans in class 1-C, has been canceled and we are now on the same footing as any civilian?"

Local board memorandum 77-C and section 622.15 of the selective service regulations were not modified by the "new order." Men who have been on active duty with any branch of the land or naval forces [excepting certain reserve components who at no time were on active duty, such as the A. S. T., air corps enlisted reserve, naval reserve, including the marine corps reserve or merchant marine] are to be placed in and retained in class 1-C until and unless otherwise ordered by the national director of selective service.

T. S. E. writes: "When it was announced that men over 30 would not be subject to the draft if employed in work in support of the war, national health, safety, or interest, I left my job in a shell factory for my old work. Would I have a chance to change back again or be drafted?"

It depends on how your draft board feels about it and just how essential the work would be if you changed.

EAR INFECTIONS AND BRAIN ABSCESSES.

EVERY now and then we learn of a youngster who is afflicted with a brain abscess. We may as well admit at the outset that most of these cases arise because of neglect. Parents may not take a running ear seriously. When they themselves were children they exhibited the same symptom and nothing happened. Nevertheless it is possible for infection to find its way via the lymph channels to the sacred region within the skull.

Where does the ailment originate? First we must look for the source in the sinuses, the middle ear, or the mastoid. Occasionally trouble will develop because of a direct wound which has penetrated the skull. Finally spread can occur from such a chronic condition as osteomyelitis which, as we know, is a stubborn disorder within a bone.

Fortunately, with modern surgery the aforetime unhappy outcome of these lesions has been altered for the better in striking fashion. The main consideration is to recognize what has happened and make certain that skilled care is provided promptly. If the pus pocket can be opened and drained at an early date, recovery is the rule.

Should a child who has had a running ear, which cleared up under the sulfa drugs, tend to become drowsy—difficult to rouse—we may suspect immediately that something is wrong. There are several important signs of pressure within the cranium. One is headache and vomiting; the second is slow pulse; the third, stupor. In addition the little patient may complain that he cannot see as well as formerly. Certainly by this time enough evidence is at hand to justify a careful study and the physician can usually tell where the pus is located and how to get at it.

As we would expect, these are all hospital cases and it may be necessary to open a window thru the bony covering of the brain in order to reach the "gathering." In fact, the largest number can be handled in this manner. A soft rubber drain is inserted and left in place for four to six weeks. Only a small gateway will be required. If the pus is extremely thick and cheeselike, the outlet may need to be enlarged.

Everything possible must be done to support the strength of the patient thru the administration of plenty of fluids, good nourishment, and expert nursing. There is no value in enlisting the aid of surgery until the pus has become walled off. This may take quite some time — from two to three weeks after the beginning signs are observed. More often than not, if the temperature is still elevated, showing that the acute process is extending, one of the sulfa remedies or penicillin may be employed. Ordinarily it will be easy to identify the bacteria which are responsible, whereupon the proper microbe killer may be utilized.

But the chief purpose of this discussion is to call attention to the fact that now and then bacteria found growing within the ear or elsewhere about the head region may invade the "gray matter." Let's not regard colds or measles, which may be followed by earache, as innocent of harm until we are certain that recovery has been complete. While brain abscesses are not common, they may appear when least expected.

It should, in time. Every now and then, however, some slight swelling remains. Much depends upon the ability of the blood to find new channels via which it can return to the heart.

The Angels Are Wooden.

Only one traditional Christmas item seems to be missing from the gay paraphernalia crowding the shop counters. The Christmas tree baubles of other years—the glittering glass balls, the delicate birds with plumed tails, the mercury reflectors, and the strings of translucent beads—are absent. All are casualties of war. In their place are sombre balls of plastic, chenille Santa Clauses, and stolid angels made of wood which, whatever their other virtues, can never dance in the wind.

Until this war America led the world in manufacturing Christmas tree ornaments, as well as in consuming them. Our products were of fine glass and brilliant coloring, unlike the ornaments with which Japan had tried to corner the world market a few years before. The Japs copied their patterns from the Germans, who at one time supplied us with almost all our glass ornaments, but the colors were harsh and the materials shattered easily. America's preëminence began during World War I. For 50 years before the war whole villages in Germany had worked on Christmas orders.

Glass ornaments were not always an essential Christmas tree decoration. The practice of using the tree as an interior holiday decoration began around 1600 in Germany with decorations of paper roses, apples, sweetmeats, and candies. Albert, the prince consort, introduced the first Christmas tree in England after his marriage to Victoria. Since 1830 its diffusion around the world has been so rapid that nothing in the entire history of popular customs can compare with it.

In America the Pennsylvania Dutch decorated their trees with cakes made of almond paste or of wheat flour and sugar. These were called "matzebaume," later known as marzipan. The edible paste was put in a mold, and the result was a cake with a bas-relief of a peacock, tulip, or small figure, colored red, blue, yellow, or green with vegetable dye. The cake was strung with thread thru a hole in its top and hung upon the tree, on which also might be hung molded candy hearts, flowers, and animals, or flat candles with paper scenes and portraits pasted on them. Many households had a complete set of 50 plaster of paris Christmas candy molds.

Peanuts, cornucopias filled with curried coriander seed, blown glass candle cups, and sugar plums also were used in the early years. By 1850 there were unglazed porcelain doves, angels, and puppets, as well as stiff, hard wax ornaments. Artificial fruit, gilded nuts, stars, and figures made of cotton batting quickly became popular.

By 1890 the sugar cakes had given way to brightly colored cards with silk fringe an inch long, and wax and porcelain ornaments had given way to glass. The latter were of lettuce green, powder blue, gold and silver, and occasionally a rare amethyst one. Bunches of deep purple, silver, and gold grapes were highly prized, and glass bells had metal clappers that tinkled at touch.

Candles, so fastened that they seemed to grow from the branches, were essential, and the candle-holders ranged from simple circlets to fish or doves. Three inch tapers were considered best, and a 6 foot tree required at least 50 candles, a 12 foot tree at least 400. Both required the untiring presence of a watcher equipped with a wet sponge, for the taper-lighted tree probably was without peer as a fire kindler.

Early Christmas tree ornaments now are taking a place among the minor arts. They are collected. Americans gaze at them and flutter with nostalgia. To help satisfy that flutter, the Chicago public library has placed on display a collection loaned by Mrs. Agnes L. Sasscier. Here are bunches of purple glass grapes, a parasol of pink glass and tinsel, sugar plums, marzipan molds, and a matzebaume ornament decorated with a peacock. The Pennsylvania Dutchman responsible for the latter cheated [or perhaps was being thrifty], for his peacock, instead of being made of the precious almond paste, was made of corn meal, flour, and glue. That doubtless is why it survived.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

CHARITY BEGINS AT HOME.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—All I can say to those soldiers in France who wrote that they prefer foreign girls as wives is that it took a war to open their eyes as to the type of girl they would want for a wife. Perhaps I see red when I read criticisms about us American girls. I, an old fashioned type [yes, and single, too], find nothing wrong with the American girl. The blame is entirely on the part of the boys. Before they went to war, at least, they wanted a glamor girl, one who could drink, smoke, and pet. They didn't want the old fashioned kind. She was too dead.

As to these splendid foreign girls, I would gladly compete with any of them in cooking, sewing, doing homework, etc.

AN OLD FASHIONED AMERICAN GIRL.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—In the past I have read a few letters about American soldiers who prefer the foreign girls to us American girls. But never have I read anything so un-American as the letter of "Smiley's Heroes" in Sunday's Voice of the People. I ask them: Whose war are you fighting?

A FULL FLEDGED AMERICAN GIRL.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—The boys say they find foreigners better cooks and housekeepers. Any girl who truly loves a man will try to make him happier by being the domestic type, even if she has to start from scratch—and she can learn. You can always hire a good housekeeper, but not a good, permanent lover.

If a soldier returns with a wife, they have to fit in the scheme of American social and business life together. He may love the girl, but it is loving things together, not merely each other, that will make a marriage endure. Will this girl of another nation ever fit into our everyday pattern of living?

WAR WIFE.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—I have just read in today's TRIBUNE about the group of soldiers who say foreign wives are best. Even if some wives of soldiers are no good, don't forget that there still are a few of us left who don't smoke, never have been in a tavern, go to church every morning, work to help fill up the box with money for the future home, send packages, write a daily letter, and stay home every night preparing things for the home we will have some day. Here's another point: When a girl gets a gentleman for a husband—how can she be anything but faithful?

AMERICAN WAR BRIDE.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—I have never before read in the Voice of the People such a letter as that signed "Smiley's Heroes." How can they call themselves heroes and say things like that about American women? Aren't their mothers and sisters "American women"? Even tho they have a foreign born wife, their daughters will be "American women." Do they know that their statements reflect also on the American women who are serving side by side with the men in this war—the nurses, the women on the assembly lines, and in the American homes?

I am foreign born myself, but being an American citizen gives me a right to defend the Americans of my sex.

A REGISTERED NURSE.

"ANTI-TAXI ASSOCIATION."

Chicago, Dec. 11.—All my life I've had "taxicab feet" . . . rather than walk a few blocks I'd take a cab. Before the war if you made a short trip, no matter how generous a tip you gave, it was not uncommon to be the recipient of a dirty look or some crack like: "Why don't you get a bicycle?" Since prosperity has come to the hack drivers they no longer want to take any long trips. Have you tried getting a cab to take you outside the loop from one of the railroad stations?

During the last year or so [no matter where or when] so many of them have refused to haul me to my destination that I've resigned myself to the situation. They used to help you with your luggage but no one expects that any more—not even a woman.

At present it seems like there is some sort of organization "for" or "against" almost everything. Last night, when two empty cabs refused to accept me as a fare on the kind of trip they used to adore, I decided there ought to be an anti-taxi association. As a charter member I have taken the following oath: If there is any other possible means of getting there I shall never again ride in a taxi.

PRESIDENT, A. T. A.

ISOLATIONISM GROWS.

Western Springs, Ill., Dec. 5.—S. M. Ward is right in his belief that isolationism is far from dead. Dreamers, idealists, and one worlders need only to look about them to see that forces which will drive us deeper into isolationism are today in motion: the draft crisis in Canada, Britain's armed support of an unpopular government in Belgium and her use of American lend-lease to further her own interests in the Balkans, Russia's grab of territory from her Polish ally, the hopeless situation in China, Americans carrying the ball on the western front, the determination of Australia and New Zealand to limit coöperation in the Pacific as Japan is driven farther beyond their respective "spheres of influence," Greek fighting Greek, and so on, all over the world.

ISOLATIONIST.

SOME SMOKE 'EM DRY.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—My plan to eliminate the cigaret hoarder is that dealers open each package at the time of sale. The packing lends itself to hoarding. Cigarets when put away keep a long time, whereas an opened package would only keep long enough for the ordinary consumer to use them while fresh—a day or two at the most.

W. R. C.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—If these soldiers believe that the foreign girl makes the superior wife, it seems to me that the best plan would be to remain with her in her native country. Surely they would not want to risk bringing her to America and have her contaminated thru association with the American way of living.

SAYS U. S. PICKS ON WARD'S AS LABOR 'PAYOFF'

WLB Actions Linked to 4th Term Votes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Charges that the national war labor board is paying off the CIO-PAC for fourth term votes by ordering Montgomery Ward & Co. of Chicago to appear at a hearing in Washington tomorrow were made today by Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] in a speech inserted in the house record.

Rep. Hoffman.

The NWLB called the hearing last night as the strike of 1,500 members of the CIO United Mail Order, Warehouse and Retail Employes union against Montgomery Ward stores in Detroit, Mich., continued into its fourth day. The big mail order company has been ordered to show cause why it has not complied with labor board directives, and the union why the Detroit walkout should not be ended.

"No Statutory Authority."

Hoffman, in charging that the administration is "persecuting" Montgomery Ward as a reward to the CIO for the union's support in the November election, said there is no authority in any statute whereby the NWLB can order maintenance of union membership, which is one of the principal points in the long standing fight between the mail order house, the CIO, and the labor board.

"There is sound ground for the conclusion that the administration, in return for promised political support, prior to the election seized the [Chicago] plant of Montgomery Ward for the benefit of the CIO," Hoffman asserted. "There is ample ground for the conclusion that with the CIO and PAC having delivered at the November election, the NWLB is now making payment for votes cast for the fourth term."

WLB Seen as 'Holdup Man.'

Hoffman further charged that by using the labor board, a government agency, as their "holdup man," the CIO and other unions have been able to force employers and taxpayers "to stand and deliver." He explained that in some cases where the NWLB has ordered wage increases, under union pressure, the employers have been obliged to bear the expense, but in others the burden is borne by the taxpayers since the higher wages are reflected in increased prices of goods bought by the government to prosecute the war.

The NWLB telegram to the company and union principals in the Detroit strike calling the hearing referred to orders of Aug. 20, 1943, and last May 22 in asking the parties to show cause why the terms and conditions of employment set forth in the directives should not prevail. John A. Barr, labor relations manager of the mail order house in Chicago, was one of those notified of the hearing.

Orders Called Illegal.

The Detroit strike was called in protest against the company's refusal to accept NWLB orders for maintenance of union membership, union dues checkoff, arbitration, seniority and wage adjustments. Montgomery Ward has contended that it is not bound by NWLB orders because the board acts only in an advisory capacity.

An emergency meeting of the CIO's Montgomery Ward organizing committee will be held tomorrow morning in Washington before the hearing. Because the union meeting is being held to determine policy as it affects company employes thruout the country, a strike of workers in all Montgomery Ward stores was regarded as possible.

On Friday the NWLB will conduct hearings on Montgomery Ward disputes in six other cities, including Chicago. As in tomorrow's hearing the company will be asked to show cause why it has not complied with labor board orders.

CIO Pledges "Physical" Aid.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 13 (AP).—Heads of more than 100 CIO local unions of the Detroit area flung their support behind the strike at four Montgomery Ward & Co. stores at a meeting tonight, promising "fullest moral, financial, and physical" aid to the walkout.

The unionists emphasized, however, that their support of the strike would not be construed to mean a violation of the CIO's war time no-strike pledge.

Meanwhile Merritt Martin, president of local 332 of the department store union, made an assertion, denied by company spokesmen, that 25 clerks from Chicago and Toledo had been brought to work in the Ward store in suburban Dearborn.

WESTERN UNION NLRB ELECTIONS SET FOR JAN. 8

Fifty-five thousand employes of the Western Union Telegraph company will take part in a national labor relations board election Jan. 8 to choose either the AFL Commercial Telegraphers union or the CIO American Communications association or both to bargain collectively for the workers, George J. Bott, regional director of the NLRB, announced yesterday.

The company's employes thruout the nation have been divided into seven geographical units. In each division they will vote for either of the two unions. Whichever union wins in each division will represent the employes of that district, so it is possible that both the CIO and the AFL union may win the right to bargain for several units each.

An intensive and bitter organizing campaign has been conducted by both unions since October, 1943, when the Postal Telegraph company was merged with Western Union. Previously, the CIO union represented the Postal employes and the AFL union the Western Union workers. Both wanted to continue to represent its own members, but the NLRB decided an election should be held.

Robert H. Cowdrill, NLRB field examiner, who is in charge of the elections to be conducted here and at Milwaukee, Wis., and Peoria, Ill., said 4,500 employes are eligible to vote in this region.

SLAYER OF WIFE AND HER SISTER GOES TO TRIAL

Frank Kothanek, 41, a grinder, accused of fatally shooting his wife, Catherine, 29, and her sister, Mrs. Edna Barnes, 26, in the latter's home last May 28, went on trial yesterday before a jury of nine women and three men in the Criminal court of Chief Justice Harold G. Ward. Kothanek is charged with the murder of Mrs. Barnes. Assistant State's Atty. Edward Healy said Kothanek, who recovered from self-inflicted wounds, had blamed Mrs. Barnes for his wife's leaving him. Atty. Harold Levy indicated that Kothanek's defense would be based on temporary insanity.

ERIC JOHNSTON URGES POLICIES OF ABUNDANCE

Tells Farmers Scarcity Schemes Are Peril.

American farmers will prosper in the post-war period without government controls and subsidies if world powers develop an economy of abundance, Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told the American Farm Bureau federation in Hotel Sherman last night.

"The future well being of agriculture," he said, "depends upon high levels of purchasing power here at home, an expanding economy abroad, and a vastly enlarged production of farm goods to go into the industrial processing in this country."

Johnston said that curtailment of farm production and an economy of scarcity, as practiced from 1932 until the start of lend-lease, resulted only in throwing men out of work and a curtailment of food supplies.

Warns on Excessive Control.

Johnston also warned against excessive governmental control of farm activities when peace returns.

"I know American farmers do not want to become wards of the government," he said, "but if they rely upon government subsidies and handouts, they will not be free men."

The federation's awards for distinguished service were presented last night to William W. Waymack, director of the editorial section of the Des Moines [Ia.] Register and Tribune, and Lloyd R. Simons, director of extension of the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] told the farm convention that the New Deal's proposal for bonus payments to industrial workers, if enacted, would make new inroads into the farm labor supply and increase costs of farm production.

"This recent drive to pay bonuses to war workers," Wherry said, "originated in the White House and is being advocated by Julius Krug, head of the war production board. If the plan is put into effect for war workers, it later will be extended to include farm labor, and would represent a backhanded method of increasing wages and circumventing the Little Steel formula."

Senator Would Halt Immigration.

Sen. Stewart [D., Tenn.] warned against communistic influences in a speech to the convention and suggested that a ban against all immigration might be needed for the post-war adjustment period.

"The farm boys, when they return from war, will form a new front against the Communists," he said, "and I believe they will say that the gates of immigration should be closed for a period of years until we can work out our post-war problems without agitation from those whose thoughts are unsympathetic to American freedom."

Farmer Explains Success.

E. Howard Hill, 36, who is marketing 960 hogs and 400 cattle a year, altho he has standard barn space sufficient to feed only 300 hogs and 100 cattle on his farm near Minburn, Ia., was asked many questions at the convention.

He shelters his hogs in temporary barns, which he constructs in his fields every fall, using corn fodder, straw, moldy hay, or other waste material to cover woven wire placed on posts. The shelters are 80 by 16 feet.

He puts beef cattle in open fields all winter, and they develop heavy coats to repel Iowa winds, he said. He said he has fewer death losses than farmers using standard barn sheltering methods.

RAILS SOLD OUT FOR MIDWEST YULE TRAVEL

New York, Dec. 13 [Special].—With the heaviest war time Christmas rail volume just 11 days away, the major carriers today said that there is no chance for reservations to midwestern points and that trains to the south are sold out solidly for a month. All roads today were taking off sleeping cars to lighten westbound trains because of heavy snow.

A spokesman for the New York Central lines listed current reservations at a war time peak. Reservations to the midwest "depend strictly upon cancellations," he said.

The percentage of these cancellations has been steadily going down, which railroads regard as a good sign indicating that more serious thought is being given each reservation by travelers.

Pennsylvania railroad officials said they have been advising most long trip patrons to carry their own lunches because the military now have priority in diner seating.

KILLED IN ELEVATOR FALL.

A five foot fall in a portable elevator yesterday killed Emil Wickersheim, 62, shipping clerk at the Graylake Gelatine Co., at Graylake, Lake county. The crash hurled Wickersheim against a 200 pound barrel of gelatine he was hoisting in the elevator.

Hit by Glass in Tavern, Woman Sues for $5,000

Miss Gertrude Yount, 23, of 7902 S. Paulina st., a war plant employe, stopped in the tavern at 7954 S. Ashland av. for a beer on her way home from work at 2 a. m. Nov. 18, and was hit in the face by a glass thrown at another young woman, who ducked, she charged in a damage suit filed yesterday in Superior court. Miss Yount, represented by Atty. Thomas A. Green, asked $5,000 damages from the tavern owners, Thomas Ganley and T. Sullivan, under the dram shop act.

ENVOYS ARMOUR AND STEINHARDT GET NEW POSTS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—The White House announced today the resignation of Carlton Hayes as ambassador to Spain and the nomination of Norman Armour to replace him.

"Armour is acting director of the state department office of American republic affairs. At the time of the appointment of Secretary of State Stettinius and the accompanying state department shakeup President Roosevelt announced he would give Armour, formerly ambassador to Argentina, an important new position. The senate foreign relations committee today quickly turned in a favorable report on the nomination.

Norman Armour [top] and Carlton Hayes.

The President also nominated Laurence A. Steinhardt, ambassador to Turkey, to be ambassador to the Czech government in London. The Turkish assignment was left open. Hallett Johnson was nominated ambassador to Costa Rica, succeeding Fay Desportes, who died several weeks ago.

Hayes recently had been the target of criticism from some groups here who contended he was inclined to deal too leniently with the Franco government.

Today's shifts gave impetus to conjectures that Stettinius might want to work with new men even in such key spots as London and Moscow.

England Strikes Oil

NAZI STRIKERS ON BREAD AND WATER 2D DAY

The more than 1,300 German prisoners at Fort Sheridan who Tuesday went on a sit-down strike because one of their leaders had been removed from his job, entered their second day of a bread and water diet yesterday. This fare will continue for 14 days, Fort Sheridan authorities said, the maximum under provisions of the Geneva convention. After that length of time the prisoners must be given regular meals for two days, then the bread and water regime can continue for a second fortnight. The striking Germans are allowed 18 ounces of bread daily and all the water they can drink.

SURVIVOR OF 2 LOST CARRIERS HOME ON VISIT

Lawrence Rubin, 23, a navy storekeeper who has been in every major Pacific engagement since the Solomon Islands invasion, and who survived the sinking of two aircraft carriers, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rubin, 3619 Polk st., yesterday on a leave.

Lawrence Rubin.

He said he spent two hours in the water before he was rescued after the carrier Wasp was sunk near the Solomons on Sept. 15, 1942. He was a member of the crew of the carrier Princeton when it was sunk by American guns on Oct. 23, 1944, after it had been badly damaged by Japanese fire.

Rubin was wounded by shrapnel when the Wasp was sunk. He enlisted in the navy three weeks after war was declared, and has two brothers in service. Harold, a twin, is in the coast guard on duty in the North Atlantic, and Jack is with the army air forces in England.

Indicted by U. S. Jurors for Great Lakes Killing

BROWNELL MUM ON FUTURE AS G.O.P. CHIEFTAIN

Herbert Brownell Jr., Republican national chairman, last night was not ready to say whether he will retain his position in the party at the request of Gov. Dewey. His other comments on politics were "off the record."

Brownell and Gov. Green are scheduled to speak informally tonight at a dinner honoring Illinoisans who helped raise G. O. P. funds for the November election. Causes of the defeat of Gov. Dewey for President and of many candidates on state tickets are likely to be discussed by the guests in the Tower room of the Stevens hotel.

Atty. Gen. Barrett, Secretary of State Rowe, and State Treasurer Stratton are among the Republican leaders expected to attend. Werner W. Schroeder, chairman of the Republican citizens' finance committee of Illinois and national committeeman, is the host. Brownell's presence at the dinner was said by Schroeder to be a coincidence. Brownell is on his way back to New York from a western vacation.

RATION ACCOUNT OVERDRAWN, OIL FIRM SUSPENDED

Hearing Commissioner John R. Allen of the regional office of price administration yesterday suspended the Northern Indiana Oil Company of Gary, Ind., from business for the duration of rationing. The company, which supplied 1 million gallons of gasoline annually to seven service stations, is the largest to be affected by a suspension order in this seven state region.

The firm was accused of overdrawing its ration bank account by 60,969 gallons of gasoline, the largest overdraft found to date in this OPA district. Commissioner Allen said the company was not suspected of black market operations but that it had been careless in collecting coupons from the stations which it supplied. Arthur B. Harris is vice president and manager of the company.

2 LONG STRIKES END; WAR WORK BACK TO NORMAL

Normal production of war materials and naval landing craft was resumed yesterday after the settlement of two strikes. More than 400 strikers returned after being on strike since Dec. 5 over the promotion of a Negro worker to group leader at the Calumet Harbor shipyards of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing company. In the other strike, in progress since Nov. 30 at the Ramapo Ajax division of the American Brake Shoe company, 2503 Blue Island av., the strikers returned after agreement with the war labor board that its decision against a raise for the 170 strikers could be appealed to the board.

ISSUE 1ST WRIT AGAINST LIQUOR 'TIE-IN' SALES

The first Circuit court injunction restraining a Chicago liquor dealer from making forced "tie-in" sales of whiskey with other liquor which customers do not want to buy was issued yesterday by Judge Philip J. Finnegan.

It was directed against the Tyson Liquor, Inc., 2338 E. 71st st., and was issued at the request of Francis L. Zimmerman, an office of price administration enforcement attorney.

Zimmerman said a government investigator had to buy a bottle of rum for $5.11 [54 cents over ceiling price] in order to purchase a bottle of Scotch for $5.66 [3 cents over ceiling].

NON-PARTISAN PARLEY PUSHES SUPER-HIGHWAY

Seek Special Commission for Canal Project.

BY ROBERT HOWARD.

On a non-partisan basis, plans were made yesterday for the development of the Illinois and Michigan canal, site of a proposed superhighway across Chicago's southwest side, which will be one of the first matters of business to come before the Illinois legislature when it convenes next month.

Rep. J. Ward Smith [R., Ottawa] conferred with Sen. Daley [D., Chicago]. They will ask that the legislature create a special commission with emergency status, to see that federal, state, and local agencies coordinate their canal activities.

High Speed Airport Route.

Daley is one of the advocates of a super-highway along the abandoned canal, which would be a high speed route to the airport. Gov. Green has instructed state highway engineers to make a survey of the project. Made obsolete by the Illinois deep waterway, the canal no longer is used for transportation.

Smith was spokesman for downstaters who live near the old canal, which had its downstream terminal at Peru.

"We hope that in time a superhighway can be constructed all the way to La Salle county, which is the center of the state's park system," Smith said. "Meanwhile, the canal should be preserved for historical, parkway, and recreational possibilities.

Wants Bill Amended.

"There is one feature I don't like about Congressman Sabath's bill, which passed the house last week. It declared the canal to be nonnavigable from Ashland av., where it connects with the Chicago river, to the Will county line. I'd like to have the bill amended to apply to the canal's entire length."

County Clerk Flynn joined those who are advocating that Chicago's position as an aviation center be made more secure by prompt utilization of the canal as a super-highway. Airport traffic could use Cicero av. to the canal route, which would speed them toward the downtown business district.

FOOD DELIVERY STORE CHARGES ARE AUTHORIZED

Stores regularly making deliveries may charge from 10 cents for $2 worth of food to 25 cents for a $5.50 order for this service, Marion W. Isbell, area office of price administration director, said yesterday.

He also announced retail price increases for several canned fruits and vegetables and for packaged spaghetti and macaroni, effective Monday. The changes were made to offset increases in prices granted to producers and processors.

Some brands of fruit cocktail, sliced and halved peaches, and crushed and sliced pineapple will go up 1 to 3 cents for No. 2 and No. 2½ cans; one pound packages of spaghetti and macaroni put out by some firms will be allowed a 2 cent rise; No. 1 cans of some kinds of tomato soup will go up 1 to 6 cents, with vegetable soup increasing 2 cents for a few varieties; whole green beans will go up as much as 5 cents a can; wax beans, 3 cents; cream style corn, 3 cents, and peas and tomatoes, 2 cents; 46 ounce cans of tomato juice will go up 1 to 2 cents. One pound jars of peanut butter will be adjusted 1 cent higher to 2 cents lower.

Householders who use fuel oil in circulating heaters may apply to local ration boards for extra fuel if hardship will result from the reduced fuel oil quota set for space heaters this fall, Isbell announced.

TYPEWRITER AMONG $232 OFFICE LOOT.

Theft of a typewriter and other articles valued at $232 from the office of the Paisley Products, Inc., paste and plastic manufacturers at 1770 Canalport av., was reported to police yesterday by Earl C. Lenz, sales manager.

Suit Contested

MRS. ROBERT E. MARTIN.

Witnesses testified for Dr. Robert E. Martin, member of the department of radiology at the University of Illinois, in his wife's suit for divorce yesterday. They swore in Superior court that the wife, Clare, 44 and a former German actress, tried to wreck with an ax the physician's office at 1617 W. 83d st. and threw a frying pan at her husband.

John Bobeck, 7159 Yale av., and Mrs. Mildred Kosdad, 17 S. 51st av., Maywood, said they visited the doctor's office April 21, and they found Mrs. Martin at the door tossing things into the street.

Detective Patrick Carney of the Gresham police station said he found Dr. Martin's office equipment smashed with an ax April 29. He told Judge William J. Lindsay that Mrs. Martin was taken to a hospital with cuts on her hands and face.

Mrs. Martin, represented by Atty. Norman Becker, charges her husband with infidelity. He has denied the charge and has accused her of assaulting him.

AMPLE PICTURES PROMISED PUBLIC IN TELEVISION

Post-war home television receivers will have screens 18 by 24 inches with pictures of ample definition and brilliancy, an audience of more than 1,000 was told at the first conference of the Television Broadcasters association which closed yesterday in New York. A panel of eight television experts, with Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith serving as moderator, answered numerous questions put to them from the floor of the meeting.

The experts generally agreed that television was sufficiently advanced to warrant public participation after the war while research and experiment continues.

The conference was told that it was impossible to say how soon after the war television sets would be available because of man power and material problems. None has been made since April, 1942, and no new sets are available now.

The association, establishing an annual merit award, made its first citations to Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation of America, now on active military duty; Dr. Vladimir Zworykin, R. C. A. television engineer and inventor, and to television station WABD, New York, for contributions to television.

LEADING A WIFE TO DRINKS HELD TO BE POOR CURE

Judge Michael Feinberg in Circuit court yesterday denied a divorce to Michael Kramer, 45, of 2145 S. St. Louis av., who charged his wife, Agnes, 44, with drunkenness.

"What have you done to help cure her of the habit?" the judge asked Kramer.

"I'd go along with her and buy her all the drinks she wanted in the hope that she would get tired of liquor," he said. "But she just never did."

DIES AFTER SECOND STORY FALL.

Mrs. Caroline Breitenbach, 54, died yesterday from injuries suffered Oct. 14 when she fell from a second floor window of her home at 4201 Princeton av. while opening the window.

SYNOPSIS: John Ranger and three other cattlemen go in search of rustlers who killed Rod Spillman. In the rustlers' attempt to get away one is killed and a stranger, Cape Sloan, is held. Uhlmann and Sholte want to hang Sloan, believing he is one of Scarface's bandits, but John Ranger and Russell Hart insist upon justice. Sloan escapes. Singlehanded, he rescues Sandra and Nelson Ranger from the Lopez raiders and escorts them to their father, who dresses his wound and takes him to the Ranger ranch. There, Jim Budd, Negro cook, recognizes him as Mr. Webb, escaped prisoner. John Ranger voices his suspicions of the way Jug Packard secured control of the Johnny-B mine and sent young Webb to prison for the murder of Giles Lemmon. Sandra gets Sloan to admit he is Bob Webb. From Stan Fraser, Sloan learns the petition for Webb's pardon was blocked by Packard who fraudulently secured the Webb share in the Johnny-B mine and framed young Webb. Sloan and Fraser go to Tucson to find Chandler Newman, former bookkeeper at the Johnny-B mine. John and Sandra Ranger contact Newman and he agrees to talk. Uhlmann recognizes Sloan. Trapped in the hotel, Sloan and Fraser seek refuge and find themselves in Sandra's room. John Ranger hides them. Packard finds them. They force Packard to direct his men to Ranger's room while they run for the two saddled horses awaiting them. One horse is shot. One of Uhlmann's men is killed. Packard decides to pin the crime on Webb, but his plan is overheard by John Ranger. McMurdo provides a mount for Fraser and informs him that String Crews heard Uhlmann, while drunk, tell that Packard paid him $500 to do away with Webb's father. Crews confirms McMurdo's statement.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

REWARD OFFERED.

While he was packing the goods in a gunny sack for easier carrying the storekeeper mentioned that the stage had been robbed yesterday five miles from Oracle.

"The holdups get much?" Fraser asked.

"About $200, mostly from the passengers."

"They don't know who did it, I reckon?"

"Not for sure. Folks think it was that fellow Webb who escaped from the pen two-three months ago—him and a pal of his. They were in Tucson day before yesterday and killed a man there."

Fraser bit off the answer that was on his tongue. This was not the time to defend Bob. "Seems like Arizona has more than its share of scalawags," he said, virtuously. "We'd ought to have rangers like Texas has to clear them out."

"That's right," agreed the merchant. "We got no protection. Webb and his pardner might drop in any minute, and what could I do."

The customer looked out of the door in startled alarm. "Don't talk thataway, mister," he remonstrated. "Those fellows are skedaddlin' for the White mountains or some other outlaw hole-up. They ain't stickin' around here none."

That was likely, the storekeeper agreed.

Fraser left the road a half a mile from Mammoth and cut into the brush. Before he reached Bob he began to sing a stanza of one of his favorite songs. He did not want his companion to make any mistake about who was approaching.

"Glad you're back," Webb told him. "I got to worrying for fear you had run into trouble."

Stan dismounted and turned a severe eye on his friend. "So you been at it again as soon as I let you out of my sight," he charged.

"What have I been at?" Bob inquired.

"Robbing the stage near Oracle, and right after you killed a man at Tucson."

"Was the Oracle stage held up?"

"Yes, sir. Last night. They claim you did it."

"Alone?"

"Why no, I reckon I helped you." Fraser grinned gayly at his fellow fugitive.

"I expected they would say I killed that gunman on the plaza, but it's a surprise to find I'm a road agent, too."

"You might call it right coincidental that some galoots have to pick the very day we're traveling that district to rob a stage," Fraser complained cheerfully.

Yet he agreed with Bob that it might be well for them to put a few more miles between them and the scenes of their crimes. They rode down the valley and camped at dusk on the river. Their intention was to hide out in the Dragoon mountains for a few days.

The sun beating down on their faces woke them. For breakfast they had flapjacks, bacon, and coffee. While the shadows from the east were still long they were on their way. In the early afternoon they stopped at a water hole and rested.

"Dragoon isn't more than two-three miles from here," Fraser mentioned. "It's no great shakes of a place. But we can get tobacco at the store."

Ski Enthusiasts Plan to Visit Wilmot's Hills This Week-End

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE recent snowfall gladdened the hearts of Chicago's ski enthusiasts, but their good spirits are slightly dampened by the snow news from Wilmot, provided by the Snow Chase club. Reports are that "snow is anywhere from one inch to four feet deep, but the four feet is mostly where it doesn't do any good." Skiers, who long have suffered from poor snow conditions, have an added handicap of transportation difficulties this year. The bus service which formerly made connections with north shore lines has been discontinued, so the only way of reaching Wilmot's rolling hills is by automobile—and it's a long drive.

David Stickney, recently elected president of the club; Jack Carson, its secretary, and Bob Buckley, head of the "snow dope" committee, hope to be among the skiers in Wilmot this week-end when the tows will be in operation and the rest house open. Mrs. Craig Colgate Jr. is the new treasurer of the group. Dr. Budd Clarke Corbus Jr. heads the ski patrol, Montgomery Orr the racing, and Edgerton A. Throckmorton the entertainment. Members will receive post cards Saturday bearing the latest news on ski conditions at Wilmot.

Debutante Notes.

Among the suburban families snowed in the early part of the week was that of Mr. and Mrs. Jess B. Hawley of Geneva. The Hawleys have shoveled themselves out now and are ready to welcome home their debutante daughter, Miss Carla Hawley, and her twin brother, Jess Jr., who will be here for the holidays from Florida, where he is in training at the University of Miami as a naval aviation cadet.

Miss Hawley is among the young women arriving today from Pine Manor Junior college to begin a gay holiday whirl. Among the Christmastime parties for Miss Hawley is one the Frederick W. Woodruffs and their subdebutante daughter, Kay, will give on the 29th. Miss Betty Bennett, a former classmate of Miss Hawley at the Ogontz school, and her parents, the Robert C. Bennetts, will give a luncheon and theater party Dec. 20 for Miss Hawley and the Bennetts' niece, Miss La Verne Knight. After luncheon in the University club, the young women will see "The Voice of the Turtle."

Miss Knight, who will bow at a tea Dec. 21 in the Glencoe home of her parents, the Howard W. Knights, has several other parties on her Christmas calendar. Mrs. Andrew Sandegren will give a dinner for her Dec. 23 preceding Miss Barbara Meincke's debut supperdance in the Racquet club. Mrs. Wesley Sears will give a dinner in the Pump room Dec. 26, followed by the theater, and Miss Knight's aunt, Miss Ainslee Bennett, will entertain for the debutante at dinner and dancing in the Edgewater Beach hotel following her debut tea.

When Debutante Sally Anne McPherson arrives at home today from Clayton, Mo., where she and her mother, Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, have been visiting Lt. and Mrs. Willard Drown [Fanny McPherson] she will find plans well under way for a party which Mrs. Robert M. Adams and Mrs. Neil Cowhan will give for her Dec. 20. It will be an informal supper in the Casino club, followed by the hockey game.

School Notes.

Arriving Saturday for the holiday season are William E. Clow II., William McIlvaine, and Vernon Armour, who are students at St. Mark's school. Young Minot Jelke will return from the Taft school. Pamela Kelley, Betty Swift, Jean Reddy, and Ruth and Joyce Cummings will come from the Ethel Walker school tomorrow to begin their three weeks vacation.

Arriving today from Pine Manor Junior college are Miss Alice Keith Carpenter and Miss Nancy Buchanan of Lake Forest, and Miss Lind Kimball, Miss Bleecker Burnett, Miss Margaret Loomis, and Miss Margaret McFarland of Winnetka. The De Witt Buchanan family will have its first reunion in many months at Christmas time, for Lt. Buchanan Jr. and Mrs. Buchanan will arrive from his post in Annapolis, Md., in time to spend the Christmas week-end with his parents.

Miss Nancy Broeksmit will have among her Christmas gifts a degree from Vassar college, from which she will be graduated Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Broeksmit will not go east for the graduation ceremonies, since they visited their daughter when they were in New York last week. The Broeksmits returned to Lake Forest Monday following a short visit with their son, Lt. Broeksmit Jr., who was on shore leave while his ship was being repaired. Lt. Broeksmit was promoted to the rank of a full lieutenant in the naval reserve a few months ago.

Miss Mary Birch Broeksmit will arrive on the 23d for a short vacation from her classes at the University of Wisconsin. Her younger sister, Laura, attends Ferry hall, which will hold its annual Christmas dinner, followed by music and carols, Saturday.

Here and There.

The best Christmas present that Mrs. James S. Kemper Jr. and her children could ask for passed thru Chicago Tuesday in the person of Lt. Kemper, who arrived back in this country a few days ago after serving in the South Pacific for many months with the navy's Black Cat squadron. His stepbrother, Ensign Frank D. Stout, who expected to see Lt. Kemper in the Pacific, missed him by a few hours, as the latter just had left to return home when Ensign Stout arrived in port.

Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood will give a small supper-dance Dec. 23 at the Onwentsia club for their eldest grandchild, Mary Elston Tul-

Eleanor Club Party.

The Central Eleanor club's yule log will be lighted tomorrow night for the annual Christmas party. Community carol singing is planned and, following tradition, the Christmas story will be told.

A Bright Coat Is Added Note for Yule Party

BY REA SEEGER.

Brightly colored party and evening coats are dazzling sights these festive days around the party season. Most of them are of smooth, fine wool, some are opulently lined with fur, others with padded and quilted satin linings, and still others with taffeta or plain satin. The dazzle is managed with sequins, metallic thread embroidery, and with beadwork or the very effective nail head stud in all-over design. Both silver and gold metal studs are used, and in some very dressy coats both are mixed in the decorative pattern of the design.

All of the smartest coats are short, either knee-length or the dashing length that just clears the hipline. Most of them are comparatively straight and simple in silhouette, altho some of the hip-length models are fashioned with a dashing flare in the back section. None of them boast collars and all the sleeves are straight, wide, and loose with considerably widened shoulders to make them very different from last season's successes. The extreme simplicity of silhouette and detail make them dateless models, so they will look smart thru years of wear.

Most popular are the high colors, such as cerise, shocking pink, time honored scarlet, jade, and chartreuse green, gold and pale yellow, lots of white wools, and the best of the all purpose shades, cinnamon and copper. Black, with glitter embroidery and accented with flashing braid, nail heads, or sequins is always available. The fur linings are the popular white rabbit skin, stenciled lapin in leopard, and the more expensive pelts like caracul, civet cat, and sealskin. Handsome mink lined coats of the same short length and dress parade manner are grand double purpose models, ready for both day time and evening wear.

If war emergencies permit, the General Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its next national convention, scheduled for the spring of 1946, in Chicago, Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, president of the Illinois federation, said yesterday. She made the announcement at the opening session of a two day meeting of the Illinois board of directors, being held at headquarters, 30 W. Washington st.

The Illinois federation invited the national organization some time ago to convene in Chicago, and formal acceptance by the national president, Mrs. La Fell Dickinson, was read at the state directors' meeting. The board named Mrs. Rennie as Illinois chairman for the national assembly.

The federation's new national committee on youth conservation plans to start a nation-wide youth welfare program at a conference in Washington, D. C., in March, it also was announced yesterday. Judge Anna Kross of New York heads the committee.

Thru the Looking Glass

The bath mitt has plenty of sense to it and the way it's done up these days is not lacking in gift glamor either.

the floor, as she often will when she scoops it out of a box with a big fat puff. With a mitt she can pat the skin surface gently and spread the film of fragrant powder evenly and economically.

Right now, as you probably know, mitts are prettier than ever. The one pictured, with terry cloth palm thru which the powder sifts, and a silk back, is lovely in white with fuchsia cording. It's filled with powder of an exciting fragrance, echoing one of the most provocative of perfumes. You'll find that the house that makes this has a couple of others in different color schemes, housing powder in different scents, all gay and good.

These make rather special little gifts. They're not expensive, they're attractively packaged, and we've never yet known a woman who didn't simply wallow in the joy of owning and using one. The bath powder mitt is another of those "gifty" ideas that makes Christmas shopping simpler and less harrowing to the budget than it usually is. You'll find it in a number of shops.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Complaint Dept.

That those who handle complaints require the patience of angels is borne out by a recent request. A woman telephone subscriber protested to Southern Bell that she got a shock from the telephone line in her yard . . . had been hanging out her wet wash on it for years and years and now couldn't hang out a nightshirt till they came and "fixed the darn thing."

Cigaret Shortage.

The one thing about which there are no ifs, ands, or butts is the cigaret shortage. STORMY.

On the Nose.

Ah, Shakespeare, deeds speak louder
Than winged words—should'st see my nose
Ashine in need of powder!

BERTHA PETEY PETERSON.

Word Games.

I notice the Real Word Expert gives the word "Gallahad" as one of the common words which could be written on the second row of keys of a standard typewriter. This word was omitted on purpose because it's a proper name. The seven letter common word I gave was "fallall," and you all did just that!

Also on the top row of letters, there may be written more than 30 common compound words, such as "pepper-tree" all having at least 10 letters to make up the compound word. How many can you find? CHLOE.

From Neat to Sweet.

And then there was the WCG who spent most of her lunch hour standing patiently in line to buy cleansing tissue and learned, as she reached the counter, that the line was for chocolate bars. DEE.

On the Memo Pad.

Telephony says that "ancient history of the telephone industry states: In the early days telephone switchboard operators were boys, later replaced by girls because girls are steadier, and do not drink beer," to which the magazine adds, "My, how times have changed!" . . . Winifred Tower, who decorated those delightful Easter eggs [mentioned in this column last spring], has gone into the gift-wrapping business, and now, in an office of dusty pink and powder blue, she ties shiny bows on Christmas presents for the girls' beaux.

Four St. Luke's nurses have left to go overseas with the UNRRA. . . . There is a shipyard worker in Brooklyn, Marguerita Giranda, who is a talented artist. . . . Have you heard about the Rock Island duckling, named Rocket, hatched by the heat of a rectifier used to charge batteries for a telephone switchboard? A switchboard repairman picked up an egg one day on the lawn, carried it into the transportation building, and from then on Eva Simpson, a switchboard operator, took charge till Rocket was hatched—and no ugly duckling either!

Long Red Flannels May Be Women's Fate, WPB Admits

The women may have to come to them at last—long red flannels, or the heavy knit varieties of any color—war production board officials admitted yesterday. There are fairly large supplies in dealers' hands, but not enough to supply the demand if they become a fad.

Replying to charges that lend-lease shipments are "snatching underwear from Americans' backs," the WPB said it has authorized 10 to 25 per cent more production of both men's and women's underwear for this winter than last and had raised quotas for babies by 15 to 20 per cent.

But Chicago stores reported their supplies of slips, nightgowns, and some other underthings are too low for comfort, with wide gaps in popular sizes of lower and medium priced lines. One State st. store buyer admitted her stocks were vanishing and that she didn't know where the next shipment was coming from—if it comes.

The men are better off, the WPB said. Underwear and shirts, after a threatened shortage last summer, have reached dealers' shelves in close to normal amounts, a WPB spokesman said, and altho wool and part wool underwear is hard to find, there are enough cotton shirts and shorts to go around.

Give a War Bond—Best Gift of All

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 13.—When Paramount borrowed Jane Wyman for "Lost Week-end," Warners got Eddie Bracken for "Three Men on a Horse." They were delighted, too. Then Bracken made some speeches and said he might be risking his future. Every one in town denied that vociferously. Now I'm told Warners no longer want him for "Three Men on a Horse." Are they afraid he'd want to change horses in the middle of the stream? . . . That Goddard gal sure has a way. When I asked Mervyn Leroy if he'd sell his beach house to her for half price he said, "What do you think?" I wish I'd made a bet on it. He put $150,000 into the house and she paid $50,000 for it. . . . I'm told Elliott Roosevelt's rank will soon be upped to brigadier general. . . . My favorite numerologist worked over her figures and predicts Atty. Gen. Biddle soon will resign. . . . What's this? Jennifer Jones and Helmut Dantine? I thought he was interested in Ida Lupino. . . . Ida and Louis Hayward are to discuss their divorce plan this week.

Democracy Still at Work.

Where else could it happen but in America? Only a few short years ago I was talking like a mother to a tall handsome youngster, scared out of his wits about playing a scene in "Children of Divorce." Yet the other night that youngster, Gary Cooper, bid $100,000 in war bonds for one of my silly hats, and quipped, "I just wanted to get the durned thing off the market." That same scared kid is not only starring in but producing his own picture. And in many ways he's still the shy, reticent lad he was then. The chefs of our town did a grand job. What a howl went up when Alan Mowbray auctioned off the bridal suite at the Town House for one night in January. I think that brought $10,000 in bonds. . . . George Cukor carries printed cards in his pocket and when he hears anybody gripe about the war he hands one out which reads: "Why not give your blood instead of your spleen?"

She Keeps On Trying.

Jean Feldman's friends don't know that she's going to a school of photography, has been for weeks. Working hard at it, too. Jean wants a business career, and the fact that she's so pretty won't hurt her one whit. . . . Dorothy McGuire, lucky girl, will see New York with her husband. Many stars go there lookin' for one—or is that sour grapes on my part? . . . Joan Caulfield, star of Broadway's "Kiss and Tell," was brought out for "Susie Slagle" on a 50-50 basis [six months here—six months there], but like all those gals who think they'll go back, she's signed to remain here indefinitely and is up for "The Well Groomed Bride." She takes time out next week, however, to skip to Chicago for her sister's wedding.

What Goes with Joan?

Whatever got into Joan Crawford? She gave out a magazine story about looking for a new manager. I don't know anybody who has given her better service or friendship than Mike Levee. Story goes that when Metro executives no longer wanted her in a picture there because of interference they wanted to settle her contract. Before they had done that, Jack Warner signed her. Then she turned down two stories: One, "The Conspirators," which Hedy Lamarr made, and an Eddie Goulding story. All this time she was being paid. Then Warners made a new three year deal by which she makes one picture a year, and can do outside pictures. She was lucky. Got "Mildred Pierce," Warner's top director, Mike Curtiz, a fine cast, and the studio's best photographer. And now says she wants a new manager. I know lots of stories about managers, but this guy kept her in the spotlight seven years, and I don't mean maybe. Well, what the heck! It's none of my business anyway.

Bits About Hollywood.

Lynn Bari claims jitterbugging is mild compared to the schottische, which she does in the story of Rickenbacker, now called "First, Last, and Always"—and I hope they stick to that title. . . . R. K. O. hired Virginia Belmont as an actress. She's good, too. But the studio doesn't know she's even better as a writer. She has a honey of an idea for a picture for Sinatra. R. K. O. better get it quickly, 'cause another company knows about her. Sure, I told. . . . Ben Goetz arrived here two days after his son left for service. . . . For months Steve Richards and Annelle Hayes have been planning to marry. They will as soon as they find a flat. . . . Adele Mara of Republic's "Song of Mexico" will wed Louis Montaro Saturday. . . . Jeanne Crain and Col. Cliff Henderson are doing the town. . . . Victor Saville has the story, "Ladies from Heaven." He's dickering with Arthur Rank to make it for him in America. . . . Samuel Bronston's condition was so serious they weren't able to operate on him when he was rushed to the hospital. . . . Andrea King thinks she'll spend Christmas with her husband. In his last letter he wrote, "Don't send my Christmas present." He's been overseas a year and a half. . . . Dolores Moran is studying philosophy at U. C. L. A. Wouldn't that be wasted in our town? . . . Georgie Jessel has gotten around to June Haver. . . . Don't crowd, fellows. Hedy Lamarr is looking for a chauffeur. Doc told her not to drive.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
2 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

Today we continue the discussion of how to behave when partner responds to your opening bid with the unenthusiastic but ever present one no trump. This is one of the most frequent responses that we get in every day bridge and yet it is extraordinary that so many players have never taken the trouble to acquaint themselves with the proper procedure to adopt under these conditions.

The first thing to determine when your partner responds with one no trump is whether or not there is any possibility of game in the hand. This, as we observed yesterday, is a very simple procedure. All you need to do is merely set aside the cards that made up your opening bid and treat the rest as surplus. If you have only one trick surplus, game is hopeless. If you have one and one-half tricks surplus, there is a chance for game. If you have two tricks surplus, game is certain.

If you decide that there is no chance for game, nine times out of 10 you should make no further bid. Remember this, that the best place to play an indifferent hand is one no trump. That is, naturally presuming, that there is nothing freakish about your hand. If you have a six card suit or a two suiter or a hand containing a singleton, your holding is a member of the freakish family and your hand may not be suitable to no trump play, but the mere possession of a worthless doubleton does not make a hand ineligible for no trump.

More important than all the other considerations is this, don't get the impression that five card suits must be rebid. [We very seldom rebid a five card suit when partner responds with one no trump. A second suit may be rebid if the hand is unbalanced or the no trump may be raised if there are sufficient surplus values. The rebidding of a five card suit merely because it is rebiddable is one of the most common and flagrant errors committed by the fairly good bridge player.]

In today's hand, South elected improperly to rebid two spades, which, of course, North was obliged to pass. The loss of 200 points was inevitable since the opposition took two spades, two hearts, a diamond, and a club. The making of seven tricks at no trump, as you have observed, would require no special talent.

TOMORROW'S PROBLEM.

You are South and hold:

Now that we have dried apricots again, we can make several of the old favorite fruit candies for Christmas boxes. One of the best of these fruit pastes is a combination of orange with apricots. Applesauce can be used instead of apricots for a slightly different flavor, but apricots are my first choice. Pectin, not gelatin, is the thickener this time.

Orange Fruit Paste.

¾ cup ground unpeeled oranges
½ cup orange juice
2½ cups cooked dried apricots [or applesauce]
½ cup liquid pectin
½ cup light corn sirup
2 cups sugar

Cook orange, juice and fruit sauce for 20 minutes, stirring often. Use a large kettle, preferably 4 quart size. Add pectin, corn sirup, and sugar. Cook about 30 minutes longer, stirring frequently. When mixture is the consistency of a thick preserve, pour 1 inch deep into shallow pan. When cold cut into squares and roll in confectioners' sugar.

Raisins, figs, other dried fruit in combination make a healthful kind of sugarless candy. You may use almost any mixture of fruits you care for. This is a fine recipe just as it stands, but an easy one to vary. Nuts may be added.

Fruit Caramels [Uncooked].

1 cup raisins
1 cup figs
1 cup dates, prunes or apricots
2 tablespoons grated orange peel
2 to 4 tablespoons orange juice

Wash fruit and put thru food chopper. Moisten with orange juice, using just enough to hold mixture together. Pack into buttered pan. Chill overnight in refrigerator. Cut into squares. Place a little confectioners' sugar in a bag, drop candy into bag a few squares at a time, and shake gently to coat fruit. Candy may be topped with nut meats if desired.

There is a candy base to this fruit roll, which includes nuts and coconut among the ingredients.

Fruit Candy Roll.

1½ cups sugar
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ pound chopped pitted dates
¼ pound ground stemmed figs
¼ pound ground prunes or raisins
½ pound shredded coconut
1 cup chopped walnuts

Cook sugar and milk together to the soft ball stage, 234-238 degrees by the candy thermometer. Add margarine and vanilla and cool to lukewarm. Beat until creamy and white. Stir in fruit and nuts and beat until almost dry. Knead on a damp cloth until smooth and well mixed. Form into long rolls about 1½ inches in diameter. Wrap in wax paper and store in closely covered container to ripen for a week or longer. Slice thin for serving.

Many other fine recipes for candy may be found in a booklet "Simple Homemade Candies," which my department has compiled. Several kinds of caramels, divinities, fudges, toffee, butterscotch, pralines, taffy, peanut brittle, spiced nuts, and peanut clusters are among the candy recipes included. For your copy send 5 cents in stamps to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

Miss Staiger's Recital Hints at a Bright Future

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Having won over other local students in a contest sponsored by the Society of American Musicians, Dorothy Staiger, a young soprano, claimed her reward in the form of a debut recital in Kimball hall last night.

The imprint of youth was on much of Miss Staiger's performance, but there are advantages as well as disadvantages to that circumstance. It is certainly advantageous to be as comely as this young singer, and to have as fine a natural voice as she possesses. It is also something to have mastered so long and difficult a program, even if each and every item thereon was not probed to its ultimate depths.

Miss Staiger's voice is an instrument that has the possibilities to become whatever she chooses to make of it. It has power, warmth, and even variety of color, when she cares, or is moved, to vary its natural quality. It has a lower register of unusual fullness and freedom, to such an extent, in fact, that in those moments when she experienced difficulty with her upper tones, one wondered if the future development of her voice should not be downward to the mezzo range, rather than upward.

Her sense of musical style is still immature and unpredictable. Schubert's "Wohin" was such a sluggish little stream that, at that rate, it never would reach the ocean. And Brahms' "Wie bist du meine Königin" missed the ecstatic note. [It's a man's song, anyway, isn't it?] On the other hand, Franz's "Wonne de Wehmuth" was in impressive lieder style.

French music seemed more sympathetic to the singer's temperament, or perhaps she was over the nervousness of the first plunge by that time. Chausson's "Les Temps des Lilas," Hue's "Sur l'eau," and especially Massenet's "Crepuscle," were imaginative in manner and vocally exceedingly well done. Airs of Haydn and Scarlatti may also be written off in black ink, but Handel's "O Sleep Why Dost Thou Leave Me?" had best be postponed at least until Miss Staiger has experienced a touch of insomnia. Alexander Aster was the accompanist.

Stylist Stresses American and French Colors

BY ANNE BRUYERE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 13.—Lucille Maguin, who had her show rooms done over in red, white, and blue for her winter showing, has repeated the American and French colors in her "Liberation" collection.

Her "Flambeau" is a dress outfit worn with a white toque which is shaped to resemble a torch. The hood of the heavy blue coat is of the same bright red wool as the lining. The dress is white jersey with accentuated drapery on the hips.

A waterproof gabardine suit called "Jeep" is in four pieces. The double breasted coat is taken off to reveal a wrap around skirt buttoned on a white woolen blouse. When the skirt is removed, too, one is surprised to see smart, fitted trousers buttoned just above the knees.

Russia is represented by "Caucase," a black astrakhan coat trimmed with red braided embroidery on shoulders and pockets. It is worn over a gray silk dress, with drapery encircling the hips and tying in front. A tall Russian turban in Hudson seal and a huge two foot wide muff in matching seal go with this ensemble.

"Flibustier" is a trim Scotch plaid suit with a long jacket, over which is worn a full length cape. Lucille Maguin also shows several classic suits in tweeds and corduroys with and without vests.

Mellerio, Dits, and Meller present new costume jewelry to be worn on these suits. They are tiny gold figures an inch high representing colorful Parisian personalities. For instance, there is an artist working before his canvas. His palette is covered with tiny rubies, emeralds, and sapphires. A flower vendor with a cart also is shown. There are charming little ice cream and vegetable peddlers, too, complete with stands, and there are even knife sharpeners before their machines. Chair repairers at work on their stools are carved in gold and their implements studded with jewels. Most amusing is a miniature hackney coach complete with driver, whip, and horse.

This house also is showing carved necklaces made of wrought iron and adorned with huge emeralds. These necklaces may be taken apart and worn as earrings, clips, or bracelets.

Yale Party Planned by Home Economics in Business Group

Candle lighting, holiday music, and a Christmas story are on the program of the Chicago home economics in business group's annual December dinner meeting tonight in the People's Gas Light and Coke company building. Miss Maye Dahnke, a member, will be the narrator, and other program participants will be Ruth Lene Tengwall, violinist; Ruth Fredrickson, singer, and a children's trio of singers, Alice, Philip, and Carl Gustafson. Miss Dahnke is general program chairman and Miss Mabel Anderson is in charge of tonight's meeting. Miss Mary Jane Albright heads the social committee.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE.

Chocolate Souffle.

[Serves four to six.]

1 cup stale bread cubes
1 square chocolate, shaved
1 cup milk
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 eggs

Put the bread in a double boiler with chocolate, milk, sugar and cinnamon and cook over hot water 10 or 15 minutes. Beat until smooth, using whip. Beat egg whites until stiff. Beat yolks until light and beat in part of the bread and milk. Fold in the remaining bread and milk mixture and the egg whites. Put in a greased baking dish and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] 20 to 25 minutes. Serve at once with peppermint sauce or cream.

D. A. R. Head in City to Discuss Plans for Continental Congress

Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, arrived here yesterday on her first visit to Illinois since she became national head of the society last spring.

Mrs. J. DeForest Richards, state regent, and a delegation of Illinois leaders met Mrs. Talmadge, tho her train had been delayed four hours on the trip from Washington, D. C., and escorted her to the Stevens hotel where plans were discussed with the management for the 1945 Continental congress of the D. A. R., which will be held there from April 16 thru 18.

Chicago was the first city to receive the D. A. R. when war conditions necessitated moving the congress from national headquarters in Washington, D. C. Subsequent meetings were held in Cincinnati and New York. Also here to confer with Mrs. Talmadge is Mrs. William H. Clapp of Cohocton, N. Y., who heads the arrangements committee for the forthcoming congress.

Mrs. Talmadge will speak at a meeting of Chicago chapter this afternoon in the Stevens and will leave tomorrow for Rockford to visit the D. A. R. chapter there.

Lad's Dreams of Love Clash with Grades

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Q. "My particular Jackson is getting poor grades in school. He has told me that he thinks of me so much that he cannot get his mind on his studies. He is in three out of four of my classes, and he says that he has come to the conclusion that he must go to another school. I like this boy very much, but common sense tells me that his grades would be no higher even if he did go to a different school. My question is this: How could he raise his grades without going to a different school? I could help him with his work but I think it would hurt his pride."

on the SOLID side

A. Use your common sense and his pride together to get the best results. "Talk" good grades to him. Let him know that you do like him as he is, but he'd be a fine hunk of heartbreak if he were all that—with higher grades, too! Take time out on a few of these evenings he would like to spend together; tell him you have to do your homework first, suggest that he bring his over to your house and do it together.

Q. "I am 15, I have a lovely home, and my parents are wonderful to me. I have lots of friends, but there is just one thing wrong with me. I am afraid to talk to boys. I tell myself that I am just as attractive as other girls but it doesn't work. When I see a boy coming down the street I often cross over to the other side just to avoid saying hello. I don't want to be scared but it's just in me. Isn't there some way I could get over this fear?"

A. Don't worry about that king-sized conversation right away. Start out by saying "hello" to those Joes who give you the jitters. A gal is usually expected to greet a boy first; just give him a nod and a smile for the beginning of the friendship. Before long, one word will lead to another and you'll be carrying on a conversation without even thinking about it.

Christmas Party Planned by Horticultural Society

A Christmas party is planned by the Midwest Horticultural society for its meeting tomorrow night in the Garfield park recreation center. Mrs. William Beaudry, chairman of hostesses, has arranged for a grab bag of gifts. She will present Mrs. Robert Van Tress in a program of Russian and American holiday songs, and will have an expert caller on hand to conduct square dancing. The business session will be presided over by Mrs. Beatrice E. Harms, and Mrs. John D. Freeman will have a question period on horticultural problems. Mrs. M. P. Reasner is in charge of refreshments.

With wide shoulders just like those on the jumpers her big sisters wear, this little girl's jumper dress fashion has echoing pockets, princess lines, and a companion blouse with frills on the collar. Style No. 2590 is designed for sizes 8 to 14. Size 8 requires 1⅛ yards of 54-inch material or 2⅛ yards of 35-inch fabric for jumper; 1⅞ yards of 35-inch fabric for long-sleeved blouse.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The winter fashion book, on sale at Tribune Public Service offices, is 15 cents, 12 cents if ordered by mail with a pattern.

Survey of Women's Transportation Jobs to Be Ready Feb. 1

A detailed report on a study of women's jobs in the transportation industry will be published and ready for free distribution in schools and libraries by Feb. 1, Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, chairman of the women's executive committee of the Illinois office of public instruction, said yesterday. She made the announcement at a luncheon meeting of women representing the industry in the Merchants and Manufacturers' club.

The committee in charge of the survey will be headed by Miss Mary T. Hughes of United Air Lines. She will be assisted by Miss Marion McKinney of the Union Pacific railroad and Miss Carol McCormack of American Air Lines. Women from 102 companies will be organized into four committees to list jobs held by women and to cite in the survey the educational and personal requirements for each job.

The transportation meeting was the first of seven such gatherings. Others to be held soon will cover the insurance, banking, finance, food products, medicine, radio, and merchandising industries.

Start Library for Child This Christmastide

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Since this isn't a book reviewing department I don't feel that I can devote too much time to books, tempting as the subject always is to me. After all, my chief purpose is to inspire you to start an "owned" library for your child this Christmas, if you haven't already done so, or to urge you to add one or more books to the collection your son or daughter may already have.

In buying, try not only to follow book tastes your child has already shown, but also to introduce some variety. As your children leave little childhood behind, try to see that their reading covers in its range at least a few of those subjects so important in these days of war and prejudice: history, biography, or geography, love of country, and life in other countries.

Among new books for early and middle teen-agers are:

Wilderness Clearing by Walter D. Edwards, illustrated by John S. de Martelly and published by Dodd, Mead & Co. The price is $2.50. This is a story, a novel really, of border warfare in northern New York state of over 150 years ago, and of two young persons just 16 years old living in that turbulent time and place, with a fresh romantic interest.

Because of space I shall simply list several other books for young persons:

Raymond L. Ditmars—His Exciting Career with Reptiles, Animals and Insects by L. N. Wood.

General "Ike" Eisenhower by Delos Lovelace.

Nathan Hale, Patriot, by Martha Mann.

For singing families or youngsters who like to sing there is Sing for America by Opal Wheeler, illustrated by Gustave Tenggren, published by E. P. Dutton & Co., price $3. This book, with its selections and drawings sometimes light or funny, and sometimes serious, includes patriotic songs, spirituals, folk songs, and minstrel songs. The music is complete with piano accompaniment.

A SUNDAY BREAKFAST TREAT

Regardless of how rushed you are in the morning on weekdays (and you should always take time to eat a good breakfast), you can really relax on Sunday and have a leisurely breakfast. A main course like the one pictured below allows Mother to sit down and enjoy this treat with the rest of the family. It's well worth while.

Sausage Patties and Cinnamon French Toast

1 lb. Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage
2 eggs
⅔ cup milk
1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. nutmeg
6 slices dry bread

Shape Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage in patties. Place in hot skillet and cook 15 min., reducing heat and covering pan when patties are sufficiently browned on both sides. Pour off fat as it accumulates. When cooked, place patties on clean paper towels to absorb excess fat. Mix remaining ingredients except bread; dip bread in mixture, coating both sides. Fry to a light golden brown in deep fat heated to 385° F., or if more convenient, the bread may be browned on both sides in shallow fat in a skillet. Serve on a hot platter arranged around sausage patties. Serves 4 to 6.

GOOD COMPANIONS

Your favorite jelly served in a lemon or orange cup adds a festive note to this breakfast, but don't forget those who prefer syrup.

Broiled grapefruit is also at home with this meal. Cut fruit in half, loosen sections, sprinkle with brown sugar, dot lightly with Clear Brook Butter and heat under the broiler. The warmth of the fruit is a delightful surprise on crisp cold mornings.

The crispiness of French toast fried in deep fat (use Wilson's Bake-Rite) and the different flavor lent by the spices, will make this dish a family favorite. For quicker service, mix the French toast coating on Saturday and store in refrigerator.

• • •

Down with Speedy Breakfasts

Starting the day with a good leisurely breakfast is the only way to start the day right. The extra five or ten minutes spent at the table is much more valuable to good health than the same time spent in bed. This is especially true on work days when the body really needs to have "fuel" if it is to work at its best.

• • •

Quality Most Important

However, it is not so much the size of the breakfasts as the type of foods eaten that counts most. Breakfasts that contain a large amount of protein give the best results at work . . . whether that work be office work or active work.

So be as generous as possible in giving your family a breakfast that includes a high quality protein food, such as bacon and eggs, ham, sausage (either in links or country style rolls), scrambled eggs or omelets. The name Wilson's Certified on any of these products assures you of highest quality.

Yours for better breakfasts,
GEORGE RECTOR

From a Wine Cookbook

Wine-Basted Roast Beef

When the roast is in the pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Do not cover pan—sear in very hot oven (500° F.) 15 minutes, then cut heat to 350° F. As roasting continues, baste frequently with fat from pan and 2 spoonfuls of Burgundy or Claret wine, using 1 cup wine altogether. Roast 30 minutes per lb. for rare roast beef, 40 minutes per lb. for well done, (include searing in total time allowed). Make brown gravy in pan, using 1 part wine, 3 parts water for liquid.

Serve the same wine with your roast

SOX TRIM '45 NIGHT SCHEDULE TO 14 GAMES

MARQUETTE TO GIVE N. U. FIVE TEST SATURDAY

Wildcats' Strength to Be Revealed.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Marquette university's basketball team will provide the answer Saturday night at the Chicago Stadium to the question "Will Northwestern be a contender in the Western conference race?" The Hilltoppers, who opened their season with an 83 to 18 victory over Milwaukee Teachers and then were defeated, 45 to 40, by Wisconsin, apparently will test thoroly the skill of the Wildcat squad.

The Illinois-De Paul game possibly is the headliner for the second double header program in the stadium by virtue of Illinois' two victories over Great Lakes and De Paul's record of six consecutive triumphs. But Northwestern followers, of course, are immediately concerned with the squad Coach Dutch Lonberg is putting together for the opening of the Big Nine campaign Jan 6 at Wisconsin.

Have Experienced Guards.

Marquette's starting five has experienced guards, a capable center, but will depend on a pair of freshman forwards. These players average 6 feet in height but do not have an exceptionally tall man to control rebounds. This lack will not seriously affect the game with Northwestern since the Wildcats also are without exceptional height.

Max Morris, Wildcat center who recently was named Northwestern's most valuable football player, probably will be charged with primary defense under Marquette's backboard. Ben Schadler, Northwestern guard and only returning regular on the quintet, will support Morris. Schadler's forte, however, is on attack as he is an excellent shot as well as play maker.

Chandler Is Key Man.

Bill Chandler Jr., Marquette medical student and enrolled in V-12, is the key to the Hilltoppers' play as he was last season. Chandler is playing his fifth season. Marquette's attack revolves around Bill's ball handling and he directs floor plays. Defensively he has few equals and here again he is the director of the man to man defense which, of course, shifts to offset block plays.

Bob Meyers, a graduate of Pulaski High school, Milwaukee, who is playing his second year for Marquette, is the other guard. Meyers is 4-F in selective service. He's 24 and 6 feet tall. Pedro Prado also is 24 and 6 feet. He's enrolled in the navy V-12 program and prior to competition at Marquette, he played for the University of Puerto Rico.

Marquette Relies on Speed.

Marquette's forwards are Eugene Berce and Joe Evans. The latter is a V-12 student and comes from Columbus, Wis. He's 6 feet tall. Berce is 18, weighs 170 pounds, and is 5 feet 10 inches. He attended Marquette High school before entering the university.

Marquette relies principally on speed to gain scoring opportunities. Altho scoring 40 points against Wisconsin, the defense around the backboard was unable to stop Ray Patterson, veteran star, and Don Rehfeld, 6 foot 6 inch freshman. Patterson's reverses on pivot plays were smoothly executed and drew his guard out of position.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

BEANS REARDON, who has been a National league umpire for 19 seasons, picks his All-Star N. L. lineup: Bill Terry, Giants, first baseman and manager; Rogers Hornsby and Frankie Frisch, both Cardinals, second base; Martin Marion, Cardinals, shortstop; Pie Traynor, Pirates, third base; Zack Wheat, Dodgers, left field; Terry Moore, Cardinals, center field; Mel Ott, Giants, right field; Gabby Hartnett, Cubs, catcher; Carl Hubbell, Giants, Dizzy Dean, Cardinals, and Dazzy Vance, Dodgers, pitchers. . . . He calls Marion the greatest shortstop he ever saw. . . . Teammates on the University of California baseball team and later with Oakland of the Pacific Coast league, Mel Duezabou and Hooks De Vaurs still are together at the Norfolk naval training center. . . . Duezabou, a lieutenant, is a third baseman, and De Vaurs, an ensign, is an outfielder. . . . Al McCoy, former world middleweight champion, has opened a gymnasium in Los Angeles. . . . Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech back field coach, calls Frank Broyles, Tech full back and signal caller, the smartest football player he has seen. . . . "If a lineman isn't sure of his assignment on a certain play, he can ask Broyles in a huddle and find out," Dodd explains. "He even knows what the guards and tackles are supposed to do." . . . Navy may follow Army into adoption of the T formation next fall. . . . The single wing was retained at Annapolis this year chiefly because it was the system most familiar to Comdr. Swede Hagberg, returning as head coach after 10 years' absence from football, the last two as a submarine skipper in the Pacific. . . .

Col. Ted Bank, who had charge of Army's athletic program until he went into special service, says that within three years $40,000,000 in equipment has been bought for the soldiers, most of it for overseas shipment. . . . "Volleyball equipment is in most demand over there," says the colonel, "but I would say that is because it can be played in a small area. Softball is the most popular in England and Italy, outranking even baseball." . . . He added that the Chinese are showing great aptitude for basketball and probably will be an international power in that sport after the war. . . . Bill Linn, Oakland [Cal.] promoter, says he hopes to build a three mile auto race track when peace comes, and predicts that 1,000 mile races will be held on it.

Things Are Tough All Over.

Item from the Mount Carmel [Ill.] Daily Republican via Ed Braun:

The Allendale W. C. T. U. will have an all-day meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. William King. Members are to take torn carpet rags and covered dish for luncheon.

Misunderstanding.

How often we feel we are misunderstood
And so oft' to ourselves we complain
Feeling our fellowman, if he but knew
Could be kinder and far more humane.
But, often we hurt as we go on our way,
We do wrong, when we should have done good,
And then some one else cries aloud to the world
That they are so misunderstood.
No two men see visions exactly the same,
So it is with the heart, as the eye:
The other man's viewpoint may never be yours,
But you'll understand more, if you try.
O, don't shut your ears and your heart to the task,
Hear the other man out, without loss;
Remembering, too, that misunderstood —the Son of God died on the cross.
Heler Baird La Monte.

Jazbo's Journal.

The Nazi office of propaganda recently distributed among its armed forces a pamphlet, one paragraph of which read:

"Officers must counteract with all possible means and with conviction assertions made by the enemy as well as even some of our own people that the Fuehrer goes mad with rage, and when he is in that state he tears down curtains, bites the carpet in his rage and rolls in convulsions on the floor."

HORSE SHOW'S TOP AWARD TO MOBERLY MARE

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

One of the smartest fields of the first five days of the Chicago horse show turned up last night in the Coliseum in competition for the $2,000 Hickory Creek farm stake, the mare division of the $10,000 grand championship with which the nine day show will be concluded Sunday night.

Approved by Crowd of 5,000.

Easter Serenade's victory met with the hearty approval of a crowd estimated at 5,000 which saw eight events, including three other stake affairs.

Second Blue Ribbon.

The $2,000 championship stake for roadsters, co-feature on the program, was the vehicle for Lawrel Britton's second blue ribbon of the show. The Baker Acres stables of Northbrook entered the 5 year old speedster, then shortly before the class was called, sold him to the Hickory Creek farms of McHenry, Ill., for a price reported to be $10,000.

Second place went to J. L. Younghusband's Kitty Nique, and third place to Sir Lawrel Guy, owned by Jacob Bunn Jr. of Springfield.

Wins in Show Ring Debut.

Technicolor, a 6 year old mare making her first major show ring appearance, stepped out to win the second stake from a large field in the three gaited saddle horse class. Technicolor, ridden by Charles Houston, is owned by the Hillcrest-Carm farms. The Dodge stables' By Appointment was awarded second place and third went to Derry Jane, owned by Mrs. J. Huntington Smith of Omaha, Neb.

The first of last night's three stake events went to the Dodge stables. In fact, representatives of the Michigan establishment were awarded both first and second places in the Adolphus Busch III. $1,000 stake for harness ponies. Highland Cora, making her first appearance of the show, took the blue ribbon, and Victory Song earned the second award. Third place honors were taken by Stonehedge Buckley of the Hawthorn farms of Libertyville.

Two Performances Today.

The show opened with a class for hunters, sponsored by Benjamin F. Lindheimer. Light Land, owned by George Braun of New Rochelle, N. Y., was first, as Norwood, Donald Sutherland's champion, unbeaten in the last two or three years, could do no better than fourth.

The show enters the two-a-day phase in the Coliseum today. Afternoon and evening performances, wtih 17 classes scheduled, will be highlighted by four stake events, including the gelding division of the $10,000 grand championship stake.

Nineteen of the finest five gaited geldings in the country, topped by the Dodge stables' Blue Hawaii, are listed to perform in the featured event for which a purse of $2,000 has been set up.

HUNTERS [lady riders]—Won by Lightnand, George Braun stable, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Just So, Our Day farms, Elgin, Ill., second; Mr. Woolwich, Stanley Luke stables, La Grange, Ill., third; Norwood, Donald Sutherland III., Brooklyn, N. Y., fourth.

$2,000 CHAMPIONSHIP STAKE—ROADSTERS—Won by Lawrel Britton, Baker Acres stables, Northbrook, Ill.; Kitty Nique, J. L. Younghusband, Barrington, Ill., second; Sir Lawrel Guy, Jacob Bunn Jr., Springfield, Ill., third; Savage Sailor, Bon-Ru stables, Perry, Ia., fourth.

LADIES' HARNESS HORSES [pairs]—Won by entry of Jonsuela stables, Libertyville, Ill.; entry of Argyl stables, Mount Carroll, Ill., second; entry to Happy Way farm, Maywood, third.

$2,000 STAKE—MARE DIVISION OF $10,000 FIVE GAITED CHAMPIONSHIP—Won by Easter Serenade, Temple Stephen, Moberly, Mo.; Corsica Miss, Mrs. R. S. Wheelock, Corsica, Tex., second; Lady Babetta, J. L. Younghusband, Barrington, third; Miss Highbrow, Pine Lake farm, Houston, Tex., fourth.

$1,000 STAKE, THREE GAITED SADDLE HORSES—Won by Technicolor, Hillcrest-Carm farms, Sheboygan Falls, Wis.; By Appointment, Dodge stables, Rochester, Mich., second; Derry Jane, Mrs. J. Huntington Smith, Omaha, Neb., third; Vanity Fair, Miss Arline Hoier, Glencoe, fourth.

SHETLAND PONIES [single]—Won by Artist's Model, Hawthorn farms, Libertyville, Ill.; Modern Design, H. Leslie Atlass, Wheaton, Ill., second; Cadet, H. Leslie Atlass, Wheaton, Ill., third; Thunder, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Sprout, Crown Point, Ind., fourth.

PACKERS ARE 2-1 FAVORITES OVER GIANTS SUNDAY

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 13.—Steve Owen, the mammoth Oklahoman, is a generous person, but he is proprietor of a skinflint football team which will go into Sunday's National football league title game against the Green Bay Packers with an astounding defensive record.

It required opponents an average of 90 plays to frisk the Giants for a touchdown in 10 games during the regular season. Meanwhile, Green Bay's rivals were ringing up scores on every 31 offensive maneuvers.

Consolation for Packers.

Packer fans are cautioned not to become too discouraged over these figures because of some hidden elements. The Packers twice played the Chicago Bears, the most offensive minded team in the league. The Giants did not meet up with the Chicagoans this year, tho they did have two contests with the Eagles, the highest scoring team of the season.

On the whole the Packers encountered higher grade opposition than did the Giants, who fattened up by playing home and home series against the Boston Yanks and Brooklyn Tigers, the two weakest offensive units in the league.

Offensively, the Packers marked up a touchdown every 21 plays, while the Giants required 26 to negotiate a score. Incidentally, the

Ohio State's Widdoes Voted Coach of Year

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—The New York World-Telegram announced today that Carroll Curtis Widoes, Ohio State university coach, had been selected 1944 coach of the year by a vote of 138 football coaches. Widdoes, who guided his team thru a perfect season to the Big Nine championship in his first year at the helm, received 75 first place votes to 20 for Col. Earl Blaik, Army coach.

Carroll Widdoes.

Widdoes, Paul Brown's assistant high school coach at Massillon, O., succeeded Brown at Ohio State this year when Paul became a navy lieutenant and coach at Great Lakes.

Third in the voting was Coach Fritz Crisler of Michigan, with seven votes, followed by Jim Lookabaugh, Oklahoma A. & M., six; Howard Odell, Yale, five; Jeff Cravath, Southern California, five, and John Barnhill, Tennessee, four.

Purdue Wins 2d; Defeats DePauw, 47-31

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 13 [Special].—Purdue's basketball squad, temporarily reduced for the evening to an all civilian basis due to a navy restriction, still packed enough power to score a double victory over DePauw tonight.

The Boilermakers varsity won its second game of the current campaign, 47 to 31, after the reserves turned in a 40 to 36 victory over the visiting DePauw reserves.

The restriction, which deprived Coach Ward Lambert of the services of eight V-12 players, was imposed by navy authorities as a precautionary safety measure on all trainees on the campus pending observation of four cases of illness suspected of being light cases of infantile paralysis.

SEAHAWKS WIN, 49 TO 39.

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 13 [Special].—A 14 point scoring rally by Charley Pugsley, and T. S. Ary in the final period brought the Iowa Seahawks from a one point deficit and sent them on to their fifth straight victory, 49 to 39, over Iowa State's defending Big Six co-champions tonight. The game marked the 15th consecutive sports triumph for the Pre-flight school.

BLACKHAWKS TO VISIT PATIENTS IN 2 HOSPITALS

Members of the Chicago Blackhawks will visit patients at Vaughan and Gardiner General hospitals this afternoon.

The players will be divided into two groups, one being escorted by Manager Paul Thompson and the other by Player-Coach Johnny Gottselig. Those making the trip to Vaughan and led by Gottselig will be Earl Seibert, Joe Cooper, Pete Horeck, and Musch March, while those going to Gardiner and escorted by Thompson will include Clint Smith, Bill Thoms, Cully Dahlstrom, and Bill Mosienko.

In addition to ward visiting and handing out of hockey prizes, the Hawk players will participate in a special reconditioning program called "Sports Appreciation."

OKLAHOMA A.&M. AND ST. JOHN'S WIN IN GARDEN

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—The Oklahoma Aggies defeated New York university's quintet, 44 to 41, tonight. It was the Violets' first setback in five games and the Aggies' fourth straight victory.

In the opening game of a double header played before 18,102, the season's largest crowd in Madison Square Garden, St. John's university of Brooklyn turned back Utah, 39 to 36, reversing the decision in the Red Cross game last spring.

Baseball Ban Affects Ten Pro Elevens

The rule adopted yesterday by the joint session of the major league baseball teams in annual midwinter meeting in New York prohibiting use of baseball parks for football games until the close of the baseball season is of importance to the owners of 10 of the 11 franchises in the National Football league. Green Bay is the only club which does not play home games in a major league baseball park.

This year, however, only two National Football league games were played in baseball parks before the end of the baseball season. These were Cleveland versus Card-Pitt, Sept. 24, in Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia at Boston, Sept. 26. The baseball season ended Oct. 1 and the Chicago Bears were host to Washington in an exhibition game on that date in Wrigley field since the Cubs finished their season on the road.

Plans Made to Shift Game.

The world series, which this year extended thru Sunday, Oct. 8, would have affected the Brooklyn-Detroit Lions game in Briggs stadium had the Detroit Tigers won the American league pennant. Plans were made to shift the professional football game to the University of Detroit stadium which seats less than half as many as the baseball park.

While few league games actually were affected, only four contests were scheduled before Oct. 1 because few baseball parks, including Wrigley field and Comiskey park, are not leased for professional football until the end of the baseball year. Green Bay played in two of them.

The ban announced yesterday affects the annual exhibition game between the Philadelphia Eagles and a College All-Star team which was played early in September. It was reported that the condition of the Shibe park infield after that game was responsible for the protest resulting in yesterday's action.

Until recently the New York Giants football team also engaged in a September exhibition in the Polo grounds. If plans are made to resume this series, a new site must be found.

Ten Teams in League.

Ten teams played in the National Football league this season with the Chicago Cardinals and Pittsburgh Steelers combining to play in Comiskey park and in Forbes field. Other home gridirons for the professional teams are: Detroit Lions, Briggs' stadium; Chicago Bears, Wrigley field; Cleveland Rams, League park; Boston Yankees, Fenway park; Brooklyn Tigers, Ebbets field; Washington Redskins, Griffith stadium; Philadelphia Eagles, Shibe park; New York Giants, Polo grounds, and Green Bay Packers, Municipal field Green Bay and State Fair grounds, Milwaukee.

Dependence on baseball stadia has forced the professional football owners, in general, to wait until the first week in October to start league competition. This extends the season until late in December. Washington has played an occasional exhibition game in Baltimore and the other teams also have kept in action by similar transfer of games.

New League Not Affected.

Most of the professional football clubs begin practice early in August. This has produced an extensive practice program. Washington, for instance, participated in seven nonleague games and did not meet Philadelphia in its opening league game until Oct. 8.

The owners of the All-America conference, the new major professional football league, will not depend on baseball parks. Baltimore will play in the Municipal stadium. While the Baltimore Orioles finished their baseball season there after their park was burned, the stadium belongs to the city. Los Angeles may use the baseball park in that city, but yesterday's ruling by the major baseball league does not affect this minor league.

Owners in other cities in the All-American conference plan to use municipal parks or to erect their own stadia.

MAROONS BEAT FORT SHERIDAN FIVE, 43 TO 34

The University of Chicago basketball team defeated Fort Sheridan, 34 to 29, in the Midway fieldhouse last night, after dropping a contest to the soldiers earlier in the season, 43 to 34.

The game was close thruout, with the Maroons leading at the half, 16 to 15. Howie Brakken, a Chicago guard, and Bill Sticklen, a Fort Sheridan forward, tied for scoring honors with 11 points each. Lineups:

MEXICO SEIZES RACE TRACK IN AGUA CALIENTE

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Dec. 13 (AP).—Mexican government authorities today seized control of the Agua Caliente race track on orders of the Supreme court of Mexico, climaxing a 10 year litigation over direction of the track.

Under terms of the order which turned control of the track over to the Arguello family, Agustin Silveira, representing the Arguellos, took material possession of the track and the bull ring.

MAJORS TAKE RESTRICTIONS OFF LAMP PLAY

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 13.—Comiskey park will be the scene of 14 night games next season under authority granted today in the joint meeting of the National and American leagues, the windup of the major league convention.

Each team in both major leagues was authorized to play as many night games as desired, the only restriction being that consent must be obtained from the visiting club and no night games may be played on Sundays or holidays. Vice President Harry Grabiner of the Sox announced the 14 game limitation for the Sox.

The majors originally were restricted to seven night games. Then it was advanced to 14, and then 14 for some and 21 for others and last July 11, at the All-Star game in Pittsburgh permission was given for the almost unlimited night calendar. Yesterday's action in effect was a prolongation of restrictions.

22 Night Games Last Season.

The White Sox in 1943 played 14 night games which drew 208,179. Last season 22 night games were played in Comiskey park, the attendance being 251,408.

Officials of the 16 major league clubs locked out their own football tenants with the passage of a rule that no major league ball park may be used for football until the completion of the home baseball schedule. In the case of world series contenders the ban on football is extended till after the world series.

There has been an increased encroachment by football on the baseball season which would be football's privilege, if they didn't operate on baseball fields, the magnates opined.

Cleats Force Postponements.

Baseball club owners have been glad to get the rentals, it was pointed out, but in several instances baseball fields have been plowed up by football cleats so badly that baseball postponements became necessary. There has been a trend toward making football a year round sport, but the rule today makes it certain that football games can't be played in baseball parks from April thru September.

Chicago is the place and Jan. 5 the date set for the meeting of the committee appointed to write the new major league agreement which is to pave the way for appointment of a new commissioner.

Other actions were taken but most of them had to do with aspects of baseball law which generally are considered of little concern to the fan.

Only Three Player Deals.

The convention closed with only three player deals having been made. The White Sox figured in all of them, giving Skeeter Webb to Detroit for Joe Orengo, Jake Wade to the Yankees for Johnny Johnson and Eddie Carnett to the Indians for Oris Hockett.

Vice President Grabiner, who will remain in New York, tho the rest of the Chicago delegates will be home tomorrow morning, said that the Sox probably will announce further trades before the training season opens in Terre Haute, March 10.

Loyola Loses to Concordia Five, 38 to 19

Loyola university's return to collegiate basketball, after a lapse of a year, was spoiled last night by Concordia college of River Forest, 38 to 19, in the Loyola gymnasium.

The young Rambler quintet, showing signs of nervousness, was no match for the more experienced west siders. None of the Loyola players had participated in a collegiate game before last night and only two, Henry Harkensee and Harold Hefter, had played high school ball. The Ramblers missed 13 free throws.

Concordia led at the half, 15 to 10. Herman Glaess, with 11 points, and Harold Krueger, with eight, paced the Concordia attack. Loyola's high scorers were Hefter and Dick Armstrong, each scoring five points. It was the first athletic contest between the two schools.

SIX NEW MARKS WRITTEN ON PRO FOOTBALL BOOKS

But All Except One Are of Negative Variety.

There were six new records on the National Football league books yesterday, but with one exception, all were of a somewhat negative variety. However, Frankie Filchock and Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins did team up to toss the mark for passing efficiency into the ashcan.

Baugh, Filchock Set Record.

Between the two of them, they completed 170 passes in 299 attempts for a percentage of .568, official league statistics showed today. That was .021 better than the Redskins' 1943 mark of .547, compiled on 193 completions in 254 attempts.

The Chicago Bears achieved—or, rather, backed into—two of the five other new standards. They were penalized 121 times to shatter their own 1942 record of 99, and those penalties totaled 1,025 yards.

The Chicago Cardinal-Pittsburgh Steeler combination, which failed to win a game, came up with a record, nevertheless. The Card-Pitts had 41 passes intercepted—two more than the record the Cardinals established all by themselves last year.

More Plays Per Game.

The Philadelphia Eagles, who battled right down to the wire for the eastern division title, had another negative mark. They recovered only four of their opponents' fumbles all season.

The other record was an average of 158 plays a game in the 50 contests the 10 clubs played, two more than the previous high set last year, and an indication of less yardage per play.

HENRY TRAUB, ELGIN SKATING OFFICIAL, DIES

Henry E. Traub, 42, of 698 Linden av., Elgin, well known in ice skating and bicycle racing circles and an official in the annual Silver Skates races sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., died yesterday in Elgin after a brief illness. He was born in Elgin in 1902 and always had lived there.

Traub was one of the founders of the Elgin Skating association and had been on the board of control of the Illinois Skating association. He was for years an official of the annual Elgin to Chicago bicycle race. Traub, at one time an employe in the district office of the state highway department, more recently was employed by the Heinz company.

He is survived by four brothers and two sisters. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m. at the funeral home, 51 Center st.

U. S. BOXERS WIN 9 SERVICE MEET FIGHTS IN ROME

ROME, Dec. 13 (AP).—Paced by Pvt. Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati, O., Chicagoland Golden Gloves champion in 1939, United States soldier ringmen dominated the third day of the Mediterranean interallied boxing tournament by winning nine bouts, five in international competition, today.

Pvt. Ezzard Charles.

Twice Wounded Soldier Wins.

Following Charles' victory for the 5th army squad over Corp. Stanley Goicz of Yonkers, N. Y., in the afternoon, the evening's card saw Manuel Flores, pudgy Los Angeles infantryman who has been wounded twice, outpoint Peter Jackson of the British army to reach the amateur welterweight semi-finals, and Pvt. Victor Amato of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Wierton, W. Va., outclass Corp. James B. Moore, Lexington [Ky.], Negro, to gain the amateur middleweight round of four.

In another international match at tonight's session, which drew the first full house of the tourney, Pvt. Milton Glass of Akron, O., won the decision over Sapper Joseph Hall of the British forces to reach the professional lightweight finals.

Chicago Boxer Loses.

Sgt. Adolph Labrecque of Holyoke, Mass., a southpaw, piled up a big early lead and then hung on to whip Corp. Willie Jackson of Harrisburg, Pa., in the amateur lightweight semi-finals, and Pvt. Adolph Barlow of Philadelphia, Negro, defeated Corp. Richard Hammond of Chicago in a pro light heavyweight match.

The doughboys won four of five afternoon bouts, two Britons opposing each other in the only scrap not won by a nephew of Uncle Sam.

Meisters Win Three; Tie for Classic Lead

Classic league bowlers went on a strike rampage in Windy City Recreation last night with the league almost averaging 1,000 per game in the evening's wildest scoring spree of the season. Two of the teams, Prima Beers and the defending champion Meister Braus tied for top honors with 3,119 and the Monarch Beers were right behind them with a healthy 3,090.

When the scrambling was over the Meisters had rolled themselves into a tie for the lead by sweeping their series with the Sunkist Pies, while the Monarch boys were handing the other co-leader, Thompson Restaurants, a two-ply defeat. The Meisters racked up their high series total with games of 1,076, 1,014, and 1,069, with the latter high individual game of the night.

Dick Winsberg of the Monarchs just missed a perfect game and was satisfied with a lofty 288 effort in his last game, which helped him to high individual series honors of the night's play with 686.

Prima Beers' total, gathered together by games of 1,056, 1,017, and 1,046, resulted in their taking three from the Washington Shirts. Chapin & Gore retained third position by taking a pair from Du Bouchett Liquors and Russ Creamer's Congress Arcade slipped Keeley Half and Half a double loss.

Paul Walker of Oak Park Yale Football Captain

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 13 (AP).—Paul F. Walker of Oak Park, Ill., an end on Yale's undefeated football team, was elected tonight to captain the squad in 1945.

Packers 2 to 1 Choice Over Giants Sunday

The Giants' tight defensive record may make them a slight favorite at game time, but in today's quotations the Packers are listed a 2 to 1 favorite.

Owen Enjoys Spotlight.

They are calling Owen the coach of the year and Steve is quietly enjoying the spotlight. Steve is of common folks and retains his modesty with all the acclaim descending upon him, but he admits he almost swooned at first sight of his squad last summer.

"I looked at 'em one by one," said Owen, "and I was awfully unhappy. Then I discovered that most of them could do a job in a limited way. Ken Strong, 38, still could kick the ball. Arnie Herber, tho not the Herber who played years ago with the Packers, still could throw the ball. It was that way all along the line."

"So," he chuckled, "I learned gradually that if I fitted in all these pieces I might have a ball team. Of course, we got Ward Cuff later when he was discharged from service.

There is talk of a sellout, which would mean a paid crowd slightly under 45,000, since 3,000 service men will be admitted. This will mean the juiciest championship player cut in the league's history.

If the game ends in a tie there will be no extra period or play-off, and the rivals will be declared co-champions.

Elmhurst Rallies to Beat North Central Five, 44-40

OPA AID LOSES GAS FOR 15 DAYS IN SPEED CASE

Action Follows $15 Fine by Court.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 13 (Special). —The gasoline rations of James W. Carney, OPA investigator in charge of seeing that gasoline is not wasted or used illegally here, were revoked for 15 days by ration board 6840-1 last night after a hearing in the courthouse.

Carney, who was convicted of speeding and fined $15 Nov. 17 by Judge Adalbert J. Hedding, was told by the board that because it was his first offense since gas rationing he ordinarily would have been put on probation but that his position made necessary more severe action.

Clocked at 48 M. P. H.

Carney, who is 37 and lives at 831 N. Prospect av., was clocked by Motorcycle Policeman Victor Wehrwein driving 48 miles an hour Nov. 11. Wehrwein testified Carney told him he was trying to reach a cleaning establishment before it closed. Carney told the judge he was going 30 miles an hour.

Judge Hedding investigated Carney's police record and found he was arrested and fined $25 May 12, 1938 for going 55 miles an hour.

Woman Loses Rations.

Carney also was arrested for speeding and received a suspended sentence Oct. 13, 1940, and he was arrested for speeding and again received a suspended sentence June 28, 1941. The judge then told him that in view of his record his assertion that he was going 30 miles an hour could not be accepted.

Also appearing before the ration board was Viola Grode, 523 N. 18th st., whose gas rations were revoked for 30 days for driving 41 miles per hour. It was her second offense. She was arrested a year ago for driving 55 miles an hour.

BOY, 10, FOUND DEAD WITH SLED ON RAILROAD

Henry W. Fink Jr., 10, of 2332 Lister av., yesterday was found dead on the North Western railroad right of way at 1944 Webster av., his sled beside him. His neck was broken. Police are trying to determine whether he was struck by a train. Police said that the boy evidently had been sledding down the railroad embankment. Detectives Fred Benson and Lawrence O'Keefe of the Shakespeare avenue police, are searching for the Fink boy's playmates to learn details of the accident.

10% STATE PAY RAISE STUDIED AT SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 13 (Special). —Gov. Green tonight confirmed reports that a proposal for a general increase in pay for 25,000 state employes was discussed at a secret meeting of department heads here with him last night. An increase of 10 per cent was mentioned as a possibility.

The governor said he would not make any proposals until he makes his inaugural address early next month, but reported that department heads favor the increase, "naturally." State wage scales have been low in comparison with those of local governments in Cook county despite small increases authorized by the legislature in 1943.

EXHIBIT SHOWS HOW ENGINEERS SAVE BILLION

How army and civilian engineers have saved the nation more than a billion dollars thru the use of substitute materials and simplified manufacturing processes in making combat communications equipment will be shown the public in the signal corps conservation exhibit opening Monday at the Marshall Field & Co. department store.

In beating Germany at her own game of "ersatz" productions, the signal corps among other things has saved more than 12 million pounds of rubber, thousands of tons of aluminum, brass and cobalt steel, and has almost eliminated the use of silk.

NEW PENICILLIN REPORTED QUICK GONORRHEA CURE

A new form of penicillin, called penicillin X and believed to be more potent than the original drug, has proved effective in curing gonorrhea with a single injection, it was reported yesterday in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical association.

Four Washington, D. C., research workers who described their experience with the preparation, also known as "allopenicillin" and "factor X," told of eliminating the disease in 64 of 68 patients with one 25,000 unit "shot" of the drug.

The advantage of penicillin X, which they administered intramuscularly, the investigators reported, is that it seemingly is retained in the blood stream over a long period and in higher concentration than the other variety.

DEATH STORIES VARY; WITNESS DRAWS $50 FINE

Donald Hansen, 36, of 70 W. Superior st., a truck driver, was fined $50 and costs yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct growing out of the death Dec. 4 of Mrs. Mary Lockhart, 52, with whom he lived. Unable to pay the fine, Hansen will serve 30 days in the county jail. Earlier a coroner's jury, investigating Mrs. Lockhart's death, returned a verdict of death from undetermined causes. Hansen told police conflicting stories about the woman's death. He said at one time that it was caused by a fall, and later that it was from acute alcoholism. Death resulted from a head hemorrhage, the coroner's physician said.

CUT HOLIDAY ACCIDENTS, IS PLEA OF GREEN

Gov. Green appealed to Illinois citizens yesterday to hold Christmas and New Year accidents to a minimum.

Observing that the accident rate usually increases in the holiday season, he said that the economic waste of man power and material involved in such accidents can be ill afforded by a nation at war.

He urged all residents of the state to use constant care in driving, walking, or working in a factory, at home, or on the farm.

W. H. THOMPSON ESTATE TO PAY $116,500 U. S. TAX

Mrs. Mary Thompson, widow of William Hale Thompson, former Chicago mayor, was authorized by Judge Fred J. Adams in Probate court yesterday to pay the government $116,500 in settlement of his income taxes, with penalties, thru December, 1943. She also was authorized to pay $10,000 to the Harris Trust and Savings bank on account, and to pay $100 to each of three appraisers of the estate. Thompson died last March 19 at the age of 73.

BAPTISTS CONDEMN SIMPLIFIED TAX AS PERIL TO CHURCHES

The Northern Baptist general council, meeting in the La Salle hotel, yesterday heard a report of that denomination's tax vigilance committee demanding a revision of the simplified income tax law to save losses to "churches, charities and education of millions of dollars in 1945."

The report stated that the new short form groups all deductions in the $5,000 income group, such as alimony and church contributions, in a lump total of 10 per cent, against "the time honored 15 per cent deduction for church and charitable contributions"; taxpayers in this group may fill out the long form and obtain exemptions up to 15 per cent for church and charity.

The committee will request church authorities to inform members of their congregations that the 15 per cent option is available when the long form is used. A printed statement explaining the 15 per cent tax deduction allowed for church gifts should be available for circulation among church members, the committee reported.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

PRICE INCREASE WILL BE ASKED BY U. S. STEEL

Wage Cost Too Big, Says Voorhees.

The United States Steel corporation expects to request the office of price administration for authority to increase its prices to meet increased labor costs, Enders M. Voorhees, chairman of the finance committee, announced yesterday at a press conference. Because the corporation at this time is unable to determine the cost of the wage adjustments granted employes by the war labor board recently, Voorhees said he could not say now what increases would be asked.

The nation's leading steel companies have requested the WLB to reconsider the wage increases and other concessions it granted. Meantime major provisions in the WLB award will not go into effect until OPA determines that they will not make prices increases necessary or until approved by Stabilization Director Vinson.

Inland Request Filed.

Voorhees asserted that United States Steel, along with the other steel producers, cannot carry the burden of the increased labor costs. He explained that war conditions make it difficult for a company to know whether it is operating at a profit and quarterly and yearly financial statements "don't mean a thing." The corporation's statement on 1944 earnings will be merely a guess, he asserted, and not until after the war will it be possible to know whether a profit was made or loss incurred.

United States Steel is in the best financial position it ever has experienced, he said, but it is in the poorest position in reference to future profits.

"I would rather have a better outlook for future profits than a most favorable balance sheet now," he asserted. "A corporation can't stand still; it must either go forward or go backward."

Lowest Cost Bases Sought.

Post-war planning at present is largely concerned with means of obtaining the lowest cost operations possible, he said. After the war the corporation will step up its modernization program to reduce production costs, with Chicago operations alloted their full share of improvement expenditures. Such work will be undertaken at a time when it will help to create employment.

Voorhees said the corporation is certain it will be able to replace any business that may be lost to aluminum and magnesium, with sales of steel extended thru new uses.

The corporation had about 135 million dollars available for post-war plant improvement and replacement at the end of 1943, and this amount will be increased substantially this year.

Voorhees said United States Steel is well organized to handle export business and expects a large peace time volume from overseas activity, both for ordinary and semi-fabricated steels.

BID FOR REVIEW OF STEEL RULING DENIED BY WLB

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—The war labor board today denied the petition of 73 steel companies for reconsideration of the board's decision in the Little Steel wage case. Acting swiftly after the CIO Steel Workers notified the board they did not want to use the two week period permitted for filing their answer to the petition, the board cleared the way for enforcement of its decision.

Certain wage adjustments relating principally to odd hour shifts which the steel companies contended were in violation of the national wage policy were granted to the 485,000 employes of 86 steel companies involved in the case.

Chairman Davis said WLB "decided that the petition contained no grounds warranting reconsideration of the case, because the points raised by the petitioners had been fully discussed in the hearings on the case and in the board's discussion before it reached its decision Nov. 25."

BUTLER FILES 100,000 SHARES OF PREFERRED

A registration statement covering 100,000 shares of 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock was filed with the securities and exchange commission yesterday by Butler Brothers, the company announced. Proceeds, on which more details will be provided by amendment, will be used to redeem outstanding convertible preferred stock and as additional working capital. A public offering is expected to be made thru a group headed by Harriman Ripley & Co.

Henry Ford II. Will Speak at Dealer Meeting Today

Henry Ford II., executive vice president of Ford Motor company, and J. R. Davis, director of sales and advertising, will address Ford midwest regional field executives and dealers today in the Morrison hotel. W. K. Edmunds, former manager of the northeastern region, will be introduced as the new midwest regional manager with headquarters in Chicago. He succeeds A. S. Hatch, who will be manager of the western region.

Charges Rails Work to Rule All Transport

American railroads are supporting a plan which calls for a nation-wide rail dominated transportation system in which "all the cards would be stacked against" the trucking industry, Ted V. Rodgers, president of American Trucking associations, alleged yesterday.

The rails are working thru a Chicago organization known as the Transportation Association of America, which is merely a "railroad front whose job it is to pull railroad chestnuts out of the fire," he told a meeting of representatives of common motor carriers from Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin in the Continental hotel.

"Interested Parties Are Rails."

"I mention the TAA only because it is the loudest and most persistent advocate of transportation 'integration,'" he said. "The real parties in interest are the railroads. They are the ones who would benefit by 'integration.' As is the case with many railroad proposals, they would be the only ones to benefit."

Rodgers said the plan is to wipe out the safeguards provided in several federal acts to clear the way for establishment of all-inclusive transportation corporations.

"These super-corporations would operate railroads, trucks, buses, boats, airplanes, and anything else that might strike their fancy," he said. "A few such corporations could divide the country into spheres of influence and monopolize transportation to an extent that would make the old railroad monopoly look like penny ante stuff by contrast. The railroads, of course, would dominate these super-corporations."

Independent Would Lose Voice.

The independent for-hire carrier would have the choice of becoming a "voiceless particle" in one of the corporations or going bankrupt, and the private motor carrier would ultimately be eliminated entirely, Rodgers said.

"We in the industry know that integration or monopoly is in direct conflict with the public interest," he said. "But does the public know? It is up to us to give the facts to the public and their representatives. We cannot take a chance on their being hoodwinked by the clever words and fancy phrases of the word artists who are pressing this scheme to restore a monopoly in transportation."

Rodgers urged the interstate commerce commission to end the rate war which he charged the railroads were waging against the truckers.

He said the trucking industry would not come out of the war in a strong financial position because of higher costs for "inferior gasoline, tires, and parts," increased maintenance needs of outworn equipment, higher labor costs, and larger payments on damage claims resulting from inexperienced help.

NEWSPRINT CUT 'INDICATED' NEXT YEAR, SAYS WPB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—The WPB said today that by the second quarter of next year, if not sooner, the newsprint shortage may become so acute as to "indicate" a further reduction in the amount allocated to newspapers.

Members of the newspaper industry advisory committee were told this may affect the size and content of newspapers. Increased military demands and requirements of the liberated areas of Europe were reasons offered by WPB. Another factor affecting pulp and paper supply is increased army demand for ammunition.

WPB said the acute supply situation has developed despite Canada's commitment to deliver newsprint at the same rate as in 1944. A slightly larger supply may be available after July 1 if winter weather conditions permit Canada to increase deliveries by about 5 per cent, said WPB.

LOW RATE LOAN TO RETIRE BONDS OF U. S. RUBBER

United States Rubber company on Dec. 27 will retire $29,308,000 of first mortgage and collateral trust 3¾ per cent bonds, due July 1, 1958, F. B. Davis Jr., chairman, said yesterday. The retirement will be effected thru the sale of 30 million dollars of 10 year 2 per cent serial notes to a group of banks. Chicago banks said this was an unusually low rate of interest for an industrial issue.

LOCAL EFFORT TERMED BEST FOR VETS' JOBS

Quick Action Asked by State Chamber.

The problem of rehabilitation of war veterans can be handled best by private enterprise and voluntary community organizations, the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce said yesterday in announcing acceleration of its efforts to prevail on more communities to establish practical plans immediately for the aid of returning service men.

Carl Schweinfurth.

The chamber reported to its members and local Illinois business organizations on the successful operation in Peoria, Elgin, Freeport, Harvard, and Waukegan-North Chicago of the so-called Peoria plan for veteran rehabilitation.

"Do the Job or Don't Kick."

"We contend that if private enterprise, plus our community business groups, do not take immediate hold of this problem and do a satisfactory job, we have no reason to complain if the federal government steps in, and by so doing provides the basis for another huge bureaucracy," said Carl Schweinfurth, president.

"Our organization considers the subject of rehabilitation of returning war veterans the No. 1 post-war job which must be done in Illinois."

The chamber said only the five cities named had completed organizations to handle the veterans' problem, tho six months had elapsed since a meeting it called to discuss means of meeting the problem. It subsequently sent copies of the Peoria plan to 308 community business organizations, and said many individual companies have taken definite action on job plans.

Peoria Employers Take Lead.

The Peoria Plan was adopted originally in Peoria by employers who organized to be ready for the veterans before their return. It was "fathered" by Dr. H. A. Vonachen of the Caterpillar Tractor company.

The main steps of the Peoria plan follow:

1. Organizing groups of employers to seek all jobs possible for returning service men.

2. A meeting with other representative community groups.

3. Formation of a permanent committee and appointment of subcommittees to deal with specific phases of the problem.

4. Appointment by the committee of a counselor, who would be the key man in the plan.

5. Establishment of a centrally located office with complete records and a follow-up system.

Survey Job Possibilities.

6. Survey by the committee of job possibilities; arrangements for state aid in making plans for readjustment of lesser mental disabilities; letters to men in service to inform them of the post-war outlook and obtain their opinion of questions they will wish answered on their return from service.

7. Keeping in mind that the activity is community-wide and that coöperation of all local groups and state and federal units is needed; that the plan should be equally valuable in placing both able bodied and handicapped veterans.

The chamber disclosed that of 3,012 questionnaires sent to service men from Elgin more than 1,000 replies were received. Of these 55 per cent said they did not wish their old jobs back, altho 80 per cent said they would return to Elgin.

Twenty-two companies in Waukegan-North Chicago have completed their individual surveys, learning that there are 1,400 jobs that handicapped veterans can do.

Average Price of Listed Bonds Gains in November

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—The New York Stock exchange reported today that 1,057 listed bond issues as of Nov. 30 with a par value of $100,449,974,298 had a total market value of $101,377,064,946, an average price of 100.92. As of Oct. 31 the 1,058 issues listed with a par value of $101,088,301,686 had market value of $101,801,493,498, an average of 100.71.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Formal opening of Boulevard Buick company operations will take place tomorrow at 2255-57 South Michigan avenue. The new company occupies premises which for many years housed the James Levy Motors company, headed by the late James Levy, one of Chicago's automobile row pioneers.

C. E. Childers.

C. E. Childers resigned as Chicago zone manager for Buick to become president of the new enterprise. He has been in the automotive business for more than 25 years. The company's service department will be at 2256 Indiana avenue.

Robert Lindquist and Kenneth R. Wells were elected assistant vice presidents of the American National Bank and Trust company yesterday. Wells will remain assistant cashier in charge of the industrial loan division and Lindquist an advertising officer and personnel director.

R. V. Wilson has been appointed director of customer service of Continental Can company's research department to succeed L. F. Pratt who resigned to become associated with Hunt Brothers of Hayward, Cal., announced A. L. Malone, general manager of the department. Wilson formerly was manager of general line customer service.

Dale O'Brien, publicity director of W-G-N for the last 2½ years, has been appointed director of public relations and advertising of the Encyclopedia Britannica, effective Jan. 1, said E. H. Powell, president of Britannica.

Ralph Oakes, instructor in marketing in the De Paul university college of commerce, will address the Chicago chapter of the American Marketing association today in Harding's restaurant in The Fair.

O. D. Jennings & Co. announced it has been awarded the army-navy "E" for war production.

Applications are being filed with the New York Stock exchange requesting approval of the admission, effective Jan. 1, of Leo F. Daly of Boston and E. L. Ward of Chicago, as partners in the firm of F. S. Moseley & Co.

THE SOCIAL SECURITY FUND

New Security Program Held Bar to Welfare

Estimating that social security benefits may cost the United States nearly 20 billion dollars annually if proposals such as the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill and other supplementary measures are adopted, Edward H. O'Connor, executive director of the Insurance Economics Society of America, warned yesterday that such an addition to the tax burden could endanger sound economic freedom and progress.

O'Connor, addressing the Gold Coast Lions' club in the Maryland hotel, said 120 billion dollars appeared to be a reasonable estimate for average post-war national income. With an estimated post-war national debt of 300 billion, he said, about 31 billion annually in taxes would be required for interest, debt reduction, and military, and normal government costs, not including foreign relief.

Mostly from Pay Deductions.

"Most of it will be collected by direct deductions from the pay envelopes of working people," he said. "The Wagner bill would involve immediate direct taxes of about 10½ billion dollars, but since this takes in part of the present program, the increase would amount to perhaps 6 billion dollars annually—or about a 20 per cent addition to the annual tax burden as estimated above.

"This is no picayune matter. An increase of such size might well stall the gigantic task of reconversion, retarding efforts to create employment and maintain pay rolls.

"It is very questionable if the lofty ideals, which presumably spring from the hearts of these social planners, are as important to our nation at this time as quick employment and prompt reconversion to peace time pursuits."

Provides High Pay Roll Tax.

The Wagner bill provides for a pay roll tax of 6 per cent each on employe and employer up to $3,000 a year in all covered employment. About 10½ billion would be obtained thru this and a tax of 7 per cent on the self-employed, said O'Connor, basing calculations on a 120 billion national income.

This vast revenue would be sufficient to cover benefits under the bill's compulsory social insurance provisions "only for a time," he asserted, and additional congressional appropriations would be sought to pay the costs, increasing taxes.

SUSPEND TRADE IN WOOL TOPS NEAR-BY FUTURES

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—Trading in wool top futures thru next May was suspended by the wool associates of the New York Cotton exchange today as a result of the proposed action of the WPB freezing nearly all worsted and woolen cloth manufacture for the army and navy for the next five months.

Bernard J. Conlin, president of the wool associates, said trading in the July and later contracts would continue as usual, along with trading in wool [grease] futures.

Conlin said liquidation of outstanding contracts and prices affected by the suspension would be considered later.

AMERICAN CRYSTAL SUGAR.

Earnings of this large beet sugar company were adversely affected by last year's reduction in the country's sugar beet crop. This year's crop is estimated at 7,203,000 tons, 10 per cent above 1943, but 29 per cent below the average of the preceding 10 years.

The increase should permit the company to expand production in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1945, but sales will be restricted by the reduction in inventory carried over from the 1944 fiscal year. On the other hand, there will be some benefit to earnings from a slight increase in the beet sugar producers' price this year.

A profit of $1.62 a common share in the fiscal year ended last March included a tax carryback refund claim of $1.38. Net income per share in other recent years was: 1943, $1.94; 1942, $2.98; 1941, $2.17; 1940, $1.85; 1939, 19 cents; 1938, $2.33. The immediate post-war outlook for domestic sugar earnings is considered promising. Something for investors to keep in mind is that tariff protection is important for this industry.

American Crystal's operations are conducted in California, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, and Montana. Outstanding are 363,966 common shares, $10 par, and 64,198 shares, $100 par, of $6 cumulative preferred. There is no funded debt. Current assets last March 31, totaled $13,207,000; current liabilities, $2,456,000. No common dividend has been paid in 1944. Payments in 1943 totaled $1 a share.

SUSPENSION OF RAIL FREIGHT RATE BOOST EXTENDED FOR YEAR

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—The interstate commerce commission today continued the suspension of 3 to 6 per cent emergency railroad freight rate increases for another year and premitted continuation of the 10 per cent emergency increases in passenger fares.

Asserting that their net operating income had declined steadily for more than a year despite increased war time traffic, the railroads asked restoration of the freight increases to meet what they described as deferred maintainance expenses and to finance post-war improvements.

Asking that the freight increases be canceled as unnecessary were the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners, the OPA, Stabilization Director Vinson, the agriculture department and the war food administration. Vinson and Price Administrator Bowles also asked cancelation of the passenger fare hike. They estimated both increases represent 480 million dollars in annual revenue.

UNITED ASKS CAB TO RECONSIDER AIR ROUTE GRANT

Terming the civil aeronautics board's recent decision awarding the Denver-Los Angeles air route to Western Air Lines as a mistake, United Air Lines yesterday petitioned the board for reconsideration and reargument of the case.

United contended the decision was contrary to public interest and was made because the board wished to protect Western against diversion of revenue. It asserted the case is of "very great public importance, involving the shortest transcontinental route in America, connecting our two largest and most important coastal cities, New York and Los Angeles, and our largest and most important inland city, Chicago."

If the decision becomes final the nation's air transport system will contain one segment of a transcontinental route, from Los Angeles to Salt Lake city, held by a local carrier and a second part of a transcontinental route, from Los Angeles to Denver, held by a local carrier without thru transcontinental service via either point, said the petition.

LARGE RECEIPTS OF CATTLE PUSH STEERS LOWER

Reports that the government agencies were considering placing a ceiling price on live cattle caused a rush of selling by corn belt cattle feeders and a drastic downward revision of steer prices at the Chicago stock yards yesterday. Arrivals were 14,000 head.

Buyers were late in coming out on the market, and when they did they demanded price cuts of 25 to 50 cents on nearly all classes of steers. The top price fell 50 cents, to $18, equal to the lowest top since July. Most sales were at $13.50 to $16.75. 75 cents to $1 below last week's high.

The sharpest break in six weeks hit the hog market when receipts were swelled to the second largest Wednesday total in nearly seven months. Hogs weighing 270 pounds or less slumped 25 to 40 cents and sows 10 to 15 cents. Heavier butchers which had been held down by a $14 ceiling price since May rose 10 to 20 cents to the highest prices since March. Lambs advanced 10 to 25 cents to a new December high.

TOP CASH WHEAT LIFTED 4 CENTS; FUTURES UNEVEN

Choice quality cash wheat and scarce varieties sought by mills advanced 4 cents a bushel yesterday in leading markets in full response to a rise in the ceiling prices made late Tuesday by the office of price administration. Less desirable wheat varieties in some instances showed no change. The new ceiling on No. 2 red and hard winter at Chicago is $1.75⅛, but only the red variety was quoted at the ceiling.

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade at a special meeting raised the ceiling on wheat futures 4 cents to $1.77⅛. Wheat futures were little affected by the change in cash wheat ceilings, brokers having expected such action during the last few weeks. Old crop months closed ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher.

Corn declined on large country offerings of cash grain and closed ⅞ to 1 cent lower. Oats lost ⅝ to ⅝ cent, rye ¾ to 1⅛ cents, and barley ⅜ to ⅝ cent.

EXPECT LARGER PEACE VOLUME IN WALLPAPER

Makers Will Offer New Products.

The release of pent up demand for wallpaper caused by the cutting down of production by government restrictions is expected to cause a wide expansion in wallpaper business volume after the war, a member of the industry explained yesterday.

William H. Yates.

Because of output curbs, researchers in the industry have been able to devote more time to refinement and development of its products and introduction of new items.

New Techniques Developed.

For example, designers and engineers of United Wallpaper, Inc., which is headed by William H. Yates as president, have been busy during the war developing new methods and techniques in the production of wall paper and new products.

United has three plants engaged in the production of wallpaper and five in war output and is taking advantage of the lessons learned in war work in developing peace time products. Yates said the company has 30 chemists in its laboratories and about 15 engineers working on new coloring techniques and types of machinery.

"We are now designing our post-war lines," he said. "Under a new technique of color control which has been developed just recently by our company, we are taking the guess work out of colorings. This is done under the direct supervision of the chief designer. The new system gives the designers an opportunity to study a new design and to be certain the colors are properly balanced."

Make Ready-Pasted Paper.

One of the war time developments of the company is a ready pasted wallpaper, which the householder can apply merely by dipping the paper in water and placing it on the wall. This type paper, which is made in several different designs, has matching borders, which also are ready pasted.

The company has an innovation, the cutting down of the total of border colorings from the 3,700 before the war to 200 now. The 200 borders can be used with any pattern or design of regular wallpaper produced by the company.

Another new development is a ready pasted cedar closet paper which has the appearance of cedar and gives off a cedar odor. The ready pasted products are washable and the company also has a washable regular type wallpaper, which it developed about 10 years ago.

A new specialty product that is being marketed is a perfumed sachet, made of wallpaper material, containing perfume. The perfume does not soak thru the paper, but the odor escapes, permeating the space in which the sachet is placed. Yates said that other specialty products were under development.

Operates Three Divisions.

He explained that the company's operations were conducted by three divisions—the regular wallpaper division, the specialties division, and the war contracts division. The specialties division has been developed since the war started. War products of the company include incendiary bombs, parachute flares, rocket igniters, and star shells.

The company's reconversion to full peace time production will present few problems, Yates said. The three war plants of the company in Aurora will be converted to the manufacture of specialties and to a sample book plant. The Hudson Falls, N. Y., plant, will be sold or closed, and the lease will be terminated on the Long Valley, N. J., plant, he said. He estimated total reconversion would cost approximately $300,000.

The three operating wallpaper plants of the company are located in Chicago, Joliet, and York, Pa.

Enjoin 5 Chicago Dairies Until Farmer Fund Is Paid

Injunctions restraining five dairy companies from handling milk until they have made payments to the producers' settlement fund, established to give farmers an equitable price for all milk products, were issued by Federal District Judge La Buy yesterday. The dairies are Crown Dairy Products, Crawford dairy, Reliable Dairy company, Cicero; Hinckley Dairy Products, and Lake Shore dairy. The payments range from $1,141 to $4,468.

Senate Group Confirms 2 for Surplus Board

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—The senate military affairs committee today approved President Roosevelt's first two nominees for the task of disposing of 100 billion dollars worth of surplus war property.

The committee vote on Robert Hurley, former governor of Connecticut, and Lt. Col. Edward Heller, wealthy California business man, was along party lines. It voted, 12 to 5, for Heller and 10 to 6 for Hurley.

Sen. Gillette [D., Ia.] is expected to be the third member of the board.

Confirmation Is Expected.

The nominations probably will be called up tomorrow in the senate, with administration forces confident of obtaining speedy confirmation.

The committee's favorable recommendation came at the end of a week long hearing, at which most attention centered on the connections of Hurley and Heller with the Narragansett Machine company, Pawtucket, R. I., war plant which got into difficulties on navy contracts.

Lockers Unacceptable.

Hurley was vice president of the firm before he was named to the board, and Heller, as war finance officer, took part in negotiation of war department guaranteed loans to the company.

Navy officials testified the navy had had "disastrous" experiences with Narragansett and canceled a contract for lockers because the company failed to deliver a single acceptable locker.

Hurley, testifying at the committee's final session, acknowledged that the company could not complete the contract, but attributed the firm's failure to difficulty in obtaining materials and to strict navy specifications.

CHICAGO TITLE LIFTS DIVIDEND, DECLARES EXTRA

Chicago Title and Trust company yesterday declared a regular dividend of $2 per capital share, payable Jan. 2, compared with regular quarterly payments of $1.75 this year. In addition, directors ordered an extra of $1 payable at the same time. In anticipation of an extra or a rate increase, the price of the stock has risen sharply in the last month. It was quoted yesterday at $205 bid, $212 asked, compared with a bid of $178 in mid-November. Increased real estate activity had been reported reflected in earnings which were said to be "satisfactory" this year.

American Brake Shoe company declared an extra of 25 cents with a regular of 25 cents. Mahoning Coal Railroad company voted to pay $6.25 on common, bringing 1944 payments to $25, compared with $21.25 in 1943.

WPB WILL BUILD TIRE PLANTS TO FILL ARMY NEED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—New tire making plants will be constructed to meet the army's big demands, Hiland G. Batcheller, acting chairman of the WPB, told a news conference today. He termed tires the "most critical" of all current war programs.

The new plants, plus emergency steps already under way, will bring production of military type tires up to an estimated 6,700,000 quarterly by the end of next year. Current production is about 4,100,000 quarterly.

Batcheller said it had not been decided where the new plants would be located, but that the labor situation would be a determining factor. He estimated the cost at 40 to 50 million dollars.

New Jersey Unit Votes for Derby Oil Merger

Wichita, Kas., Dec. 13 (AP).—The Derby Oil and Refining company of New Jersey voted yesterday in Jersey City, N. STOCKS MIXED; LEADERS JOIN STEEL RETREAT

Specialties Gain Up to 3 Points.

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—The stock market's substantial advance since early December made some pivotal groups vulnerable to selling today, but various specialties registered gains. The close was irregular.

Late weakness in the steels had an adverse effect on many industrials and rails which showed losses of fractions to about a point. In the specially supported issues the advances ranged up to 3 points.

Two developments were associated with the selling in the steels, the assertion of a United States Steel corporation official that the company would in a normal market have a difficult time showing a profit under present costs and the war labor board's rejection of a petition of 73 steel companies for reconsideration of its recent wage adjustment decision.

Average Slips Second Day.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was down 0.2 point at 57.2. It was down 0.1 Tuesday, but in the eight preceding sessions the average moved successively higher for an over-all rise of 2 points to the highest level since Sept. 22, 1937. Transactions totaled 1,127,730 shares against 1,154,940 Tuesday.

Off a point or more were United States Steel, Montgomery Ward, Case, Douglas Aircraft, American Can, and Eastman Kodak. American Power and Light $6 preferred advanced 2⅞, the $5 preferred 2, American Distilling 2, and Willys-Overland ¾. American Telephone closed at 166¾, up ¼.

BONDS MOSTLY STEADY.

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—A few selected rail issues rose in the bond market today, but the majority moved narrowly and the transport average was unchanged.

Volume of $9,791,000, face value, compared with $10,118,500 Tuesday, and was largely turnover in a few of the active issues. More than half a million in American Telephone 3s was traded, but the final price was unchanged.

Chicago and Alton 3s climbed 1¼ points on sales of $816,000. Milwaukee 5s, and adjusted 5s were up small fractions, but accounted for aggregate dealings of more than $600,000. Missouri-Kansas-Texas loans drew strong support and finished a point to 5⅝ higher, the adjusted 5s showing the biggest gain.

CHICAGO LIST UNEVEN.

Prices were mixed on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in turnover of 36,000 shares. Among the most heavily traded issues were Miller and Hart, down ⅛; Chicago corporation, down ¼; Armour, unchanged, and Asbestos Manufacturing and Butler Brothers, both down ⅛.

VOTE 2 MILLION BOOST IN STOCK OF HARRIS TRUST

Harris Trust and Savings bank stockholders at a special meeting yesterday voted to increase the capital stock from 6 million to 8 million dollars thru the transfer of 2 millions from undivided profits.

The new stock will be distributed to stockholders of record Dec. 18 as a dividend, payable in one share of new stock for each three shares of old stock.

Also approved was a plan to establish a system of retirement pensions and group life insurance to supplement the present employes' savings and profit sharing trusts.

COUNTY BUDGET GROUP ADDS 28 SHERIFF'S MEN

No Raise in Pay Policy Is Followed.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Cook county's budget making began to take final form yesterday when the judges of the Circuit court approved a committee report fixing the number of 1945 employes in each of 13 fee offices. Except for the sheriff's office, which was granted 25 more highway policemen and three more police sergeants, these offices will have the same number of employes as in 1944.

Nine of the department heads had asked for more help, the requests adding up to 120 men. Had their wishes prevailed, the 13 offices would have employed 1,931 persons; by the judges' orders the total will be 1,839.

Aim Is Minimum Employes.

The committee, composed of Chief Justice Julius H. Miner and Judges Denis J. Normoyle and John Prystalski, said its only aim and interest was to specify the number of employes "on the minimum requirements for rendering essential public service." The committee members also reported that Sheriff Mulcahy had convinced them his police force of 95 patrolmen is inadequate.

County commissioners regarded the court's action as favorable to an economy budget and indicated they would follow a "no pay raise" policy to hold down expenses. It is the intention of the commissioners, they said, to hold their expenditures to the 1944 level. Even so, the balancing of the budget would require a tax levy of some $800,000 more than the 13½ millions levied for 1944.

Richard J. Daley, deputy controler who made up a tentative appropriation bill calling for about $20,900,000 operating costs and $3,700,000 to cover past deficits, said that his estimates of revenue were conservative and that a budget of about 24½ millions would pay expenses in full.

Commissioner Daniel Ryan, finance committee chairman, said the complete elimination of the deficit would encourage bidding on supplies needed for the county's institutions and other activities. Poor credit rating has forced the paying of higher prices for such needs.

Ryan added that he hoped to get the budget passed in December. In recent years February has rolled around before the work was completed.

Hold Up $150,000 for OCD.

Approval of a $150,000 budget allowance requested by the office of civilian defense in Chicago for 1945 operating expenses was withheld by the finance committee of the city council yesterday for investigation.

"I think these expenses should be explained before the OCD is given the money," Ald. Waller [43d] told the committee, and another member, Ald. Sain [27th] asked: "What do we need the OCD for now, anyway?"

"Remember," said Ald. Kacena [23d], "the Germans are using robot bombs."

The finance committee, engaged in budget hearings which will be concluded Monday, delayed action on the OCD request until Ralph H. Burke, deputy coördinator, can appear to explain it.

RUMORS FLOOD TOKYO.

LONDON, Dec. 13 [AP].—Tokyo is full of alarming rumors spread by persons who were "more dangerous than bombs," said the Japanese newspaper Shimbun, according to a Tass dispatch from Tokyo broadcast tonight by the Moscow radio.

100,000 POUNDS IS SCHOOL PAPER GOAL TOMORROW

Chicago's public high schools will campaign tomorrow to collect 100,000 pounds of waste paper, vitally needed to be turned into blood plasma boxes, shell containers, and other articles necessary to the prosecution of the war.

More than 100,000 students in 39 high schools, four vocational schools, and eight miscellaneous schools will participate in the drive. Altho 100,000 pounds is tomorrow's official goal, many times that amount of paper is expected to be gathered.

Schools which gather the most paper will be given war production board and army citations. Contestants will attempt to break the record set in November by Kelly High school, which collected 235,000 pounds in that month. William L. McFetridge, salvage chairman of the office of civilian defense, and John R. Robinson of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, both predicted that the 1,390,000 mark set by high schools in the Nov. 18 collection will be broken.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS BROADCASTS RING OUT OVER STATE ST.

The tiny voice of Cathy Enders, 4, of 2750 Nelson st., singing "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," yesterday opened the annual Christmas carol broadcasts over State st.'s mile long amplification system. Holiday music will be heard daily from noon until 8 p. m.

Mayor Kelly, who spoke during the initial broadcast, urged that the celebration of Christmas serve as a reminder of the sacrifices being made by American boys on the battlefronts thruout the world.

Others who took part in the program included Corp. Eugene Conley and Bill Harrington, navy musician, soloist; Desire Defauw, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra; Hector Suyker, president of The Fair store, and Les Lear, of the treasury department.

Christmas music will be broadcast daily from 5 to 6 p. m. from amplificers on Tribune Tower and W-G-N, beginning Monday and continuing thru Saturday.

HELD UP IN "L" STATION.

Charles Romano, 934 Latrobe av., Forest Park, told police that he was held up and robbed of $3.50 early yesterday in the elevated station at 617 S. Tripp av.

2 FIRMS FINED ON OPA COUNTS; 2 OTHERS SUED

Judge William J. Campbell in federal District court entered a judgment for $744 against Max, Erwin, and Meyer Pick of the Pick Fisheries, 404 E. 61st st., charged with over ceiling sales. A corporation owned by the brothers paid a judgment of $1,207 in October, 1943, on similar charges. Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe entered a judgment of $4,260 against Benjamin Goldberg, 1514 Miller st., on charges of over ceiling sales on 150 cases of whisky.

Marion W. Isbell, area OPA director, sued Stanley Wijas, 1520 N. Talman av., for $2,267 and asked an injunction to halt further alleged sales of meat at illegal prices. The case was assigned to Judge Elwyn R. Shaw in federal District court. Isbell also filed suit in Circuit court against Sonenblick & Son, 1110 Randolph st., asking the court to force them to keep adequate OPA records of wholesale poultry sales.

Suspension proceedings were filed with John R. Allen, regional OPA hearing commissioner, against Rubinelli, Inc., 804 Randolph st., which the OPA accused of using sugar for other than industrial purposes and of not keeping records of its purchases and sales.

SQUARE BOTTLES OF MILK TO FIT ICEBOX ON WAY

M. G. Van Buskirk, executive secretary of the Illinois Dairy Products association, which opens a two day convention in the Morrison hotel today, reported yesterday that two outlying dairies already are delivering milk in square glass milk bottles. Housewives find that square bottles take up less refrigerator space.

Van Buskirk said dairymen also are urging use of the square bottles because delivery wagons can haul about 35 per cent more milk in them.

Main discussions during the convention will concern the replacement of war worn plant facilities and the advantages of war time production methods and machinery.

COMMISSIONERS CALLED IN NEW CONTEMPT QUIZ

Walter L. Gregory, chairman of the civil service commission, and William F. Clarke, a member, who were found guilty of contempt of court last week in connection with records of the commission's dismissal of Police Capt. Thomas Harrison, will be witnesses today in a hearing in Superior court on a petition that they be cited also in the case of another discharged officer, Acting Capt. William J. Drury.

James S. Osborne, commission secretary, testified yesterday that the records of Drury's proceedings were not written until June 22, altho he was dismissed on June 16 and the records bore that date when they were filed with Judge Joseph A. Graber.

Judge Graber denied a motion for a change of venue by Asst. Corporation Counsel Fred V. Maguire. "Don't waste my time," the judge remarked when the motion was made. He also denied a city motion to quash the pleas of the seven discharged police officers for writs ordering the city to return them to their jobs.

Save Time—Phone

Working men and women borrow on their signature only at LOCAL LOAN, $25 up to $300. Save time by phoning for your LOAN before you stop in for your money. Make your own terms of repayment. Up to 13 months to repay. You can be SURE at LOCAL because you pay ONLY legal interest costs. For example, pay only 42 cents a week for $100 at LOCAL based on six equal monthly payments. No red tape or unnecessary delay. One visit action. The above example is based on the lawful rate of 3% per month on the unpaid balance. Another advantage at LOCAL is, you can prepay the unpaid balance anytime and you'll be charged only for the exact number of days you kept the money.

Special Loan Service for Folks in a Hurry

Short of time as well as cash? Don't borrow unnecessarily, but if a loan of $10 to $250 will help you, come in to our office, see us. We make cash loans with a minimum of delay. Outsiders not involved.

NO FUSSING AROUND.
Just come in, or better still, apply by phone. Then make one visit to sign and pick up the cash. You'll get the same courteous, private attention as though you applied in person.

CONVENIENT LOCATION.
Loans are made on signature, furniture, or auto, without involving others. $30 for two weeks costs only 45c. Let us know today how we can serve you.
